Not a Candidate.

For the past month several of the newspapers in Northwest Nebraska have been charging the editor of the Standard, El. L. Heath, with being a candidate for re-election to the Nebraska legislature, and some of them have spoken kindly of us in this connection. We duly appreciate the good things said of us, the same as all people do, but we wish to state that we are not a candidate for any coffice, and will not be. Financially, we cannot afford to be a candidate for the legislature. As a rule, when men begin to seek oillice they do not know when to quit, but its different with the editor of the Standard. We know when to quit, but its different with the editor of the Standard. We know when to quit boys will be: "Never run for office; be honest."

> The frequency with which a wronged husband or wife esorts to violence to ivenge the wrong done them by the ruin of their home and happiness is leading people to think seriously on the subject There is no law which can adequately reach and punish such crimes, nor does it seem possible to make 'a law of that kind. A person who will deliberately set to work and plan to ruin the home of another, and in most cases the victim is one who considers the intruder a friend. is not fit to live; A law which would give the party wronged authority to shoot down the destroyer of his home as soon as the proof of guilt is obtained, with no legal responsibility thereafter except to produce evidence to prove the facts in the case would tend to decrease the number of such cases. It is noted that frequently a man of means who is respected and looked upon as a man of honor is connected with a good deal of scandal. Notwithstanding this the doors of respectable people are open to him and men who know of his musleeds admit him to the society of their wives and daughters. When the laws of society are so changed as to place the same brand of disgrace on the fallen man as they do a fallen woman a long strate in advance will have been made.
