

HORROR IN DENVER.

TWENTY LIVES LOST BY AN EXPLOSION.

Boiler Explosion in the Rear Part of the Gurney House—Fire Adds to the Horror—Many Rescued From the Wounds—Due to an Intoxicated Engineer.

DENVER, Col., Aug. 20.—About 12:10 o'clock this morning a terrific explosion occurred in the rear of the Gurney hotel, 1725 to 1733 Lawrence street, a five story brick and stone structure, in which were between forty and fifty people, most of them asleep. The building was almost completely wrecked and surrounding buildings were badly damaged.

The fire department and many volunteers were soon on the scene and in half an hour five persons who had occupied upper rooms were taken out more or less injured. Then the ruins caught fire and firemen and others who were trying to rescue those buried under the debris were forced to retreat while cries and moans were heard issuing from the midst of the ruins.

To add to the excitement, a hose team ran away and several persons were trampled upon and injured. Live electric light wires were also a constant source of peril for a time.

When the firemen were driven back by the flames they had almost completed the rescue of two women and two men, but nothing more could be done and soon all four were beyond all hope.

All night long, the firemen poured water on the burning debris and as soon as the flames were driven away from one section, the work of rescue was resumed.

Joe Munal of Cairo, Ill., was rescued at 2:30 o'clock, after an hour's work. He is a carpenter and no more of the victims can be alive. Police Surgeon Jarecki took his place where he could keep Munal's head moist and properly attend to him while his lower limbs were being extricated. It was a position of great danger for all, on account of the flames and the overhanging roof, which threatened to come down at any moment. But the men worked on hauling at beams with ropes and using every device to clear the space around the suffering man, who bore his agony with great bravery and cheered on his helpers. At last about 2:30 o'clock a great cheer arose and word was spread among the great crowd waiting outside that the work was finished. Soon firemen and citizens appeared at the entrance bearing Munal on a stretcher. He was conscious but suffering great agony, and the physicians expressed little hope for his ultimate revival. When he revived, he said: "I am a cigar-maker and have been in the city for a week, having come here from Cairo, Ill. I was upstairs in bed when I heard an awful crash. I did not know what it was and got out of bed and hurried out, and on going down stairs I must have lost my way, for when I got down on what I thought was the ground floor, I fell down into the basement."

At 10 o'clock the fire in the ruins had been extinguished, and the search for the dead was begun. A large force of men and teams being engaged in hauling away the debris. At 11 o'clock one body, which was not identified, had been removed and several more were in sight.

The dead so far as ascertained are as follows:

Peter Gurney, owner of the hotel.
R. C. Greiner, manager of the hotel, son-in-law of Peter Gurney.
Mrs. R. C. Greiner, clerk of the hotel, daughter of Peter Gurney.
General Charles Adams, Manitou, Col.

A. L. Blake, Pueblo, Col.
Myron E. Hawley, Union Pacific railroad clerk, Denver.
James Murphy, contractor, Denver.
George Hurt, passenger conductor on the Rock Island railroad, Colorado Springs.

Mrs. Wolf and daughter.
Two chambermaids, names unknown.
One bell boy, name unknown.
In addition to the dead, there are the following missing:

Greiner, father of R. C. Greiner, manager of the hotel.
Bad Burnes, Colorado Springs.
W. J. Carson, Pueblo.
F. French, Central City.
Bert I. Larsh, Central City.
E. F. McCloskey, Canon City.
Judge Glenn, Leadville.

The whole rear half of the hotel was blown to atoms and the front portions are merely shattered and burned fragments of a house.

There is no doubt that the wreck was caused by a boiler explosion. Frank Loescher, the engineer, it is said, was intoxicated, and after turning a large quantity of cold water into the hot boilers left the building ten minutes before the explosion occurred. The police are looking for him. R. E. Irwin, the night clerk, says Loescher, who was only 17 years old, was drunk when he went on duty, and that he was in the habit of neglecting his duty.

The Gurney was a five-story building valued at $30,000, and had been used as a hotel since 1888, when it was rebuilt after a fire in which one life was lost. It was of the better kind of second class European hotels, catering largely to transient family patronage. It was built as the Eden Muehle by the widow of General Tom Thumb, and was so occupied. Afterward it was remodelled for use as a hotel. Gurney and Greiner had owned it for several years. No meals were served in the hotel.

