

NEBRASKA NEWS.

Plattsmouth is threatened with an epidemic of diphtheria. The A. O. U. W. Lodge at Rogers is planning to build a new hall.

Thieves at Table Rock broke into a car of merchandise standing on a sidewalk and made a good haul. An A. O. U. W. lodge has been organized at Weston, Saunders county, with twenty charter members.

Edward Wilson, of Silver Creek, is on trial at Central City for assault with intent to kill. The complaining witness hails from the same place.

The Odd Fellows of Fairmont gave a banquet on the anniversary of the organization of their lodge, at which visitors were present from Geneva and Exeter.

Rev. William Weeks, pastor of the Congregational church at Harvard, has returned home with his bride and the people have given the couple a welcoming reception.

T. F. Allen and son, of Shelton, were scattered all over the prairie in a runaway, and the former was badly disfigured by striking the tough soil with a tender face.

While Wm. Patrick, of Pierce, was unloading a car of lumber a 2x4 scanning fell on his foot breaking the great toe and bruising the member so he will be laid up for some time.

Several Keely graduates of other days have found it necessary to take added courses. Some of them will soon find it necessary to take treatment for the treatment habit.

NEBRASKA NEWS.

Plattsmouth is threatened with an epidemic of diphtheria. The A. O. U. W. Lodge at Rogers is planning to build a new hall.

Thieves at Table Rock broke into a car of merchandise standing on a sidewalk and made a good haul. An A. O. U. W. lodge has been organized at Weston, Saunders county, with twenty charter members.

Edward Wilson, of Silver Creek, is on trial at Central City for assault with intent to kill. The complaining witness hails from the same place.

The Odd Fellows of Fairmont gave a banquet on the anniversary of the organization of their lodge, at which visitors were present from Geneva and Exeter.

Rev. William Weeks, pastor of the Congregational church at Harvard, has returned home with his bride and the people have given the couple a welcoming reception.

T. F. Allen and son, of Shelton, were scattered all over the prairie in a runaway, and the former was badly disfigured by striking the tough soil with a tender face.

While Wm. Patrick, of Pierce, was unloading a car of lumber a 2x4 scanning fell on his foot breaking the great toe and bruising the member so he will be laid up for some time.

Several Keely graduates of other days have found it necessary to take added courses. Some of them will soon find it necessary to take treatment for the treatment habit.

LADY MAJENDIE

CHAPTER XI.—Continued. On the next day a note to that effect was pasted all over the closed shutters of the shop.

An old gentleman, or rather a man whom too much study had prematurely aged, was passing by the door and saw the notice. He knew of a treasure within that shop, and trusted that no one from without knew of it but himself.

The scholar had entered into a daily correspondence on the subject, away coming in about 5 o'clock, looking loving at the precious volume, offering a little more or a little less, while Jaques stood respectfully by, with a beating heart, dreading every moment he might offer the sum he himself had named.

Now on this bright June morning the scholar was passing by, and he saw the shop shut up. The perspiration started out upon his brow, and his indescribable shiver passed down his back and he precipitately rushed to the door.

CHAPTER XII. "I have never told you one condition of our wealth," said Mr. Fairdon a few days after the arrival of the wonderful news—"we have to change our name."

"Indeed, Andy, it seems that our very skins will be changed!" said his wife. "What new-fangled name shall we have to adopt?"

"I do not know. It does not come natural to a woman of my age to be changing my name like a new-married girl." "There is a great deal to think of," said Andrew, striking his brow; "first for your part, you must have some mourning."

LADY MAJENDIE

"I shall not know my own name," cried Nannie, piteously. "You are quite unreasonable, and will really vex me, Mrs. Lovel," cried her husband.

Nannie, notwithstanding all her troubles, could not help smiling at the name. "What are you laughing at?" he said, sharply.

"Indeed, deary, I only smiled at my own name; but I will try to do all you wish," she said, humbly, coming up and putting her hands on his; "only you must be patient with me, honey, and not expect poor Nannie to become a grand lady all at once."

He was restored to good humor, and said, "Well, my dear, if you will do your best, I shall have no cause to be ashamed of you."

The words jarred on Nannie's ear—"Ashamed of her?" would it really come to that? If he could admit the possibility of such a feeling in his mind, some mischief was already done.

CHAPTER XIII. Andrew did not express the wish of his heart in words, which was that Nannie would leave the purchase of the house in his hands, without seeing it, or expressing any opinion as to its desirability.

CHAPTER XIV. Andrew did not express the wish of his heart in words, which was that Nannie would leave the purchase of the house in his hands, without seeing it, or expressing any opinion as to its desirability.

agent whom he was employing, of a place which he thought would suit him to perfection—a beautiful old place in one of the loveliest counties of England.

They were sitting late over their supper, still talking over the glories of Salford Abbey, when there came a gentle knock at the door, and Jaques came in. "You are busy," he said, and would have withdrawn, but Dita sprang from her seat and ran up to him.

"Jaques, you not go away!" she cried—"come in—come in!" and lifting Pluff off the seat he occupied, she pushed Jaques into it, and deposited the little dog in his lap.

