A new girl arrived at the home of A. R. Kennedy a few days ago.

J. W. Scott went to Van Tassel the first of the week to paint a house.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. John L. Davis on last Saturday.

John Mack and J. W. Hunter had about twenty-five tons of hay destroyed by a fire set by a locomotive.

W. E. Moore says he has a fine field of wheat and the shocks stand very thick on the ground. Parties who ought to be good at judging such things say it will yield thirty bushels per acre.

A pretended correspondent of the Herald says the character of THE JOURNAL is exceedingly disreputable, and that the Herald is respectable. There is no accounting for some people's taste.

Don't forget to get something ready for the state fair exhibit. Don't be afraid that what you have is not good enough. Select the best you have and deliver it to the committeeman of your precinct or bring it to Harrison.

We will give THE JOURNAL one year to the party who will bring us the largest watermelon. A record of the weight of each melon brought in will be kept and the award made at the close of the season.

Last Saturday evening a little disturbance occurred and some ugly talk indulged in, and an attempt made to strike, but no one was hurt. The participants had been drinking some, and thought better of it later.

Philip Brinkerhoff arrived last Thursday from Seward to take a position in THE JOURNAL office. The business has increased so, more help was needed and now we are prepared to do job work on short notice in first class style.

A separator arrived a few days ago for J. E. Wallace, and will soon be at work. We are informed that there will be other machines in the vicinity so that there will be plenty of opportunity for the farmers to get their threshing done in good season.

Editor Walker says the last issue of the JOURNAL teemed with falsehoods and slanders against some of the oldest and best citizens in the county. Of course, what Walker says must be so, for is not his reputation established.

A. R. Kennedy has 80 acres of wheat which is estimated at an average of 20 bushels per acre and his other grain is equally as good. The indications are that wheat will bring at least a dollar a bushel, which will make it profitable for the farmers. The quality of Sioux county wheat is fine.

Geo. Olinger says he treated his seed wheat to a bath in vitriolized water before sowing and the result is that while there was some smut in the seed there is not a smut head in the crop. The treatment is cheap and simple and other farmers will do well to follow his example. George says that those who have seen his field estimate that it will yield 25 bushels per acre.

The past week has been quite wet and the work of harvesting and haying has been somewhat delayed, but the indications are that the wet spell is over and that the farmers will now have an opportunity to get the grain in stack. The rains have put the ground in excellent shape for fall plowing and sowing and the farmers will not be slow in improving the opportunity.

It is reported that the settlers along the Platte are considerably exercised over a visit from a local official of Wyoming who warned the people not to take fire-wood nor fence posts from that state into Nebraska as has been the custom. They look upon it as an attempt to injure them, for if they cannot get fuel they will be forced to abandon their homes. Some think it is a movement on the part of a certain class to accomplish just such a thing. The wood was taken from government land and the authorities of Wyoming have no power to make laws controlling such land. The United States land laws do not stop at state lines, and if any civil officer of Wyoming attempts to annoy the settlers, just because they live on the Nebraska side of the line, he may get Uncle Sam after him. We should like to get anything authoritative on the matter, for we are satisfied it is a game. The settlers could learn just what rights they have by writing to the United States district attorney at Omaha.

Editor Walker says Conley has won but one case. The records show what he has won and lost. The court would doubtless have disposed of more cases in which he appears if some people who appear on the opposite side did not get continuances whenever possible.

Judge Kinkaid has sent word postponing the fall term of the district court for thirty days. So that instead of September 8th, it will be October 8th when district court will convene in Sioux county. This will make it much better for the farmers who will have to attend court for they will not be so busy in October as they will be next month.

Rev. Borick leaves one week from next Monday for Iowa. He will take charge of a church in the Atlantic district of the Des Moines conference. Mrs. Borick will go to Kansas to visit relatives and will then join her husband in his work in Iowa. The friends of the pastor and his lady will wish them success in their new field of labor.

A peculiar accident happened to Fred Betschen a few days ago. He was trying to drive a colt into the barn when the animal kicked, striking him in the breast with one hoof and on the thumb of the left hand with the other. The bone of the thumb was broken and the joint thrown out of place. The colt was a pet and had never been known to kick at anyone previous to that.

The fact that the farm loan business has again opened up in this part of the country is an evidence of renewed confidence in Northwest Nebraska. The loans will, of course, be small, but small loans are preferable to anything of the wild-cat nature. There have been very few foreclosures in Sioux county while in many counties the district court docket is loaded with such cases and that fact also speaks well for Sioux county.

It is claimed by those in a position to know that there is nearly as much nutriment in the stalk, leaves and husks of corn as there is in the ear. It is therefore good economy to cut it at the proper time. The difficulty has been the cost of the work, but a simple machine has been gotten up with which two men and one horse can cut and shock from 200 to 300 shocks a day. This not only greatly decreases the cost, but enables farmers to secure the corn fodder when it is in the best stage.

A number of our farmers are preparing to sow a good deal of wheat this fall, and we see by our exchanges that the same thing will be done in the other counties of Northwest Nebraska. It is a settled fact that this part of the state will produce fine small grain, and the next thing in order is to find what varieties will give the best results. Winter wheat has done well whenever tested and next season a large amount of winter wheat will be harvested here. It will bring better profits and will enable the farmers to handle their work in better shape.

With wheat starting in at 75 cents a bushel and good prospects of its going still higher, and a yield of from 15 to 30 bushels per acre, there is no reason for the people of this part of the country to complain. That is much better than to get from 10 to 15 bushels per acre in the east and then have to give the greater part of it for rent on high-priced land. Now all that is necessary is for the farmers to work their land and put in their crops and care for them just as they do in the east and there will be no danger of failure. Poor farming does not pay in any county.

In addition to the county exhibit at the state fair Sioux county will be represented by Messrs. Schulz and Feyerherm who have spent a good deal of time and money in making collection of petrifications and other curiosities to be found in the Hat Creek country and have a portable building, and this they intend to take to Lincoln and other large fairs during the fall. There are many things found in the Hat Creek basin of great interest to scientific people, as is evidenced by the eastern colleges sending for specimens and paying good prices for them and the collection which Messrs. Schulz and Feyerherm will exhibit will attract a good deal of attention.

Reduced Rates.

For the Nebraska state fair at Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 4th to 11th round trip tickets will be on sale Sept. 4th to 11th inclusive, good returning until Sept. 14th for one fare for the round trip, plus 50 cents for admission to the fair.

Railroad Fare Reduced.

For the Daves county fair at Chadron tickets will be on sale Sept. 29th to Oct. 31 inclusive, good returning until Oct. 4th, for one and one-third fare for the round trip.
