No man should be nominated for either branch of the legislature who will not work for irrigation and the revision of the assessment laws.

A. E. Sheldon, of the Chadron Signal, kicked about Bill Greene as a candidate for congress on the pop ticket because he has a weakness for nose-paint. What will Bro. Sheldon do about Whisky V. Allen? The latter not only votes against the interests of the state but gets full of fire-water and disgraces himself and his state.

Said a prominent pop politician of Valley county who passed through Columbus the other day: "No we have not had any rain to speak of in Valley county to this season; the oat and wheat crops are ruined already, and the corn is now in danger. But there is a consolation. Poor crops strengthen our party, and Valley county will go overwhelmingly populist this fall!" There spoke a pop patriot.—Columbus Telegram.

A number of working republicans were in town on Saturday and the general sentiment was that the party must put up men whose record will not have to be defended in the campaign. It will mean certain defeat if the party is loaded up with a lot of men as candidates whose record will not bear inspection. If clean, honest men cannot be found within the ranks who can be made the standard bearers of the party it is high time for it to get out of business.

The first issue of the Nebraska Editor came to our table a few days ago. It is published at Beaver City, Neb., and is conducted by Walt Mason and F. W. Merwin. It is devoted to the interests of the newspaper fraternity of this state and if the initial number is a fair sample of what it is to be for a steady thing it should be received at every newspaper office in the state. The price is fifty cents a year and it is hoped that some of our delinquent subscribers will call and contribute that amount that we may be able to secure the magazine regularly.

Prendergast, the murderer of Carter Harrison had his worthless neck legally broken at Chicago last Friday as punishment for the horrible crime of which he was guilty. It is about time that the courts took the position that when a crank knows enough to select a high official for a victim and goes to his house and shoots him down that he is sane enough to be punished for the act. The insanity dodge is being worked to such an extent that it will cause Judge Lynch to begin to hold more frequent sessions.

If any one for a moment doubts the advancement of irrigation in northwest Nebraska he has but to keep his ears and eyes open and read the local papers. Hardly a paper can be picked up which is published in the western half of the state but what contains reports of the advancement of some canal or ditch and advice to others to get water on their land if possible. No effort should be spared to have men selected as candidates for office in the coming campaign who will work earnestly and intelligently to advance the irrigation projects and thus develop the resources of the western part of the state.

Bryan's little scheme to have the democrats nominate him and then have the pops endorse him does not seem likely to pan out just as he would like to have it. The administration democrats seem to have it in their power to block the little game of the man who came from Washington for the purpose of setting the prairies on fire with his oratory, and it is not at all likely that they will hesitate to use that power, for Mr. Bryan has been playing to both the democrats and pops about as long as he can. Both parties are onto him and he will fall in his attempt to ride two horses in the campaign of 1894.

The great strike is at an end. Debs has failed in his attempt to have himself crowned as king of the trades unions; millions of dollars worth of property has been destroyed; a number of lives lost; trains have been wrecked; railroad tracks torn up; and the business of the nation brought to a standstill to satisfy Debs' ambition and all that has been gained is that there is likelihood of Debs and some of the corporation managers having to stand trial for violation of the laws against conspiracy. Labor has not gained a single point, nor can it expect to until it ceases to attempt to get what it demands by resorting to fire and pillage.

The reports from Washington state that on Tuesday of last week Senator Allen got on a tender and after filling up on firewater went on the warpath and pummeled a bartender and attacked a committee clerk and wanted to whip three senators all at a time. After an absence of some days the senator appeared in his seat and arose to a question of personal privilege and entered a general denial. Notwithstanding his denial Senator Allen is in disgrace and the entire state which he was sent to represent is disgraced by him. It would be in order for Allen to resign and retire to the solitudes of some jag-cave and there remain until he knows for a certainty that he will never get full again, even if he has to stay there for the remainder of his life.

A Kansas man has left the populist party for the reason, as he expresses it, that it "is run by lawyers without clients, by doctors without patients, by preachers without pulpits, by women without husbands, by farmers without farms, by financiers without finance, by statesmen without a job."

Since the labor troubles began at Pullman, frequent demands are seen in print for "compulsory arbitration laws." It cannot be that those who are making such demands realize what it means. A law which would provide for the settlement of differences between employers and employees and compel the acceptance of the decision would make veritable slaves of every working man. Such a law would take from them the right to quit work when they became dissatisfied with wages or treatment accorded them. No sensible person and certainly no true friend of the laboring classes want to see such a state of affairs.

When Did he Move?

The following from Kansas would indicate that Senator H. G. Stewart had deserted Sioux county and taken up his abode in the "sunflower state":

A respected citizen had departed this life. The remains had been solemnly deposited before the pulpit. The relatives, friends and neighbors had gathered within the church. After a brief prayer delivered in a trembling and broken voice, the preacher announced that he was unable to proceed with the funeral discourse on account of his warm friendship for the dead man, and called for volunteer remarks from any friend of the departed who might desire to speak. A stillness like the stillness of death permeated every nook and cranny of the building. The silence had become extremely painful, when at the rear of the room a long-whiskered individual arose and said: "Since no one seems to care to say anything about the late lamented, I will occupy a little of your time by saying a few words about the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 and the crime of 1873." It is needless to say that that remark brought preacher and congregation to themselves, the benediction was immediately pronounced and the funeral ceremonies proceeded with.

