Thos. Reidy received a call Wednesday from two of his old friends, J. J. Rorlan and W. J. Smith, who are going on a hunt in Wyoming.

Born—To Wm. Hawn and wife, on Oct. 11, an eight pound boy. The rear corners of Bill's smile just touch. It's the first one of course.

The window frames for the court house have arrived and the brick work is being pushed forward rapidly with a view to getting the building enclosed this fall.

Mr. Mohr, of Sac county Iowa, is here visiting his son on Hat creek. The looks and prospects of Sioux county pleases him and he will probably decide to locate in Sioux county.

Miss May Tool arrived in Harrison from Greenfield today and will probably go out to her father's sheep ranch on War Bonnet soon. Miss Tool will be a valuable addition to the young ladies of this county.

Rev. J. A. Scamahorn came down from Crawford Tuesday. He is making arrangements to move to that place where he will preach during the ensuing year. We heartily commend Rev. Scamahorn to the people of Crawford as a gentleman and a sincere christian worker, although we hate to see him leave Gordon.—Gordon Republican.

Rev. Scamahorn will probably preach in Harrison every alternate Sabbath.

A. R. Lew, A. R. Kennedy and Andrew Christensen arrived in Harrison today from Greenfield, Iowa. Mr. Lew and Kennedy have claims north-west of here and Mr. Christensen will probably locate. These men are valuable additions to Sioux county, being men possessed of more than average ability. Mr. Lew will build immediately on his homestead on War Bonnet.

 And compel you to come before an impartial tribunal and answer for your crime whether you want to or not.—Republican.

Does the Republican mean to say that the last tribunal we were before was a partial one or the former an impartial one?

One plank in the platform of the Union Labor party in this state deserves more attention than it has received. It reads:

"We favor an amendment of the constitution of the State of Nebraska so as to admit of the investment of the permanent state school fund in first mortgage registered district bonds and improved real estate."

There is a good deal of sound business sense in this. Let the $100,000 and upwards which is now farmed out to the leading banks in the state, for the use of which the state gets nothing, be invested at home in safe school district bonds. Then perhaps there will not be such a big fight over the state treasurer'ship, and the temptation to visit Canada will not be so urgent.—Advocate.

THAT CONVENTION.

The People's Convention met at the residence of Jacob Marking, in Five Points precinct, on Tuesday Oct. 23, to place in nomination candidates for the office of commissioner and county attorney, and transact such other business as came before them.

The convention was a creditable one to all parties present and the people whom they represented. It was a gathering of men whose sincerity is unquestioned, striving for the rights of the people of Sioux county who have been compelled for so long to submit to the tyranny of a clique and ring whose sole aim has been personal gain and private interests.

That the people are in earnest is shown by the large attendance of delegates and the manifest determination to win.

Geo. Walker, the nominee for county attorney, is too well known by the people to need any introduction. He was so unfortunate as to lose the first finger and thumb from the right hand in a saw mill some years ago thus making him a cripple for life. By hard study he has fitted himself for the practice of law. He dared to air the rottenness and nulliggery of some of the county officials, thereby incurring their anger and hatred. But none of the many charges brought against him has failed to utterly refute. That his persecution and prosecution has been the direct result of malice and jealousy is doubted by none who are acquainted with the circumstances. He is sure to be elected.

J. M. Robinson, candidate for commissioner, has been in Sioux county about fifteen months, is located in township 22 range 53 and has made vast improvements for the time he has been here. Everything indicates that he came here to make his home, and increase his wealth by tilling the land on which he has filed. His reputation is beyond reproach, his ability to perform the duties of commissioner is without question and his record for just dealing in his business transactions insure that in him the people have a man in whom they may confide and be assured of justice in the impartial performance of his duties.

CLARE ITEMS.

W. A. Raum was a pleasant caller Sunday.

Mr. Henry Zimmerman has relatives visiting him from Kansas.

The peoples convention was well represented from all parts of the valley.

Thos. Reidy, Wm. Shonstaum, J. F. Pfof and M. Bruck were representatives from Harrison at the convention.

The ticket placed in the field will receive a hearty support from Clare.

The Republican seems to think that Bro. "Moses does not know what Hat creek people want—Come and see us and learn our sentiments.

Geo. O Kane is requested to drop the coal petitions for the present and haul his post on the roads already established.

At the convention yesterday Mr. Gorch made a motion that the proceedings be published in the Sioux County Journal as it was probable the other county journals would not publish them.

Mr. Woody and lady and Mr. Knott and lady attended the Bodarc meeting Sunday night.

All is over. Some of the bachelors are determined to commence a new suit. Never mind there are plenty of girls yet, boys.

Mr. Carnell has moved his saw mill to Prairiedog creek.

W. E. Saw You.

WE WOULD LIKE

From another correspondent.

We want a grist mill, another saw mill, more fruit trees set out next year, a valley locator and loan agent, a rail road and round house at Clare, winter to hold off until January 1st, 1889, to know how many votes in Snake precinct, and an economical administration of county officers and fair elections.

J. F. Pfof attended the peoples convention Tuesday.

Wm. Hawn says "It's a boy." All right Mr. H. pass around the cigars.

Mr. Hall is getting out timbers for a large and commodious dwelling.

Mr. Geo. Cant is taking an invoice of his slabs this week and wants people to know that he is the proprietor of Stauville.

"Sic um Lot."—Herald.

Rats!!!—ring the chestnut bell.

Yours Etc. Moses.

—A little less wind and dust.

—To have Mr. Slingerland remain in Harrison.

—To know if the people of Sioux Co. will elect to office a man who has purjured himself for $100 of county money!

Mr. Williams has a new eight inch drill bit and is busy pounding holes in the ground.

FROM POLE TO POLE.

From Pole to Pole; or, Tours Round the World; Being a Graphic Account of Thrilling Adventures, Marvelous Discoveries, Strange Phenomena, and Famous Sights in All Parts of the World; Containing Wonders of the Tropics, Renowned Explorations and Voyages, and Vivid Descriptions of the Various Continents, Islands, Seas and People of the Globe.

This superbly illustrated work comprises in one magnificent volume a graphic description of all that is interesting, instructive and curious in the whole world.

The voyages and explorations of the greatest travelers, their thrilling adventures, terrible dangers and miraculous escapes; the strange customs, savage wars, human sacrifices, rude forms of government of wild races; the brilliant scenery, beautiful birds, ferocious beasts and reptiles of the tropics are all described in the most fascinating manner.

The reader is conducted through the renowned Countries of Europe, he sees the fine old cities, the immense buildings, the magnificent palaces, the dress, manners and customs of the people, and is captivated by myriads of the most entrancing sights.

Crossing the ocean to the Western Hemisphere, the reader makes a tour through South America, and beholds a vast panorama of the wonderful scenes in that great continent. The work also describes with graphic power all that is fascinating and marvelous in the Five Great Oceans of the Globe.

We cordially commend this book to our readers. No one could obtain the information it contains without spending ten times its cost and much time and labor. Here it is given in a single volume, at a very low price. It is published by H. E. Gresh & Co. of Richmond, Va.

The work is printed on fine paper, and contains 316 large octavo pages. It is embellished with 324 beautiful engravings by the best artists.

Hundreds of books have been condensed into this one magnificent volume of thrilling adventures, startling discoveries and miraculous achievements. The golden grain has been culled and garnered, and the chaff rejected. The result is a brilliant array of all that is marvelous and wonderful in every land and in the mysterious depths of the sea.

This very valuable work is sold by subscription only, and Mr. J. F. Hovey, who is the authorized agent for this section, is now canvassing for it.
