No. 1, mixed. No. 2, mixed.

C. B. Scott now occupies the old Smith building as a restaurant.

A daughter arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Bartlett on last Friday.

All kinds of wood work done at Friday's blacksmith shop, opposite THE JOURNAL office.

Speaking of deputies the candidates on the Citizens ticket say they have made no promises, Verity and his ring to the contrary, notwithstanding.

J. W. Scott informs us that he has decided not to leave Harrison, but will continue to do business at the old stand opposite THE JOURNAL office.

Most of the farmers find that their corn does not yield as well as they expected. Instead of 85 to 40 bushels per acre they are getting from 20 to 25.

Joseph Sturdevant, an old-time cowboy of Wyoming, has located on a homestead near the head of Sheep creek and will engage in stock raising. His family is with him on the claim.

A prairie fire southeast of town last week destroyed a large amount of grass. Care will have to be taken in regard to fires or stock owners will be short of winter pasture.

A good load of good wood on subscription would be acceptable at this office. Don't be afraid that we have too much of kind. We have plenty of place on which to pile it.

Samuel Jenkins, practical boot and shoe maker. Cowboy boots a specialty. Repairing promptly and neatly done. Satisfaction guaranteed. Shop second door south court house.

Rev. Kendall has secured enough material and money to build a barn on the church lots. He proposes to keep up his part and is doing the work himself.

A deal was made a short time ago whereby E. F. Johnson again became owner of the livery barn and G. W. Stevens got back his farm south of town. The latter still owns the stock and continues the business, having rented the buildings.

Every one should see what they can do in the way of getting milk cows so that when word is received that the parties who contemplate building a creamery here come to look over the situation they can find out about how many cows they can depend on to supply the institution.

W. B. Wright took a brand new set of harness out of the shop the last of the week which H. A. Cunningham had made to order for him. Mr. Wright is a practical harnessmaker and while east he got an idea of what he wanted and when he got home he had a harness put up to suit him. He believes in patronizing home industries and he knows that Mr. Cunningham can do good work.

The people along the streams should bear in mind that trout can be obtained in the spring with which to stock the waters. Do not wait until the car gets here and then expect to get a supply of fish. Put in your application in time so that the necessary number can be brought out. It costs nothing but the trouble of coming to get the fish and putting them in the water.

Speaking of the opportunities of Sioux county a few days ago J. J. Rodgers said he had lived in Sioux county for seven years and was not yet ready to leave. The past season he raised nearly two hundred bushels of potatoes and between five and six hundred bushels of small grain. The yield was not as large as it has been some years but it makes him a good living.

On last Monday A. E. Upton, of Nevada, and J. O. Wortendyke, of Lincoln, arrived here. They came to see about the shipment of a flock of about six thousand sheep belonging to the former. They will be fed at Fremont and Cochrane during the winter and sent from those points to market. The sheep made a train of twenty-nine double decked cars and were loaded at Andrews.

On last Monday the order was received from the department at Washington for the removal of the postoffice from its former location to the store of Marshall Bros., and the fixtures were removed to the new location on Tuesday evening. It will make it great deal more pleasant both for the postmaster and the patron and will admit of the office being maintained at a great deal less expense. Now those who have private business can get their mail at any time after the store is open and they will be a great convenience to many patrons of the office.

PERSONAL.
Miss Tracy Will visit to Andrew the last of the week.

J. H. Cook made a trip to Crawford the first of the week.

Mrs. E. G. Hough returned from Chadron this morning in quite a feeble condition.

Mrs. H. A. Cunningham returned Friday from a visit to Morden and Butte.

Mrs. W. E. Wright went to Winfield Monday evening.

John L. Kay returned Monday from Idaho where he had spent the summer.

A. McGinley and Clint Ames came up from the south on Tuesday.

Henry Wertz returned yesterday from a protracted visit to the east.

George Walker came down from Casper last evening to attend court.

E. G. Deuel was down from Pleasant Ridge the first of the week.

D. Nelson was up from Glen on Saturday and called at this office.

Dr. Shafer came up from Knahville on Monday and will remain for a few days looking after his business interests.

H. B. Cowdery arrived yesterday to examine the condition of the banks of Harrison, and called last evening to see us.

John Peterson was over from the north part of the county yesterday and made a short call at this office.