Dollar in the Wallet.

The stars they shine serenely and with greater luminosity when a fellow isn't struggling with his impennosity. The lofty sky is bluer and the meadow grass is greener, and the ills of life are fewer, and our life itself serene, and we feel a glorious courage and the fates cannot appall it when we feel the solid backing of a dollar in our wallet.

Oh, the quiet air of twilight is more brightly luminiferous, and the incense from the flowers is more sweet and odoriferous; and the zephyrs blow more sweetly, and our food is more nutritious, and we're conscious more completely that our breakfast is delicious; and we feel that life's no fizzle as the pessimists miscall it, when we have the satisfaction of a dollar in our wallet.

All our woes are less appalling and our joys are less ambiguous and all life's happy meadows are so lush-like and irriguous; for a glass of pure cold phospha tastes as sweet as balm of Gilead, and brown bread is like ambrosia Homer tells of in the Iliad; and we feel that life's a poem maugre what the cynics call it, and we feel supremely blessed with a dollar in our wallet.

What is Beauty? "Question of a Blind Man."

Replied Aristotle. But Mrs. Sherwood says that it is "dynamite" in her article which opens the interesting pages of the July Cosmopolitan. Beauty is always a fascinating subject, and Mrs. Sherwood's discussion is an especially interesting one. That the July Cosmopolitan is a midsummer number is shown in many directions. Three short stories, including one of sport and adventure, two travel articles, and other light matter, make up 128 pages of charming summer reading.

The July Cosmopolitan marks the close of the first year since the revolutionary announcement was made that the price of that magazine, already low, had been cut to one-half of three dollars a year. All sorts of predictions have come to be unfulfilled during the year—it would be impossible to maintain the rate—the quality would be lowered—the size would be decreased. But even severe critics admit with each succeeding number there has been a betterment in the quality of articles and illustrations, and the size has remained unchanged, except the always growing advertising pages. The magazine printed, for the six months embraced in Vol. ix, one million four hundred and nine thousand copies, an entirely unapproached record, and has doubled its already large plant of presses and binding machinery. The walls of the magazine's new home are rapidly rising at Irvington-on-the-Hudson. Artistically designed by McKim, Mead & White, the new building, with its eight great porticos, will be 279 feet long by 76 feet wide, and one of the most perfectly lighted buildings in the world, having 100 large windows, each nearly double the size of the ordinary window opening.

Sioux County,

THE LAND OF THE HOME-STEADER.

Free Homes for More Than 5,000 Men.

A new county with schools, churches, railroads, etc.,

AND 800,000 ACRES YET OPEN TO HOMESTEAD ENTRY.

Contains over forty-five miles of railroad and has no county bonds.

NO BONDS, NO DEBTS, LOW TAXES.

Fuel, Posts, Logs and Lumber Cheaper Than at any Other Place in Nebraska.

Sioux county is the northwest county of Nebraska. It is about thirty miles east and west by about seventy miles north and south and contains OVER 1,300,000 ACRES of land. There are more bright, sparkling, small streams in the county than can be found in the same area elsewhere in the state. It has more pine timber in it than all the rest of the state combined. Its grasses are the richest and most nutritious known so that for stock-growing it is unequalled.

The soil varies from a heavy clay to a light sandy loam and is capable of producing excellent crops.

The principal crops are small grain and vegetables, although good corn is grown in the valleys. The wheat, oats, rye and barley are all of unusually fine quality and command the highest market prices.

The water is pure and refreshing and is found in abundance in all parts of the county.

The county is practically out of debt and has over forty-five miles of railroad within its borders, has a good brick court house and the necessary fixtures for running the county and there has never been one dollar of county bonds issued and hence taxes will be low.

The Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley railroad crosses Sioux county from east to west and the B. & M. has about fifteen miles of its line in the northeast part of the county.

The climate is more pleasant than that of the eastern portion of Nebraska.

There is still

of land in Sioux county yet open to homestead entry. It is better land and more desirably located than that for which such rushes are made on the opening of a reservation. There is no railroad land in the county and for that reason its settlement has been slow for no special effort to get settlers was made, as was done in the early days of the settlement of the eastern part of the state.

Good deeded land can be purchased at reasonable rates with government land adjoining so that a person who wants more than one quarter section can obtain it if he has a little means.

There are about 2,500 people in the county and there is room for thousands more.

Harrison is the county seat and is situated on the F. E. & M. V. railroad, and is as good a town as the thinly settled country demands.

School houses and churches are provided in almost every settlement and are kept up with the times.

All who desire to get a homestead or buy land cheap are invited to come and see the country for themselves and judge of its merits. Homesteads will not be obtainable much longer and if you want to use your right and get 160 acres of land from Uncle Sam free it is time you were about it.

Going to Buy a Watch?

If so, buy one that cannot be stolen. The only thief-proof Watches are those with Non-pull-out POWS. Here's the idea: The bow has a groove on each end. A collar runs down inside the pendant (stem) and fits into the groove, firmly locking the bow to the pendant, so that it cannot be pulled or twisted off.

To be sure of getting a Non-pull-out, see that the case is stamped with this trade mark. It cannot be had with any other kind. Send a postal for a watch case opener to the famous Best Filled Case makers.
