She Caught the Train

A very popular young lady, who has been visiting in Americus for several weeks, was to return home on the early train Monday morning. She was afraid that she would not get up in time for the train, so one of her admiring gentle-man friends borrowed an slarm clock man friends borrowed an alarm clock which she placed in her room and set to alarm at 4 o'clock. Sunday evening a number of young men called on her and among them came the borrower of the alarm clock. All the others de-parted and left the two enjoying them-selves as only two vorus mention comselves as only two young people can. The light in the parlor burned brightly, all others in the house were either exall others in the house were either ex-tinguished or burned very low. The dogs began to howl, the chickens crowed and still the alarm clock man held on. At last the parting words were exchanged and the young man was on the eve of departing when the said alarm clock broke loose in thundering tones. The said young man gave his love one sad, forlorn look and jumped clear off the yeranda, and with the scoand leap landed in the street. She left on the early train .- Americus Recorder.

A Chinamau's Impressions.

A traveled Chinese mandarin, who has lately communicated his impressions of the west to his countrymen, deals with great peculiarity with the position and treatment of women in Europe. These surprise him beyond measure. Thus the notion of husband and wife walking arm in arm in public places fills him with amusement. "Nobody smiles him with amusement. at it," he says, "and even a husband may perform any menial task in his wife's presence, yet no one will laugh at him." Then, again, the notion of at him." Then, again, the notion of men standing aside to let a woman pass, and the code of politeness which re-quires men to make way for a woman, are to him incomprehensible. In China when the men are gorged the women dine off the scraps, but in the west "at meal-time the men must wait until the women are seated, and then take one after another their places, and the same rule must be observed when the meal is finished.' Story of a Queen Aune Bell.

Among the things lost-or supposed to have been lost-in the recent fire which destroyed the academy in our vilwhich destroyed the academy in our vir-lage," said a Johnstown man in Albany, "was the historic bell that for years hung in the old academy. It was sent to this country from England by Queen Anne and placed in the old Queen Anne chapel early in the eighteenth century. It used to call the early settlers to prayers. It was afterwards removed and used as a hop house and farmer's prayers. It was afterwards removed and used as a hop house and farmer's dinner bell, but was secured from such ignoble ase and placed in the historic old Johnstown academy, now used as a old Johnstown academy, now used as a glove shop, where it became cracked, it is said, while being rung in honor of the visit of Washington Irving to Johns-town. It did duty as a school bell un-til the erection of the school building recently destroyed, when it was re-moved and placed in the assembly hall, where it was at the time of the fire. The more academic dia out the rung workmen employed to dig out the ruins found the old bell broken in two pieces and cracked and warped out of shape .-Albany Journal. A Masculine Beauty Show.

Prominent Clergymen, Physicians, and Honesty and Intelligence. It pays to be houest, you say.

Granted. Yet how many are dishonest through ignorance, expediency, or intentionally. One can be dishonest and yet say notiing.

A clerk who lets a customer buy damaged piece of goods, a witness who holds back the truth which would clear a prisoner, a medical practitioner who takes his patient's money when he knows he is doing him no good, all are colpably dishonest.

Speaking of the dishonesty of medi-cal men reminds us that only the past week there has come under our personal observation a form of dishonesty which is almost too mean for narration.

It is generally known that doctors bind themselves by codes, resolutions and oaths not to use any advertised med-icines. Now, there is a medicine on the market which, for the past ten years, has accomplished a marvelous amount of good in the cure of Kidney and Liver diseases, and diseases arising from the de-rangement of these great organs, —we re-for to Warner's Safe Cure. So wide spread are the merits of this medicine that the majority of the doctors of this country know from actual evidence that it will cure Advanced Kidney Disease, which is but another name for Bright's Disease. The medical profession have put themselves on record as admitting that there is no cure for this terrible malady, yet there are physicians base enough and dishonest enough to procure Warner's Safe Cure in a surreptitious manner, put the same into plain, four-ounce vials, and charge their patients $2.00 per vial, when a sixteen-ounce bottle of the remedy, in its original package can be bought at any drug store in the world for $1.25.

Perhaps the doctor argues that the remaps the doctor argues that the cure of the patient justifies his dishon-esty, yet ... will boldly stand up at the next county medical meeting and de-nounce Warner's Safe Cure as a patent medicine of the state medicine, and one which he cannot and will not use. The fact is that the people are waking up to the truth that the medical profes-sion is far from honest, and that it does not possess a monopoly of wisdom in the curing of disease, doctoring the many symptoms of kidney disease, instead of striking at the seat of diseaso the kidneys themselves, -allowing pa-tients to die rather than use a remedy known to be a specific, simply because it has been advertised, and when pa-tients are dead from Advanced Kidney Disease, still practicing deception by giving the cause of death in their cer-tificate as unsuremain drowsy heart tificate as pneumonia, dropsy, heart disease, or some other accompanying effect of Bright's Disease.

All this is prima facie evidence of incompetency, bigotry and dishonesty. We speak but the truth when we say that Messrs. H. H. Warner & Co. have done a most philanthropic work for the past ten years in educating the people up to the knowledge they now enjoy. especially of maladies growing out of diseases of the Kidneys and Liver, and are deserving of all praise for their honesty and straightforwardness in expos-ing shams and dishonesty of all kinds.

The Bonnet Ers.

We are living veritably in a bonnet era. The bonnet is donned on every possible occasion. This statement, made from close observation, carries with it discouragement to the sensibilities of the amusement lover who at-tends the theatre and opera, to enjoy their merits and not make a study of millinery. Luncheon toilets are no longer complete unless supplemented with a bonnet; and one cannot but ad-mire the stoic firmness with which a party of ladies will chatter lightly through a luncheon of several hours' duration, their pretty heads burdened with the weight of a fashionable bonnet. Perhaps the blame should be laid at the doors of the milliners, who fashion such marvelously becoming headgear that they are irresistible.

A TRAIN DISPATCHER'S LUCK.

He Had No Idea That the Lightning Would Strike Him, But it Did. edo (Ohio) Biade, March 30.

In the train dispatcher's office at the Pennsylvania depot the other afterneon, there sat before a telegraph instrument, a handsome, well-conditioned, and well dressed young man, to whom a great deal of good luck has fallen lately.

It was Mr. T. B. Marshall, a Pennsylvania railroad train dispatcher, and he was the holder of one-twentieth of ticket No. 10,420, which drew the second capital prize of $100,000 in the last drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Company.

"Have you received your $5,000 yet?" inquired a reporter for the Blade, who had happened in.

"Yes, I received it a week after the drawing, and it came in a draft through the Ketcham's National Bank.

"I had purchased ticket No. 10,420, and immediately after the drawing was notified that I had drawn the nest little sum of $5,000, and that it would be immediately forwarded to me.

"I drew it from the bank, took as much as I wanted for my immediate use, and then deposited the rest with the bank. No, I have no particular plans as to what I will do with the money. 1 only know that I have it, and that it is a nice little starter for a young man.
