THURSDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1893.

The managers of the pop state campaign are using every means in their power to keep up a show of confidence. They stop not at falsehood and misrepresentation, but it will avail them naught. Next Tuesday the people will repudiate them and their candidates.

The reports from all over the judicial district are to the effect that Bartow and Kinkaid will receive a much larger vote than was anticipated by their friends in the early part of the campaign. People are looking up the work they have done and the records of those who are opposing them and as a result the endorsement of the present judges at the polls will be a grand one.

In deciding for whom you will cast a ballot for district judge, we want you to note these queries: Did you ever happen to be in court when Judge Kinkaid or Bartow were sitting on the bench? If so did you notice that each of these gentlemen expedite business by every possible means to accomplish the ends of justice and save the taxpayers the cost of long expensive terms? If you have not, the rank and file of the county will verify these statements. Elect men to the bench you are sure will preserve its dignity and not squander the people's money.—Alliance Times.

On last Thursday morning death claimed Charles H. Van Wyck in the city of Washington. He was past seventy one years old and his death resulted from a stroke of paralysis, that being the second attack of the disease. No name is more familiar to the people of Nebraska than that of Van Wyck and he had a great many friends all over the United States. He was for many years a prominent factor in the politics of the state, the last act being his race for governor on the populist ticket. He was a man of very large wealth, having come to Nebraska in an early day and obtained large tracts of real estate which grew valuable as the state developed. He was a man of strong personality and a good fighter in legislative work, having few equals as a debator. The close of his active life will be sincerely regretted by all.

This issue of THE JOURNAL contains a supplement in addition to the regular issue. Our readers are invited to carefully read what it says and weigh its meaning. A short time ago the populist state political managers got up a supplement and sent it to all the papers of the party in the state. It was an attempt to mislead the people in regard to the actions of Norval and Maxwell. It came to the notice of H. T. Conley, formerly county attorney of Sioux county, and a strong populist. He investigated the matter and found that the campaign document was not according to the record. He thereupon wrote a reply, or rather a refutation of the contents of the campaign sheet referred to and his letter was published by Chas. E. Verity in the Pawnee City Independent, a populist paper, and the publisher said editorially that the document sent out by the populists would prove a boomerang to Maxwell and lose him thousands of votes and ought to teach the pop managers a lesson. It will be noticed that the clerk of the supreme court has a statement of the records of his office. It pays to be honest in politics and the dishonesty of Maxwell and his managers will result in their own discomfort. A vote for Norval is a vote for honesty.

A Sound Polley.

The following excerpt from a speech by Senator Thurston, shows just where he stands and his platform is sound: "What this country needs, my fellow citizens, is the free coinage of American mintage; the increased circulation of American wages, and our supposed monetary difficulties will have disappeared and be forgotten when the protective legislation of William McKinley and the reciprocity of James G. Blaine come back to stay. So far as I am individually concerned I shall work and vote for all legislation designed to provide for the coinage of American silver and the maintenance of the equal purchasing and debt paying power of every dollar coined; but I will never consent that American labor shall be compelled to accept its wages or to receive payment for its products in discredited currency or depreciated coin. I will never consent that American mintage and American credit shall be freely extended to the silver bullion of any other country until we have first demonstrated our ability to take care of our own. I will never consent that the Mexican dollar shall become our standard of value or be permitted to have a greater purchasing power in this country than it has in its own."

Smart Millinery.

It is difficult to say in what lies the special eccentricity of the season, but comparison of many models seems to show that crowns are odder and more varied in shape than ever before. Many large, soft crowns are seen, which are plucked and pulled into any form that chance may suggest; then there are pointed, round, cup-shaped, and small, flaring-topped crowns, and every period of the last century seems to have contributed something to the variety.

All materials are used in every possible association. Round hats of chenille or felt-and-satin braid come in every color to match suits, and are very handsome; they are of many shapes to suit every face, and trimmed with velvet and the rich Persian ribbons which blend charmingly with green, blue, or brown, and give the needed note of color with black. Evening and dress bonnets are a glittering mass of spangles, bullion embroidery, and jewels, and the broad effects of the Dutch bonnet still prevail, produced however, in many eccentric ways.—From "Hats for All Occasions," in Demorest's Magazine for November.

Sioux County, THE LAND OF THE HOME-STEADER. Free Homes for More Than 5,000 Men. A new county with schools, churches, railroads, etc., AND 800,000 ACRES YET OPEN TO HOMESTEAD ENTRY. Contains over forty-five miles of rail road and has no county bonds. Sioux county is the northwest county of Nebraska. It is about thirty miles east and west by about seventy miles north and south and contains OVER 1,300,000 ACRES of land. There are more bright, sparkling, small streams in the county than can be found in the same area elsewhere in the state. It has more pine timber in it than all the rest of the state combined. Its grasses are the richest and most nutritious known so that for stock-raising it is unequalled. The soil varies from a heavy clay to a light sandy loam and is capable of producing excellent crops. The principal crops are small grain and vegetables, although good corn is grown in the valleys. The wheat, oats, rye and barley are all of unusually fine quality and command the highest market prices. The water is pure and refreshing and is found in abundance in all parts of the county. The county is practically out of debt and has over forty-five miles of railroad within its borders, has a good brick court house and the necessary fixtures for running the county and there has never been one dollar of county bonds issued and hence taxes will be low. The Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley railroad crosses Sioux county from east to west and the B. & M. has about fifteen miles of its line in the northeast part of the county. The climate is more pleasant than that of the eastern portion of Nebraska. There is still OVER 800,000 ACRES of land in Sioux county yet open to homestead entry. It is better land and more desirably located than that for which such rushes are made on the opening of a reservation. There is no railroad land in the county and for that reason its settlement has been slow for no special effort to get settlers was made, as was done in the early days of the settlement of the eastern part of the state. Good deeded land can be purchased at reasonable rates with government land adjoining so that a person who wants more than one quarter section can obtain it if he has a little means. There are about 2,500 people in the county and there is room for thousands more. Harrison is the county seat and is situated on the F. E. & M. V. railroad, and is as good a town as the thinly settled country demands. School houses and churches are provided in almost every settlement and are kept up with the times. All who desire to get a homestead or buy land cheap are invited to come and see the country for themselves and judge of its merits. Homesteads will not be obtainable much longer and if you want to use your right and get 160 acres of land from Uncle Sam free it is time you were about it.
