POPULAR SCIENCE.

MANY of the stars are heavier than our sun. For example, Mizar, the middle star in the tail of the Great Bear, is forty times as heavy as the sun. To the naked eye there are five sun. or six thousands of these heavenly bodies visible. In all probability there are worlds revolving around them

THE popular idea that water is purified by freezing has been again lisproved by recent careful experiments, which show that the average amount of impurity retained by the ice is 34.3 per cent. of organic matter, and 21.2 per cent. of inorganic matter As organic matter is the more objectionable of the two, the case is worse than was formaly supposed.

THE water spider, which spends most of its time under water, carries a bubble of air for breathing on the under side of its body; and, when this air is exhausted, it comes to tho surface for more. It is enabled to carry the air bubble because the under side of its body is covered with tiny hairs set so close together that the surface film of the water does not pass them, although the air does, and thus the air is imprisoned among the hairs

THE least distance determined for the fixed stars from the earth runs into billions of miles. Some notion of the reality may be derived from the fact that if our sun were removed the fact that if our sun were removed about 200,000 times its present dis-tance from the earth, it would ap-year to us simply as a star of the first magnitude. The distance in such a case would exceed 19,000,000,000 of miles. It follows that if the nearest fixed star is further off than this, as appears to be the fact, every star of the first magnitude must be larger or brighter than our sun.

THE orbit of the planet Neptune, hirty times further from the sun than that of the earth, forms the outer boundary of the solar system, The distance is immense, yet shrinks into insignificance when compared with that which lies beyond. vast is the gulf which intervenes between our earth and the stellar universe that, although many of the stars are in all probability larger and brighter than our sun, yet the most powerful telescope is not able to give them any appreciable diameter, a mere point of light being all that is visible sympathies and indignation of the people is that of the Mojave Indians. They have been a strong and hardy race, but with the advance of civilization (?) and the influence of firewater they are rapidly being deci-mated. A few days ago three Mojave Indians from the Needles went to San Bernandina to see the United States Marshal in regard to the white men selling liquor to their tribe. They claim that whisky is furnished in plenty, thus ruining their young braves, as well as the squaws and that lately the Indians will not work, only long enough to secure money sufficient for a debauch, and that the igent residing among them will furnish no relief.

This is an outrage demanding immediate attention, for common humanity requires the Government to ok after and protect its wards.

If You Want The Best

A LTHOUGH you may have had good luck with but few failures in making cake and biscuit in the old-fashioned way with soda and sour milk, or soda and cream of tartar, you will have better luck and (following directions) no failures with the Royal Baking Powder.

The truth of this must be evident when you remember that in the leading hotels and restaurants, and in the homes of our city cousins, where the latest and best methods are invariably employed, and where the most beautiful and dainty food is always set out for the guests, the Royal Baking Powder is exclusively used for all quickly risen food.

Royal Baking Powder never disappoints; never makes sour, soggy or husky food; never spoils good materials; never leaves lumps of alkali in the biscuit or cake; while all these things do happen with the best of cooks who cling to the old-fashioned methods, or who use other Baking Powders.

If you want the best food, Royal Baking Powder is indispensable.

Bicycles Are Becoming Chesper.

"When bicycles get down to a reasonable figure, which they are bound to do in time, I predict that nine out of every ten clerks and workingmen will have one for use in going to and from his place of employing to and from his place of employ-ment," is what I heard a dealer in "wheels" say to-day. "Every day I am asked by dozens of men, young and middle-aged, if there is not some way of furnishing them a wheel at a figure that will be within their figure that will be within their means. They say they cannot afford to invest $75 to $150 in a bicycle, al-though they feel that it would be a very convenient thing for them to have. Bicycles are held at a high figure on account of the patents upon them, just the same as sewing machines were some years ago. I remember very well then when as good a sewing machine as is sold to day for $25 could not be purchased for less than $100. The prices of whech are being reduced every year, and five years hence the best make of them can be had for $25 or less.