CHAPTER XV. Andrew did not express the wish of his heart in words, which was that Nannie would leave the purchase of the house in his hands, without seeing it, or expressing any opinion as to its desirability.

CHAPTER XVI. Andrew did not express the wish of his heart in words, which was that Nannie would leave the purchase of the house in his hands, without seeing it, or expressing any opinion as to its desirability.

CHAPTER XVII. Andrew did not express the wish of his heart in words, which was that Nannie would leave the purchase of the house in his hands, without seeing it, or expressing any opinion as to its desirability.

CHAPTER XVIII. Andrew did not express the wish of his heart in words, which was that Nannie would leave the purchase of the house in his hands, without seeing it, or expressing any opinion as to its desirability.

CHAPTER XIX. Andrew did not express the wish of his heart in words, which was that Nannie would leave the purchase of the house in his hands, without seeing it, or expressing any opinion as to its desirability.

CHAPTER XX. Andrew did not express the wish of his heart in words, which was that Nannie would leave the purchase of the house in his hands, without seeing it, or expressing any opinion as to its desirability.

Steamer Lost at Sea. LONDON, May 16.—The captain of the steamship City of Hamburg, which arrived at Swansea from Hamburg, reports that his vessel collided in a fog off Traves Head, coast of Cornwall, with the ship Countess Evelyn, bound with passengers and iron ore from Bilbao, Spain, to Newport, Wales.

EVERY SEWER A TORRENT. By Tuesday evening there were warnings of trouble and everybody wondered when it would stop. In this city every sewer is pouring a torrent into unusually sluggish Cuyahoga, which is swollen to more than twice its normal size.

RAIN CONTINUES TO FALL. The condition of affairs in the Cuyahoga river valley is not encouraging. Everything in the nature of creek, river, ditch or sewer is filled to the brim, and is beginning to be a serious problem to know what will become of the surface water.

Ten Timbermen Killed. HOUGHTON, Mich., May 16.—Ten timbermen were dashed to pieces in the Red Jacket perpendicular shaft of the Calumet and Hecla mine at noon Monday. The miners were coming up in the cage to dinner and the engineer hoisted the cage against the timbers of the shaft, when the wire cable broke and the men and cage dashed downward over three thousand feet to the bottom.

SOMEBODY IS BLAMEABLE. The cause of the accident was a faulty indicator, which did not show the brakeman in charge of the hoisting apparatus when the cage had reached the top of the shaft. Consequently he could not stop the machinery in time, and when the iron car struck the beams at the top of the shaft the steel wire rope by which it was suspended snapped, letting the cage with its ten men down to a fearful death at the bottom of the shaft, 3,000 feet below.

NONE OF THE BODIES RECOVERED. The accident is the worst which has ever happened in the Calumet and Hecla mine and the excitement in the city is intense. Thousands of people have visited the shaft, where the horror occurred. Many pitiful scenes have been witnessed there too. Most of the ill-fated men had families, and when the first rumor of the awful accident reached wives and children hastened to the scene, hoping that the report had been false, but finding instead that it was only too true, and that they were widows and orphans.

Three of the Crew Drowned. ASHTABULA, O., May 19.—The schooner Pelican foundered off the pier here. Three of her crew of seven men were drowned. The lost are: Peter Nelson, first mate, Cleveland; John Erickson, sailor, Cleveland; John K. Night, sailor, Cleveland.

Plat Glass Trust. KOKOMO, IND., May 19.—The plat glass trust is now assuming tangible form and is an assured fact. It will embrace four of the largest factories in the United States. The diamond works of Kokomo, a branch of the same company at Elwood, Ind., the Charleroi in Pennsylvania and the Crystal City of Missouri.

Arkansas Levee Breaks. MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 16.—A second crevasse in the Arkansas levee occurred yesterday. This break is about four miles below the first one, the lakeport crevasse, and is located 1,000 feet north of Brooks Mill. At 7 a. m. the Brooks Mill crevasse was fifty feet in width and widening rapidly. One hundred and forty cattle are crowded by the water onto the narrow stretch of levee between the two breaks and so trampled upon the already weak levee that the entire section of embankment is reported to be very weak, it being stated officially by the secretary of the board of Mississippi commerce, General S. Ferguson, that many breaks are threatened.

Confessed Judgement. CHICAGO, May 16.—Godfrey, Clarke & Co., confessed judgement for nearly a hundred thousand dollars.

Presented with a Golden Scepter. NOTIA, May 16.—The citizens of Throva have given to Prince Ferdinand a golden scepter. Elaborate preparations are making for the opening of the Sombrano.

Guantanamo is the oldest Prime Minister England has ever had.

When being for water, a farmer at ...

Chicago, May 19.—Daniel Coughlin, the detective who was sentenced with Burke and O'Sullivan to life imprisonment for the murder of Dr. Cronin, but was granted a new trial by the supreme court, appeared in the criminal court this morning as his own lawyer in his case, which was called for yesterday. Coughlin asked for a continuance of the case to the next term, which was granted, the prosecution offering no objections.

Farmers who planted corn in April, are having the work to do over again.