Republican State Convention.

The republican electors of the state of Nebraska are requested to send delegates from the several counties to meet in convention at the opera house in the city of Hastings, on Tuesday, October 8, 1889, at 8 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for one associate justice of the supreme court, and two members of the board of regents of the state university, and to transact such other business as may be presented to the convention.

The several counties are entitled to representation as follows, being based upon the vote cast for Hon. Geo. H. Hastings, presidential elector, in 1888, giving one delegate at large for each county, and one for each 150 votes or major fraction thereof. [This paper gives only those counties in north Nebraska from Madison west.]

It is recommended that no proxies be allowed to the convention except such as are held by persons residing in the counties from which proxies are given.

WALT M. KELLY, Secretary.
L. D. RICHARDS, Chairman.

It is probable that congress will be called to meet in special session about October 20th.

Gen. Mahone has been nominated for governor of Virginia and will lead the republicans to victory this fall.

Kearney is to have free postal delivery. Thus one by one the bright towns of Nebraska grow into cities and the march of improvement goes steadily on.

The Cronin murder trial has begun. All the prisoners demand separate trials, and all claim to fear contamination from Woodruff. The arguments for separate trials were commenced yesterday, but the result is not yet known.

The authorities at Washington have issued orders that the United States flag shall be hoisted on all government buildings every day. That is right. It will give the people an opportunity to see what buildings belong to the government in the various cities and towns.

Mexico is confronted by a number of gigantic trusts. It seems the governments of the nations of the earth will have to form a combine to crush the trusts, or organize a trust of such gigantic proportions that those now existing will get ashamed of themselves and disband.

The G. A. R. veterans are flocking to Milwaukee by the thousands and the indications are that a grand time will be had. It is evident that Gen. Alger, of Michigan, will be the next commander-in-chief. Many of the most noted men of the nation are among the crowds arriving daily.

Weeping Water tried to get up a boom by sending out the report that Tascott had been arrested there. It would be a great relief to the world if Tascott was in custody and if that individual had much regard for the general welfare of the people he would surrender himself and put an end to the suspense.

Major J. B. Davis, of Wahoo, department commander of the Nebraska department of the Grand Army of the Republic, died a few days ago. His death brings sorrow to many a heart for he was highly esteemed in all Grand Army circles and had hosts of friends among those who were not in the army.

This office received a few days ago a copy of the new railroad map of Nebraska, issued by the state board of transportation, through the courtesy of our friend, Atty. Gen. Leese. The various railroads are marked by different colored lines which makes it very convenient for reference and is duly appreciated by us.

A large number of counterfeit silver dollars are reported in circulation in Lakota and it is supposed that a gang of counterfeiters are working the northwest. The coins are said to be very good imitations of the genuine, with the exception of being of lighter weight. It is well to be on the lookout for these coins.

Hon. C. H. Cornell has sent his resignation as senator from the 14th district to Gov. Thayer. The reason for this action is his appointment to the Valentine land office. This will make it necessary for a new senator to be elected at the coming election. Unless there is a special session of the legislature called the person will have no official acts to perform during his term of office. But that should make no difference to the republicans and they should select a man in every way worthy so that when the time arrives for the selection of a senator to represent this district in the senate in 1891 the man who makes the run this fall can be re-elected so that he will have an opportunity to do some work. No straw men should be put up by the republicans.

The sentence of Mrs. Maybrick has been commuted so that she will not suffer the death penalty. There is a great deal of feeling, not only in Liverpool, but throughout England in the case. Many believe the woman not guilty of poisoning her husband, and an application for a pardon will doubtless be strongly urged in her favor.

Judge Cooley, of the interstate railroad commission, has given the companies to understand that the laws were not made to be violated. There has been a great deal of law breaking all over the country for the past few years, not only by railroads but by all classes, and the people have come to the conclusion that it must stop, and when the people of the United States, or any part thereof, decide that lawlessness has gone far enough they soon find a way to put a stop to it.