A. G. Fisher, Judge Crites and D. H. Jencks, of Chadron and Chambers Keller, of Hot Springs, are out of town attorneys attending court.

E. Colshaw was over from Indian creek and remembered the printer with a couple of sacks of very fine potatoes. All such things are fully appreciated.

District court convened yesterday Judge Bartow on the bench. A report of the proceedings will be published next week.

A lively tilt has been going on in the papers between Bank Wrecker Mosher and "Pilate" Rosewater. The former seems to know what kind of a man the latter is and as they used to work together he tells things which certainly cannot be very pleasant for Rosewater to have made public.

Wise Mr. Verity warns people not to believe what THE JOURNAL says this week. He knows that he would fill his columns with the records and acts of those whom he opposes if he had the same chance that we have. The "little fool" who runs THE JOURNAL will not warn people as to what Mr. Verity will say in his last issue before election, for they know the methods of him and his ring.

Ringmaster Verity in the last issue of his paper warns the people not to believe the statements which appear in this issue of THE JOURNAL, as they are lies. He is a very wise man. So wise that should he send a copy of his paper to the last known postoffice address of Solomon, that worthy would, no doubt, turn over in his grave and groan with grief to think that the Ringmaster of the perpetual office-seeker's advocate should so far excel him in wisdom. The real fact is that Mr. Verity is aware of the records that are in existence and of the disreputable tactics that have been resorted to by his outfit within the past few weeks and he knows that some of their tricks have come to light and he also knows that some people have records which will not bear very close investigation and he thinks to avoid the results by telling his readers not to believe what THE JOURNAL says. This is the fifth campaign in Sioux county that this paper has gone through under the same management and the people know about how much to depend on what it says, regardless of the instructions of Ringmaster Verity.

What Peanuts are Good For.

The magnitude and universality of the home-consumption of peanuts are something startling. There are few towns too small to support at least one vendor, while in the cities the picturesque stalls and roasters are a feature of the business streets.

The peanut has a great commercial importance aside from its roasted state. The seeds contain from forty-two to fifty per cent. of oil, which is easily obtained by cold or warm expression.

The first method yields a superior oil, which none but an expert can detect from the pure olive-oil, and it may be used for the same purposes, both on the table and in pharmacy. In the latter method the beans are but slightly heated before being submitted to pressure, and the yield is much greater; but the color is much darker and the odor more pronounced and less agreeable. This second quality of Arachis oil, as it is known, is used for fine soaps, cerates, and ointments. Petroleum use it as the basis of their cold creams and pomades; and it is also used for lubricating watches and delicate machinery.

The west coast of Africa produces an almost insatiable crop to supply the European demand. Marcellus alone imports in one year over ten million bushels for use in the manufacture of chocolate, while billions of bushels are yearly carried to London, Hamburg, Berlin, and other places, for oil. Very large quantities are grown in India, for house use. Brazil, which is the true botanical home of the plant, does little more than supply her home market.

BAD LANDS, Oct. 28, 1893.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—I ask for a limited space in your columns that it may be the means of showing to the people to what straits the court house ring is driven in their extremity. It did not require any supernatural vision at the independent convention on the 14th of October to see that the delegations from several precincts had been fixed for the ring. It showed plainly that Lindeman held the Montrose delegation in the hollow of his hand and it was but natural to suppose that after the many promises to Cottonwood, and her delegation being sold for him, that he would make some attempt to turn the votes he controlled to Cottonwood's interest and thus unite the two strongest precincts in the county.

His egotism got the better of his judgment and he came to the conclusion that his popularity would carry him through and the balance of the ring with him, and he concluded that he could sacrifice Cottonwood and her interests and still carry the county. Time will tell whether this political trickster was right in his superior wisdom or not and recent developments indicate that they are in a sad plight. They have got down on their "marrow bones", earnestly beseeching in piteous tones for help from Cottonwood or they perish. Peace to their to their ashes. After they got down and wallowed in the mire of humiliation it seemed to arouse their waning courage and they turned loose the party whip and threatened a certain party with dire vengeance next fall. Their threats have about as much effect as pouring water on a duck's back. "He must insist to fix things up on Cottonwood" or their dire results will follow. I beg to inform the trickster who makes such threats that we know him. We supported him once for office with all the vim and energy in our power. The next fall he had it in his power to return the compliment and he sold us out, root and branch, and we don't fear his threats and the party lash has no terrors, and further that the lambs of Cottonwood will not be led to the slaughter on the 7th of November in behalf of the court house ring, and furthermore there is no power on earth that can change the vote here. The only hope they can have is to seek divine aid and I fear that if they try that the good Lord will say "depart ye accursed into everlasting punishment prepared for the devil and his angels."

