The hail damaged G. Guthrie's flax field on Tuesday evening. The farmers are busy putting up and getting ready for comfort next year.

Geo. Olinger had the misfortune to have a team run away with a hay rake on Monday. The result was a badly damaged rake.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Simons are happy over the arrival of a brand new son at their house, on last Saturday. All concerned are doing well.

Do not fail to order one of those pairs of Sioux county before they are gone. B. B. Smith has them for sale and they are well worth the money any one.

The pipes are being laid to connect Smith Bros' livery barn with the city sewer works. This will be much better than depending on a windmill to furnish the necessary water.

Alex E. Andrews has secured two pairs of antlers which he will take with him on his return to Binghamton, N. Y. They will be highly prized in Mr. Andrews' eastern home.

Judging from the noise made by the depot at night either the city treasury is receiving a good deal of money from the sale of tax or else the law is not being enforced. The howling of the dogs makes night hideous.

Mrs. L. J. Simmons and Mrs. H. T. Goley are prepared to take care of the needs of all who need anything in the line of dressmaking and all orders entrusted to them will receive prompt attention and satisfaction guaranteed.

Nowhere in this issue appears a call by the county clerk for a special meeting of the county commissioners on Tuesday, Aug. 20, 1889. The call is for the consideration of the petitions for license to sell liquor in White River precinct and to transact such other business as may properly come before the board.

A good soaking shower visited this locality last Saturday evening and on Sunday evening the dose was repeated so that the ground was well moistened. Wet showers were accompanied by a good deal of thunder and lightning and the result was that the air was purified and every one felt refreshed and invigorated.

A large number of excursionists are said to be taking advantage of the cheap fare on the railroad. Would it not be a good plan for Harrison to have a representative go down the road and meet them and talk Sioux county to them? Some of them might be induced to come here by that means who had not intended to.

Another shower visited this vicinity Tuesday evening, making the third rain during the past week. Some hail fell during the shower Tuesday evening. At this point the hail stones were quite large but there was but few of them. In some localities a greater quantity of hail fell and did some damage to gardens and crops.

Commissioner McGinly informs us that Sam Jensen is in bad shape, and there is talk that a board of insanity will be organized and his mental condition inquired into so that if the evidence shows good cause he can be sent to the hospital for the insane where he can receive proper treatment. He is rational part of the time and with proper medical attention he might yet become a useful man.

C. E. Holmes has taken up a piece of land a couple of miles from town and is doing a good share of his living there for the next few months to come. It is likely that a number of the young men who are holding down claims will be very tired of keeping "bachelor's quarters" before they get a deed to their land and it will prove a good investment for some in the end. Sioux county real estate will be good property to own as the county is settled up a little.

The social at the church last Friday evening was well attended and a pleasant time was enjoyed by all present. These social gatherings always create good feeling among the people.

Mrs. B. E. Thomas has purchased the restaurant business of H. A. Priddy and that gentleman has taken his family out on his farm north of town. Mrs. Thomas will constantly keep on hand a supply of fresh white and brown bread, pies and cakes, and will serve warm meals at all hours. Boarders taken by the day or week.

There is a good deal of talk being indulged in among the business men in regard to the water question. It is quite an expense to keep up the supply of water and the village is short of funds and some way is sought out of the difficulty. Some advocate the charging of settlers who have not got wells and come here for water, so much per barrel. This we believe would be the worst thing the people of Harrison could do.

If we expect to have people locate with us and help us build up the town and county we must make it as pleasant for them as possible, and if the settler has not had time or cannot afford to put down a well for the present the town ought to help him in every way possible. We do not believe there would be any objection by those who depend on the town for their water supply, if the case was stated to them properly, and they were asked to bring a load of wood for pumping purposes. In settling a new country it is necessary that all work together for the general good, and if the people of the town and the people of the county do this, all will go along smoothly. It would seem that under the circumstances a little economy could be practiced in the matter of official salaries. There is no work in a town of this size for a salaried clerk or marshal. If the marshal is paid so much for the time spent in operating the pump and working on the streets and allowed the fees in case an arrest is made or other official duty performed, it would make a saving that would enable the board to keep a supply of fuel on hand and erect a covering for the boiler and pump. During the past two months there has not been an occasion for a marshal, except in the case of the two tramps who attempted to tap the till at the Ranch Supply house, and had the marshal been away, there is the sheriff and deputy who could have attended to the matter. We admit that the salary paid the marshal is small enough for him to live on, but we believe there are men who have other occupations who could spare the time to look after the work necessary to be done. A new work cannot afford luxuries and it appears to us that a salaried marshal is a luxury.

