About noon on Monday, says the Lincoln Journal, it occurred to Chairman Whedon and Secretary Johnson of the committee on state reception that it would be worth while to see Governor Roosevelt as be passed through Kansas City on his way home and if possible interest him in Nebranka's reception to the First regiment. There was no time to consult others of the committee and the two geatlemen above named took the afternoon train for Kansas City and were rewarded for their pains by an interesting visit with Governor Roosevelt the next morning at Kansas City and a promise from him that if possible he would come on the occasion of the reception to the First regiment.

I am interested in your state," said the governor, "and especially in your soldiers. They are fighters, full of grit and energy, full of patriotism and you can't make your reception any too good for them. What splendid metal they showed on the fighting in Luzon. Everybody knows about it in the east and all over the These Nebraska soldiera have reflected credit upon your entire Nebraska community. I understand that a large number of your Nebraska volunteers enlisted from the schools and universities there and that the larger proportion of these students come from the farm homes. What a time there'll be in each of these homes when the boy comes home from Manila. And this reunion of all the young soldiers at Lincoln, together with the old veterans of the Grand Army, it will be a great success. There's no doubt about that. You've got the right plan. These boys will want to see their mothers first. They'll vant to visit around among the home folks for a couple of weeks. Then this reunion will be an opportunity for them to get together again and talk it all over. Yes, you can say that I went to come and if it is possible I will come. I don't know of any place that I'd rather go to than Lincoln nor any body of men I'd rather see than these young Nebraskans."

Paul Morton was with Governor Roosevelt, for it was in Mr. Morton's car that he was traveling, and the committee had the assurance from Mr. Morton that he would have further talk with the governor and he seemed confident from what the governor had said that he would come if possible.

A Team Stolen.

Fairbury dispatch: Last Monday afternoon a bright looking young man of about twenty appeared at the livery stable of A. L. Schaffer and engaged a rig to go to the residence of a Mr. ith, twelve mil attend a wedding. He claimed to have been working all spring for a farmer near here, and his personal appearance was such as to inspire confidence. was given the best team in the stable and a new buggy and harness, and he left town in the direction indicated. That was the last seen of him or the rig, and it is now pretty certain that the outfit has been stolen. Mr. Schaffer's supicions were not thoroughly aroused until yesterday, when a mea-senger was sent to the Smith home, who learned that there had been no wedding there and that the family knew of no such individual as the one lescribed as having hired the team. Telegrams were immediately sent to all surrounding towns, but no word has as yet been received, as the man was gone a good forty-eight hours before any effort was made to apprehend him. He is probably in another state ere this. The team was a very attractive sorrel and bay, weighing from 1,-000 to 1,000 pounds. The sorrel had three white feet.

Hogs Receipts Increasing. For the six months ending June 30 the receipts of cattie at the stock yards, says a South Omaha dispatch, numbered 306,332 head, hogs 1,144,627 head and sheep 559,957 head, total 2,010,916 head. This is an increase of 01,942 hogs, as compared with the est six months of 1898. The hog receipts for June were the best on record, as well as being within 21,000 of the record breaker made last De-For the month the average veight of hogs has been right around pounds, or one pound lighter than for May and ten pounds below a year With the known number of hogs received during the first half of the ar, estimates are now being made on the year's receipts, and it is figured that the total will come close to 2,600. 600 head. Sheep receipts for June show an increase of 10,000 head over June a year ago, but the total for the six months of the year shows a slight decrease as compared with 1898. This decrease has no doubt been caused by the heavy losses during the winter and the fact that a great many lambs have ot yet been marketed.

Fatal Shooting at Elmwood. Elmwood dispatch: A shooting affray occurred today at this place in which one man was killed and two others seriously injured. The participants were a gang of toughs who were congregated near the grounds of the G. A. R. reunion near this place. They were seated on the ground engaged in a game of cards when suddenly a dis-pute arose and the trouble began. William Harris, of Nehawka, Neb., imediately drew a revolver and began shooting indiscriminately at his companions. The first shot struck George established.

Austral Keeps the Books.

Lincoln dispatch State Auditor laten to retain possession of the broke and records of the insurance department of the state until the countlin tionality of the Weaver art is withh lished in the courts. White un formal drenaud for the office has been made upon the auditor, either by theverner Poymer or Insurance Commissioner Bryant. It is his evident intention to hold the office. His reason for turning over the books is that wishes to be convinced that he will be relieved of all liability if the transfor it made. Auditor Cornell and Governor Poynter held a consultation this but no definite conclusion was reached. Gevernor Pornter fored to commence a friendly suit in the district court here if the auditor records, but this the latter refused to remarking that the matter should settled before the transfer is made.

The governor sent the following communiteation: To Hon. John F. Cornell, Auditor of Public Accounts for the State of Ne. braska: I beceby demand of you that you surrender to me, as the Insurance ommissioner of said state, all records, books, blanks, reports and all other appartenances in your office, belonging to the state insurance business, which I will receive either at your office or at the room set apart for the insurance department in the state capitol building, as you may elect.

W. A. POYNTER.

Governor of Nebraska. Auditor Cornell is still conducting the insufrance department and, though no appropriation was made by the legislature for the work, the insurance clerks are discharging their duties as before the Weaver law went into effect. The Weaver law makes the state treasurer custodian of the insurance securities, but Treasurer Meserve has not decided whether to accept these papers or not. He stated this afternoon that no securities had been offered him under the law and that he was not prepared to state how he would act in the matter. Regarding the receipts for fees received he stated that he would send them to the different companies and that they could use their own judgment whether to return them to the auditor or to the newly-appointed insurance commissioner. Auditor Cornell said this morning that if the governor would make a formal demand for the records of the office he would reply in writing at an early date.

Horse Thief Comes to Grief. Tekamah dispatch: Sheriff Langford has captured Ray McKnight, who stole a horse, saddle and bridle from Grant Smith, a farmer living near Lyons. McKnight worked for Smith last summer and while there often expressed his admiration for this horse, and his wish that he might own it. For some time he has been residing in the western part of the state. He came to Omaha a few days ago and while there the idea seemed to possess him that he would steal Smith's horse. He left Omaha, taking a train direct for Lyons. Reaching that place in the evening he walked directly to Smith's and took the property. He started right back to Omaha, and was captured, with the stolen property in his possession, at Arlington McKnight sigfinifies his intention of pleading guilty. Seventy-five dollars was offered for his capture and conviction and the return of the stolen property, which was secured by the marshal at Arlington.

The Work of Cattle Thieves. Beatrice dispatch: Freeman Davis, a wealthy stock feeder who has a ranch southeast of Beatrice, discovered last evening that thirty head of cattle, valued at $1,200, had been stolen from his pasture. In a 400-acre pasture he had 200 head of cattle Last Sunday he counted them and found they were thirty short, but presuming they were in the timber he almind. Last evening he found lowed the matter to pass from his on counting them again that the thirty were still gone, when he began to search for them. Up to this evening they had not been found and the conclusion has been reached that they were stolen and driven away. As just one carload was missing it is thought the cattle were driven to some point on the railroad and shipped out of the