Next fall is a long way off and we will trust to the future to take care of itself without any threats or promises. "Now is the accepted time, now is the day of salvation."

The members of the ring may deny the above charges. Should they do so and demand proof, I will meet them at O'Connell & Jordan's store at Akela and hurt the lie in their teeth and produce the proof on any day they may name.

AN INDEPENDENT.

A Plain Statement.
GLEN, Oct. 28, 1893.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—Will you kindly allow me space in your columns for a few words in regard to the coming election. I notice in the Independent that Mr. Verity continually refers to the old outfit running the county in debt some $8,000 as an argument in favor of the present incumbents. Now it ill becomes Mr. Verity to use such matters as campaign talk for he was a member of that same outfit at the time those debts were contracted, and if it had not been for the then county commissioners Mr. Verity might have been ousted from his office in disgrace, which fact is, I believe, of record and he cannot deny. I say again it ill becomes him to kick those who at one time favored him.

Now I do not intend to defend those (myself being one of them) who contracted those debts because they need no defense, as any intelligent man (Mr. Verity not excepted) knows the reason of those debts at that time, and I will say right here without fear of contradiction, that if the present county officers had been in office at that time they would have been in the same fix, unless they had gone down in their pockets and paid for about $6,000 worth of records, supplies, etc. the first year when there was no tax levied and not a dollar in the county treasury. Mr. Verity knows that fact as well as I do but it won't do for him to say so now for fear of losing his bread and butter but I should not think it would taste very good when obtained by such disreputable means. I do not intend to enter into a discussion of that county debt business for I care not a whit who believes the old officers guilty of dishonestly administering the county affairs, for there are those who could not be convinced by sledgehammer argument that it was only a campaign lie four years ago in order to get the present incumbents in office. I have no need to sling mud at any body, but will say that a change in county officers now and then is very beneficial to the county and in saying so I only echo their cry of four years ago.

Yours Truly,
DANIEL KLEIN.

Godey's magazine for November, is in the opinion of the publishers, the most attractive of any in the new series of this old-time favorite. It is rich in contents, and illustrations. The complete novel is from the gifted pen of Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, and is called The Flowers of Godey Water. It is profusely illustrated by Theodor Hempel, and the story itself is in Mrs. Barr's most interesting vein. This number also contains illustrated articles on A Holiday in Spain, by Floyd B. Wilson, and A Pretty Mocking of the Life, by Eola Withers. New England's Children is the Thanksgiving story by George I. Putnam, and there are sketches by J. M. Levereque and Oliver Bell Bunce. All the departments, including Godey's famous fashions, are excellent. The poems are by W. J. Henderson, Clark W. Bryan, Daniel Doane Bidwell, Sara King Wiley and others. Mrs. Arthur Rotch of Boston and Miss Bertha Luddington Barnes of Chicago.

Literary Note For October.

Marion Crawford opens up a new line of thought in his article entitled "Rome, the Capital of a New Republic," appearing in the October Cosmopolitan. It is not likely that the October number will have the success which attended that for September. The extraordinary spectacle was presented of a 12 cent magazine selling for 50 and 75 cents, and many hundreds were even sold at $1.00 each. Probably the record remains without a parallel, in periodical sales, of a number proving so interesting that, after 211,000 copies had been sold, the News Company had orders for 50,000 more than they could supply, while dealers in various parts of the country, discovering the esteem in which the magazine was held, immediately raised their prices to double, treble, quadruple and in many cases to eight times the regular price. The publishers do not yet know what their real circulation is, owing to the limited capacity of their presses; but machinery is being put in place which will supply an edition for December exceeding 300,000 and during that month it will be possible to determine how many Cosmopolitans the public will buy.
