TUESDAY, NOV. 28, 1890.

It is safe to say that more people in the United States are making war on turkey today than are making war on the Indians.

If this country is to enjoy the luxury of an Indian war, it may be set down in advance that every Indian killed in it will cost the government at least fifty white soldiers and at least half a million dollars in money.

The increase in the population in the state of Nebraska between 1880 and 1890 was from 452,402 to 1,056,793, or 134 per cent, while the increase in population in Kansas for the same period was only 43 per cent.

It is reported that the Pacific Short Line is to pass into the hands of the Sioux City & Northern and will be operated by that company.

It is about time that sentimentality in regard to redskins came to an end. One family of citizens is of more consequence than all the Indians.

While there may be no need of any outside help for the people of Sioux county to obtain the necessities of life, still it is certain that some action will be absolutely necessary to provide seed in the spring.

As this is the season of the year in which publishers make a special effort to secure new subscribers, and in order to do this they send out a great many copies of their publication to parties who are not subscribers, it may be well for the people to know that it is all right to receive all such papers from the post office.

It was hoped now that election was past that the Herald would cease to clamor against those who do not train in its crowd, as there is nothing to be gained by such a course, but such hope was delusive, for the last issue of that paper contained a lot of trash about the ballots cast for H. T. Conley being illegal, evidently intended to urge the democrats on to a contest, and insinuating that Mr. Conley was a party to getting up illegal ballots either through wilful intent or ignorance.

Judge Caldwell, the successor to Judge Sawyer on the United States circuit bench, is evidently a man who believes in justice to the poor. It has been the rule in cases of foreclosure of real estate mortgages to make the defendant who loses his land, also pay the fees of the attorney who conducts the case against him.

The greatest use to which the Indians can be put is to make fertilizers of them. The mode of treatment by which to obtain the best results is to put about two and one-half feet of earth on top of them.

The state authorities are very anxious to assist in the development of the sugar industry in Nebraska and are doing all in their power to help the farmers in finding out all they can in the matter. The experimental station desire to receive beets for analysis and it will cost you nothing to send the specimens to them for that purpose.

Proceedings have been commenced to contest the election of Boyd and all those who appear to have been elected on the state ticket. The papers in the case set up that fraud was perpetrated in Douglass and other counties; that in other places illegal voting was done and in some precincts too many votes were cast, Bux Butte county being one in which irregularities occurred.

To the settlers in the northwest the Indian trouble calls out some peculiar thoughts which may be noted as being well grounded. The Indians are furnished land and utensils for farming, and in addition to that have food and clothing issued to them by the government, and if they get "rollicky" and commit some depredation all they have to do is to promise to be good Indians and the government not only forgives them but increases their supplies of food and clothing.

Chicago Inter Ocean. Satisfied with the experiment Brazil is now prepared to take its position among the nations of the earth as a government according to republican principles. The provisional government that succeeded the empire has formally surrendered its temporary authority to the national congress, and the next step to be taken is the confirmation of the will of the people in the exercise of constitutional power.

This much is encouraging, the Brazilians have proved in their months autonomy that they are capable of getting along without an hereditary ruler, that they are equal to the great responsibility of self government. Fears entertained by European powers, and felt in financial circles, that the people of Brazil would pass from one form of revolution to another, that they were unstable and uncertain in their desires, requiring the monarchical theory to their control, have been dispelled by the judicious course of the provisional authorities and by the acquiescence of factions in the new form of government.