The indications are that M. B. Reese will receive the nomination for another term on the supreme bench of Nebraska, almost unanimously. A number of candidates have been mentioned but none of them appear to have made any effort to secure the nomination. If there is any objection to Judge Reese it is scattered and unorganized. It is a good plan to retain men on the supreme bench who have had experience and the republican convention will do well to give Judge Reese a hearty endorsement for another term.

The prohibitionists of Nebraska met at Lincoln a few days ago and passed resolutions on almost everything and against the republican party in particular. The greatest discussion was called out over the point of wishing the non-partisan temperance movement success. Some of the leaders of the third party movement are so cranky that they can see nothing of good except in their own circle, and others do not want prohibition to carry for they would be out of a job. There were about 150 delegates at the convention.

Gov. Waterman, of California, has instructed the attorney general to dismiss the proceedings against Justice Field for complicity in the shooting of Terry. That was the right course and the sooner Deputy Nagle is vindicated the better it will be for the country. It is necessary for those who do not like to obey the laws to learn that they dare not attempt to intimidate the courts by threats of personal violence. If a judge does a party to a suit a willful injustice there is a way to make him legally account for his action. Personal attacks like that of Terry upon Field are very poor arguments and generally revert upon the person making the attack.

The republican state convention will meet at Hastings on Tuesday, October 8, 1889, at 8 o'clock p. m., to place in nomination candidates for one associate justice of the supreme court and two regents of the state university. The representation is based on the vote cast for George H. Hastings for presidential elector and there will be one delegate at large for each county and one delegate for each 150 votes or major fraction thereof. It will be the largest convention ever held in the state, and will have 816 delegates. Sioux county will be entitled to three delegates. Good republicans should be selected from this county so that in future the party here will have a standing in state politics.

The last issue of the Chadron Democrat contains a long article relative to the conduct of the democratic land officials at that place and re-produces some correspondence which passed between W. H. Ketchum, of the Crawford Clipper, the acting commissioner of the land office and Messrs. Montgomery and Crites. Ketchum made a kick because he did not get his share of the land notices, and acting Commissioner Stone wrote to the officials at Chadron relative to the matter. In answer to this Messrs. Montgomery and Crites say: "Further in relation to this matter, we have long since established a rule permitting the settlers to have their notice published in the newspaper of their choice, provided that it was a well established paper and one that had a bona fide circulation." The gentlemen who attached their names to the epistle are about to be relieved by the republicans appointed to take the positions and it is hoped that no grounds for kicking will be given. We believe Bro. Ketchum made a mistake when he appealed to the department on political grounds, for when democrats are in power republican papers have no right to expect patronage and the same rule obtains when the offices are held by republicans. But the democratic officials of the Chadron land office did not keep faith with the people. After Harrison was elected and it was evident that their official career would be cut short, Messrs. Montgomery and Crites, probably with a view to hold the offices a little longer, issued the rule above referred to. But how did they establish that rule? If it suited their notion they sent the notices to the paper designated and if it did not suit they sent them elsewhere. They claim that no other administration permitted the settler to have a word to say in the matter. We fail to see what satisfaction it was to the settler to say in what paper he desired his notice published and then have it sent somewhere else. As to letting the people say a word, the democratic receiver goes so far as to arrogate to himself the right to designate the paper in which the initial notice in a contest case should be published, but where he got the authority for that is a mystery. But they have had their day and ere many suns shall rise and set the republican officials will take control and Mr. Montgomery can retire to his farm in Boone county, and Mr. Crites can rustle with the rest on the outside. Let them go.

Jones & Verity.

We have recently strengthened the firm by the admission to partnership of Chas. E. Holmes, one of north west Nebraska's ablest lawyers, who will pay special attention to law and land practice. We shall continue to make the very best terms on farm loans, and invite all to confer with us before signing applications with other parties. If you need insurance on your buildings, want to start a contest, or make entry of government land, come and see us at the old corner.