PITTSBURG STORM-SWEPT.

A Fierce Gale Visits the Town Doing Great Damage.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 20.—A fierce wind and rain storm swept down on this city last night without warning at a time when the parks were filled with people and the rivers with boats crowded with excursionists. As far as known two women and one man were drowned, a score of persons were injured, two, it is thought, fatally, and property damaged to the extent of $100,000.

So tremendous was the force of the storm that the steamers Lud Keefe, Little Bill and Arlington were overturned and many barges, coal boats and small craft torn from their moorings and sent adrift. The passenger barge Dakota was forced against the Smithfield street bridge and the side crushed in. She sank in several feet of water.

When the storm struck the Keefe Captain Keefe, Mate Miller, Millie Lindbaugh, the cook, and two colored chambermaids were on board, but all reached the shore in safety except Millie Lindbaugh, who became exhausted and was drowned.

The steamer Courier, with 400 passengers on board, was swept with water and the passengers became panic stricken, but Captain Klein succeeded in making a landing at Painter's Mills and all left the boat in safety.

While the wind was at its highest an unknown woman attempted to cross the Point bridge. She was caught in a whirlwind and blown into the river and drowned.

Archibald Sepbie was blown into the river and drowned while trying to tighten the lines of some coal barges in the West end. He was married and had a large family.

On Second avenue a feed wire was broken and in attempting to repair it Conductor Adams was fatally shocked.

On the South side the large grain elevator of Henderson & Johnson, in course of construction, was almost completely demolished. The heavy iron girders fell on a row of tenements and crushed them, but fortunately the occupants were away from home.

Two freight cars on the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie road were lifted from the tracks and blown into the Monongahela river and portions of the Monongahela and Castle Shannon inclines were carried away by the wind and demolished.

On the north side of Allegheny City great damage was done to small buildings and trees were uprooted in the parks, but as far as reported no persons were seriously injured.

TWO NOTABLE DEATHS.

Ex-Justice Strong and Leonard W. Volk Pass Away.

LAKE MINNEWASKA, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Ex-Associate Justice Strong of the United States supreme court, died here at ten minutes past 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Justice Strong was born at Somers, Conn., May 6, 1808, of an old New England family of note. In 1846 he was elected to congress as a Democrat. In 1848 he was re-elected, but in 1850 he declined a third term. In 1857 he was elected a justice of the Pennsylvania supreme court and served for eleven years, attaining a high reputation as a jurist. At one time he was prominently mentioned for chief justice of the United States supreme court. In 1868 he retired from the bench and returned to the practice of law in Philadelphia, but in 1870 he was appointed by President Grant as a member of the United States supreme court, an honor he esteemed most deeply. His opinions were always held most highly. In 1877 he was a member of the Electoral commission and was one of those who opposed congressional canvass of state elections. He retired in 1880 on account of age, but since then had delivered many addresses and lectures and been prominent in religious work.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—At the meeting last night of the Armenian National union for the election of officers, a riot broke out and people on the street heard the sound of a fierce conflict, of flying chairs and furious voices. Then suddenly the noise was hushed and down the stairs came nearly 100 men. Some of them were blood-stained. One, with his head bound in a handkerchief, appeared to be nearly insensible, and had to be carried down by his companions. There was scarcely a man without a black eye or some mark of conflict.

After the riot had subsided the police arrived, but they could not find the leaders and no arrests were made. None of those injured were thought to be fatally hurt.

BIG FORESTS ABLAZE.

THE FIRE PLAYS HAVOC IN WASHINGTON.

A Ten-Mile Furnace—Passenger Train Near Spokane Strikes a Tree and Escapes Being Dashed Over a Precipice—Forest Fires in New Jersey.

SPokane, Wash., Aug. 21.—The westbound Great Northern train had passed through a furnace of burning forests for a distance of ten miles Sunday night, when at Little Spokane river, about twenty miles east of this city, a huge tree fell across the track from the mountain above. The engine struck it, causing the train to stop so suddenly as to throw the passengers violently from their seats. The burning tree was dragged partially under the cars, and for a moment the train toppled to one side, until it almost went into a 150 foot chasm on the other side.

So intense was the heat from the forest fire that the coaches, blistered and almost black, were struck and but for the coolness of the train crew would have rushed into certain death. The burning tree set fire to the mail and baggage cars, but the flames were extinguished with water from the American stream. With axes the track was cleared and the train succeeded in reaching here badly damaged.

