The case against ex State Treasurer Hill to recover the state funds lost by the failure of Mosher's bank is soon to be tried a second time in the supreme court to a jury.

The indications are that the powers will teach the sultan of Turkey a lesson for the bad faith he has shown in regard to promises made in regard to creditors in Armenia. It has been a long time coming but he will probably get about what he deserves when they do go after him.

It is a little tough when a fellow works the gray matter under the roots of his hair and produces an article which the exchange editor of a great paper like the Lincoln Journal considers worth copying to have it credited to the Danes county Journal or the Sioux City Journal. If a country paper made such mistakes the big paper would raise a terrible roar.

The Rushville Standard, populist, has found a successor to Bryan in W. H. Westover of Rushville, who has just been elected district judge. It says "Mr. Bryan is sinking into obscurity while Mr. Westover is just stepping upon the stage to become more fully in public view." This is the unkindest cut to date. To supplant Bryan with a man like Westover is to much. -Fremont Tribune.

The Rushville Standard tells its readers that the next presidential campaign will be between the republicans and the populists. Either Geo. Heath looks at things differently from other members of his party or else he is trying to mislead his patrons. Populist leaders all over the country admit that the party has got practically to the end of its career.

The election of a republican as governor of Kentucky is a significant result of the recent election. It knocks a hole in the solid south which is something that has been hoped for and striven for for many years. Considered in connection with the fact that a number of doubtful northern states have shown that they can safely be counted in the republican column it is admitted by all that the next president will be republican and both branches of congress will be controlled by that party.

Judge Sartow has commenced action in the supreme court to compel the canvassing board of Lawes county to canvass the votes as returned from the state election. He claims that he received enough more votes than the report of the board show to elect him. It is reported that there was some peculiar work done in one ward of Claiborne which may result in getting quite interesting for the election board. The result will be watched with interest, and if crooked work was resorted to it is hoped the guilty ones will be punished.

Among the fool laws on the statute books of Nebraska is the one providing for the examination of the books of the county treasurers of the state, or at least, the way it seems to be done is a farce. A man comes around about once in two years, checks up the books of the treasurer, comparing the totals only with the entries in the cash book and does the same with the other records of the office and away he goes. It is no protection to the taxpayers for it does not get into the details of the office. But it makes a place for some political hang-over. Otherwise it is perfectly useless and if the taxpayers did not have to foot the bills it would be perfectly harmless.