PERSONAL.

D. F. Mack, R. F. Williams and Geo. Thayer, of Indian creek, were in Harrison the first of the week. B. B. Smith goes to Chadron this week to look up the records with a view to making a map of Dawes county.

Capt. G. W. Tool was in Harrison on Saturday. He is busy putting up hay at present and looks as if farming agreed with him. Joe Powell, of Montrose, was in Harrison Sunday and gave the first report of a heavy rain in that vicinity the evening before.

A. W. Mohr called on last Saturday and added his name to our list of readers and will in future receive Farm News as a premium. Mrs. E. N. Heath, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. J. H. Cook, for some time past, left on Wednesday for her home at Cheyenne.

C. E. Blunt, of Badart, was in Harrison on Wednesday and called at our office and enrolled himself among the readers of THE JOURNAL.

Ed. Weir has been on the sick list the past week, and is now confined to his room. It is hoped he will soon be able to again be at his place of business.

County Commissioner Burke made a pleasant call at THE JOURNAL headquarters last Saturday. He appears to have the interests of Sioux county at heart.

J. C. Crossley returned from Kearney a few days ago and called on THE JOURNAL office and gave us some cash to apply on the subscription of A. E. Callhoun.

Rev. Skinner, formerly pastor of the M. E. Church here, passed through Harrison the first of the week on his way to Ohio, and stopped off a day to shake hands with his old friends.

A. E. Andrews, in company with his son, C. H. Andrews, made a pleasant call at this office last Thursday and ordered THE JOURNAL sent to him at Binghamton, N. Y., for the ensuing year.

B. Corbin, of Wichita, Kas., is here visiting his parents, his mother being quite sick. Mr. Corbin has formed a good opinion of Sioux county and contemplates coming here with his family to live.

Nelson Pollard's new house is about ready for occupancy. Harvest is about all over and much of the grain in the stack.

On last Monday the preliminary hearing in the case of the state vs. Mason, was held before Esquire Jones. The case was prosecuted by attorney's Conley and Holmes, while the interests of the defense were looked after by Messrs. Westover and Hull. When the prosecution rested the case, a motion was made by the defense to dismiss on a technicality, but the motion was overruled by the court and the bond fixed at $250 for defendant's appearance at the district court. On Tuesday morning the defendant's attorneys began a habeas corpus action in the county court on the ground that the prosecution had failed to prove that the offense was committed in Sioux county. The prosecution asked for subpoenas for witnesses to prove that the point had been raised and the court issued them and before they could be served the testimony of the defendant and one of his attorneys was taken on that point, and on their evidence alone the defendant was released. It appears to be a peculiar rule of evidence to discharge a prisoner on the evidence of himself and his attorney. At all events the only thing accomplished is that Mason is at liberty without bonds until the district court convenes. It is to be hoped that no more trouble will occur between the parties so that the county will have no more bills to pay.

Boggy Items.

Wheat is cut and in the shock. Every body is making hay while the fine weather lasts. The saw mill is still cutting shingles and lumber.

J. Bowser visited Robinson on the 5th. Mr. Cruise has an increase in his family of a big boy. He came the 4th. Bannen & Co. have bought the Loutzenliser claim. About $800 was the price paid.

I. Kendall will go to the Black Hills in a short time with his mill. F. Jerold has a herder now. Jackson Kreiser and others have gone to the hills for work.

Little Cottonwood.

Stacking grain is the order of the day. L. D. Harmon is building an addition to his house. What's the matter Dow? It seems your house ought to be large enough for one lonely bachelor.

Sunday school is progressing finely in district No. 3. The attendance averaging from 30 to 40. Aaron Telly is back from an extended visit to Iowa.

Spears and Grove have cut 125 acres of grain with their new Deering binder. The shrill sound of the whistle from another saw mill may now be heard to be daily through the canyons of Little Cottonwood. This makes the third mill on Cottonwood, and all are kept busy. Surely the lumber business thrives if other business is dull.