M. W. McCreary, superintendent of the bridges of the Northern Pacific, who arrived here last night, reports that four bridge carpenters, who had gone out on a long bridge to extinguish a fire, failing to do so, sought to return, leaped from the bridge into the chasm, 136 feet below, and were dashed to death.

OHIO DEMOCRATS.

Gathering for the State Convention—Leaders on the Ground.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, Aug. 21.—Senator Brice arrived here from New York this morning to lead the Ohio money forces in the state Democratic convention to-morrow. He is the fight of his life for a platform in harmony with the views of President Cleveland, Secretary Carlisle and his Woodford declares that the French are not taking an aggressive part in the domination for governor or other offices, but is interested in the organization so as to control the committee credentials, which will determine the contests, and the committee on resolutions, which will report the platform.

He is believed to have a majority of the 805 delegates, with him a free silver man claim 304 of the delegates, or enough to make trouble if a concession shall be made to them.

Senator Brice will be temporary chairman of the convention and the police force, arrested a female friend of John W. Harding, the terror of the border, a few days ago, and livery will come the report from the committee on credentials, the majority for seating contesting Brice men and the minority for seating the free silver contestants. In considering these reports the senator may have some close rulings and the silver men may get mad. It is at this juncture of the proceedings that the contest between the free silver and the Brice men is expected.

At 11 o'clock the city was flooded with dodgers bearing the following resolution adopted at the meeting of the silver delegates: "We favor the immediate restoration of the law providing for the free coinage of both gold and silver coins and their use without discrimination, as provided for in the constitution."

The silver men met Senator Brice and declared that they had no fight on him and all they wanted was this plank. The senator and his friends are non-committal and want all to wait for the regular report.

On the arrival of the train bearing ex-Governor Campbell at noon, Campbell badges were distributed broadcast in anticipation of his nomination.

ZEIGLER WHIPS ABBOTT

The American Whips the Englishman in a Hoc Mill.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 21.—The international bout between Stanton Abbott, champion light-weight of England, and Owen Zeigler of Philadelphia, who fought last night at the Eureka Athletic club in the presence of 1,500 spectators.

First round—Zeigler landed on the face and then on the breast. The Englishman got in a face blow. He was very cool, while Zeigler danced around heavy work this round.

Second round—Zeigler got in two light face blows and a rib roaster. The Englishman fell to his knees and as he rose Zeigler gave him a terrible right-hander on the left eye, nearly closing it. Abbott looked distressed as the round closed.

From the third to the sixteenth round Zeigler had quite a bit the best of it.

The sixteenth was a hot round and all in Zeigler's favor, closing with the showers of blows.

Abbott aimed some savage blows in the eighteenth, but fell short. Zeigler delivered another stunner on the Briton and the next moment gave the American the best of the nineteenth.

The twentieth and last round was a savage one, give and take, the American getting it on the nose, and the Englishman being stormed with neck, face and body blows until he was four bridge carpenters, who had gone out on a long bridge to extinguish a fire, failing to do so, sought to return, leaped from the bridge into the chasm, 136 feet below, and were dashed to death.

IRON WORKERS KILLED.

Terrific Explosion at the Carnegie Homestead Steel Works.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 21.—About 5 o'clock this morning one of the top fillers of furnace II of the Carnegie Steel company's works at Homestead dumped a barrow of material into the bell of the furnace, which he had forgotten to raise. This clogged the top of the furnace and prevented the gas from escaping. Sixteen men, in charge of James Harrison, were sent to the top of the furnace to remove the obstruction. All were closely crowded around the bell removing the material when there was a terrific explosion, and men, barrows, tools and material were hurled in all directions, while flames, deadly gases and smoke belched from the furnace top.

One man, a Pole, was blown from the furnace top along the metal roadway to the elevator shaft, down which he fell and striking on a car, was cut in two. Five other men, Poles or Hungs, were so badly burned that they died soon afterward.

The contents of the furnace were blown out and scattered for hundreds of yards around the furnace, falling in all parts of the yard, cutting and burning about ten men who were working below, but none seriously.

The injured men were all leaning over the mouth of the furnace when the explosion occurred. Two men died before they reached the bottom of the elevator shaft and the other five died during the morning. Three others are in the hospital.

THIRTEEN VICTIMS FOUND.

The
