Jim Smiley came in on 41 Sunday evening from Omaha, having delivered a prisoner to the U. S. marshal there, whom he brought down from Sioux county.—Seward Blade.

It would be of interest to the people of Sioux county to know who the prisoner was as Jim started alone from here Saturday night and as a private citizen.

Before going on a sea voyage or into the country, be sure and put a box of Ayer's Pills in your valise. You may have occasion to thank us for this hint. To relieve constipation, biliousness and nausea, Ayer's Pills are the best in the world. They are also easy to take.

The prices of products are so low that in the parts of the state where good crops were raised the profits to the grower will be small and but little can be applied on debts. There is plenty for the people to eat and to feed the stock in most parts of the state but the localities where times are good are not numerous.

W. B. Marsteller returned from his eastern visit on last Saturday and as predicted by THE JOURNAL he did not come alone. His mother accompanied him to make a visit to Postmaster Marsteller and family, but that was not all. He was accompanied by his bride, having been married in the early part of July. His many friends here welcomed him and his wife to the little social circle of the town and extend best wishes to them for a long and smooth voyage across the sea of married life.

Several times of late THE JOURNAL has received items of news by mail from different parts of the county, sent by persons not regular correspondents of the paper. They have been matters of interest and the information was gladly received and it is hoped that all will feel free to send us such news. Do not hesitate for fear you may not word it just right, but send in the facts, the rest will be attended to. But one thing must not be omitted and that is the signature of the writer that the publisher may know from whom it comes, although the name of the writer need not be published in connection with news items.

The B. & M. railroad made a rate of $5.50 from Crawford and other points on its line to Omaha and return, including one admission to the state fair grounds. The rate went into effect on Tuesday and the tickets are good returning only until Saturday. A number of Harrison people took advantage of the opportunity, going to Crawford to take the B. & M. Among those who went down Monday night was J. W. Scott and when he saw the manner in which the cars were crowded he concluded that he did not care to go and returned home. The Elkhorn could not make the same rate because the roads are required to give notice of such reduction and there was not time after the B. & M. had announced its cut. It was a pretty smooth move on the part of the passenger department of the latter and its trains carried multitudes to Omaha and thereby demonstrated what a low fare will do even in hard times. It is hoped that the management of this line will see that its rate is as low as the lowest next year.

After a long dry spell some light showers have fallen here, but not near enough water has fallen to lay the dust. The only good rain can do now is to settle the dust unless enough falls to put the ground in condition for plowing.

A letter from White River informs us that Mr. Pullen had the misfortune on last Saturday to lose his stable, straw, millet and grain stacks, two sets of harness, a wagon and other stuff by fire. The loss is estimated at $200, with no insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

One advantage of taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla to purify the blood is that you need not infringe upon your hours of labor nor deny yourself any food that agrees with you. In a word, you are not compelled to starve or loaf, while taking it. These are recommendations worth considering.

Marshal Smith complains because THE JOURNAL took occasion to call attention to the fact that acts were allowed to go unpunished which come under the duties of the marshal to look after and takes the position that he is not expected to be here all the time. In that he most certainly is mistaken. If drunken men are allowed to commit a nuisance on the principal corner of the street and men be allowed to get up dog fights on the main street on Sunday and no marshal be in town to put a stop to it there certainly must be something wrong. In all the places where a marshal is employed he is there all the time unless some person is appointed to perform his duties during his absence.

Sheriff Dew returned this morning from Omaha. He left before the great mass of humanity attracted by the cheap railroad rates had reached there, but even then the transportation facilities from the city to the fair grounds were overtaxed, it having taken him two hours and a half to make the trip Tuesday morning and he had to get off the car and walk up a hill at that. The exhibit from this county he said was in good shape but the amount was small compared to that from some counties. The arrangement and trimming of some of the exhibits cost hundreds of dollars, but the products from this county were all right.

Report on Jerusalem Corn.

BEATRICE, Neb., Aug. 24.—To the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.: Sir—I submit the following report of some experiments made by me with the "Jerusalem corn" which I received from your department in the spring of 1893:

I planted twelve rows of Jerusalem corn on the 1st of June, 1895. The rows were 108 feet long and three feet apart, and the space between the stalks of corn in the rows was three inches. The ground had been worked the year before, but had not produced anything, and I did not manure it. The corn was up ten days after planting and I weeded it twice and cultivated it three times during the season, with a hoe. On the 20th of August the stalks stood five and six feet high and the heads were well matured. I cut them off with a knife on that date. The yield was twelve bushels of large sized heads, weighing 500 pounds. The grain is white and flat, and not quite the size of pop corn, while the stalk bears a general resemblance to sorghum. I had planted in the same field with the Jerusalem corn patches of field, pop, and sweet corn, which grew and flourished up to the 20th of July, when they all curled and died and did not produce anything, while the Jerusalem corn was green and growing finely, notwithstanding the lack of moisture and the hot winds. Patches of Kafir corn, planted not very far from where the Jerusalem corn stood, curled up, died and never headed. A forty-acre tract of field corn a half block away shared a fate similar to that of the Kafir corn. The prevailing conditions in this part of Gage county during the season of 1895 could not have been much worse for growing corn, and yet, in the face of it all, the Jerusalem corn came out ahead.

I have experimented with this corn for the last three seasons, and my experience is that the Jerusalem corn will produce a good crop when all other corn would prove a failure, and is the corn for states where crops are uncertain on account of insufficient moisture to mature them, or where the season is a short one. Respectfully yours, A. M. WINKRENER.

GERLACH SLAUGHTER OF THE INNOCENTS.

In the daily performance of his great, original tragedy in real life the principal parts are taken by Mr. Gerlach and representatives of eastern wholesale houses, from whom the former purchases his goods. In this act he displays great power in the forcing down prices, and extraordinary ability in the selection of goods to suit his customers. But it is in the second act that he most truly shines and at the points where with a flourish his prices are CUT IN TWO his classic countenance bears a look that is almost heavenly. Performances every day from 5 a. m. to 10 p. m. Special low prices on all goods 5 days in the week. Admission free. Don't forget the place. RANCH SUPPLY HOUSE.
