Seven Goin' on Eight.

With this issue THE JOURNAL begins its eighth year, having completed its seventh volume with the issue of last week. During its existance it has advocated what it believed to be right and for the best interests of the town and county and it proposes to continue in the same course in the the future. As it has been under the present manage ment for more than six years the people know pretty near what to expect. It has made mistakes in the past, but it has never advocated anything that it knew to be wrong nor has it upheld any person whom it did not believe to be entitled to the confidence of the people. It has no apologies to make for its course in the past and no special promises to make for the future. Sometimes its path has been pleasant and prosperous and at other times its way has been rocky and tempestuous and its future looked dark and oncertain, but that is true of every business enterprise. THE JOURNAL thanks its patrons for support given in the past and hopes to merit and receive a continuance thereof.

Four candidates have been named for the supreme bench but the winner will be named on October 2d.

The action of the pops in nominating a man who was known to adhere to the principles of the republican party for the supreme bench is construed to mean that there is not enough left of the foundation of the pop party to amount to anything.

It is reported that the supreme court has made up its decision in the Omaha fire and police commission case and that the new law is held to be good. The down it will represent the views of the entire court. That means a black eye for Holwater-Rosecomb.

Although some of the decisions of Judge Kinkaid have not met with the approval of parties living in his district. The best exhibit, vet the greater part of them have, and he is in high favor with the supreme court of the state. The Judge is now serving his third term, so the people of his district must have confidence in his integrity as a judge.-Boyd County

The administration or straight democrats held their convention at Lincoln on last Friday. When Euclid Martin called the convention to order 631 delegates greeted him. The interest and enthusiasm demonstrated that the strength of the party had not gone after Bryan. T. J. Mahoney was nominated for supreme judge, and W. H. Ashby and James B. Ames for regents. An evening session was held and was addressed by Congressman Harter of Onio.

In the first of the international yacht races at New york the American boat, Defender, defeated the English boat, Valkyrie III. For the first hour the English vessel led the race and her people hoped for victory but Yankee skill isum and bronze which overhauled and passed her opponent and won the race by several minutes. The race was witnessed by more than twenty thousand

A few days ago the state board of public lands and buildings opened bids or the convict labor as provided for by the last legislature and the contract was awarded to ex-Warden Beemer. A few Becmer went to the penitentiary but Warden Lesdigh refused to admit him. It mems to have been arranged between he governor and the warden that they nist the putting into effect of patract between the state board ad Mr. Beemer. There may be an init looks se if Governor Holcomb s trying to see just how much troucan make between the various makes of the state government. The of the penitentary claims that street with Becaser is not authorized. As the action of the state has been hitterly opposed by star if is easy to see why the govern waster. The Holwater-Rossound

Largest Circulation in Nebraska. It isn't much wonder that the State Journal now has the largest circulation in Nebraska. It has reduced its price to 65 cents a month with Sunday, or 50 ceuts without Sunday; it has been spending more money for Nebraska than any other paper; it has on its staff such men as Bixby, Walt Mason and Annin The Journal is being pushed at every point and is climbing steadily and surely awky ahead of the other state dailies People like a Lincoln paper. Especially when it is as good as the Journal.
