Pointed Paragraphs.

What the Pedal Extremities Reveal to One Who Knows.

The person who had his character read by the palmist must now go to the first cousin of the chiropodist in order to learn whether the markings on the foot agree with the prognostications of the hand.

According to the adepts, a small in step denotes religious temperament, while, if it is high, it suggests self-consciousness. If arched, it indicates a love of luxury, while, if it is thin in addition, it not only demonstrates the desire for approbation and applause, but the possession of honor and lofty ideals. A thick, heavy instep, which the bootmaker would describe as rather high, is the mark of the individual who is capable of great exertion continued over a long time, the instep, in fact, of the worker.

The heel is another of the great diagnostic points. If it is smooth and round, and without any prominent outlines, it declares the individual to belong to that common place order, which never achieves any distinction, and who, though pleasant enough in his or her way to live with, is yet devoid of any special talent. If it is small it shows that the owner is capable of going heart and soul into any work which he undertakes.

Long toes suggest artistic capacity, just as do long fingers of a certain shape, while short toes indicate selfishness. If they are crooked as well as long, they demonstrate the possession of good common sense and no little business capacity, while toes separated by a distinct interval, in spite of the compression to which fashionable boots compel them, are indicative of emotion. If they curve downwards, they indicate an amiable turn of mind, and different portions of them denote different characteristics, as do the so-called "mountains" and "valleys" on the palm.

In addition to all these characteristics, the markings on the sole must be carefully considered, for they may modify certain other peculiarities. It is impossible, however, to lay down any laws for self-guidance in these minutiae, but the broad facts will no doubt furnish a sufficient stimulus for further investigation at the hands of the wise women of the world; for they must be indeed wise who can read, as in an open book, character which may be formed by the constrictions of a fashionable boot.

Whatever else may be done, however, it is safe to say that great toes which are pressed out of the straight line, and which are, therefore, in hideous contrast with the beautiful feet of Trilby, bespeak an egotistical vanity in their possessor, and proclaim a belief in the proverb, which states that "to be beautiful one must suffer." This, however, is the old-fashioned idea which it is hoped the vogue of Mr. Du Maurier's heroine will have done a good deal to counteract.

Shoestrings.

Shoestrings are made not only in enormous numbers, but also in very great variety. There are factories devoted solely to their production.

They are made principally of cotton, but also of calfskin, porpoise hide, silk and mohair. There is an elastic shoestring made of a combination of rubber and cotton and a tubular cotton lace that has a linen cord running through it. In shape shoestrings are made in a solid round braid, of cord twisted like rope, of flat braid and of tubular braid. These are all made in various sizes.

Flat braids of the kinds used for fine shoes are made in widths ranging from fourteen to twenty-four lines. In colors they are made to match all the various shades of leather used in shoes.

Most shoestrings are still made with the tips of the kind that are clamped on, but the use of the spiral wire is increasing. These are made in lengths ranging from three-quarters of a yard to two yards and a half. The longest laces are used for women's bicycle boots. Before the introduction of the bicycle the longest shoestrings in regular use were a yard and three-quarters long.

There is a shoestring a yard long that can be sold two pairs for a cent with a good profit; there are shoestrings sold at 5 cents a pair on which the profit is proportionately less. Shoestrings are sold at various prices up to 20 cents and 25 cents a pair, depending upon material, quality and length. A great many shoestrings are given away. Silk shoe laces are used mainly for low-cut shoes. There are half a dozen factories in this country producing nothing but porpoise hide shoestrings, used mainly for brogans.

Formerly many millions of the shoe strings annually consumed in this country were imported, chiefly from Germany. Pretty much all of the cheap shoestrings used here, which include rather more than half of the total consumption, were made here; of the better grades about half were imported. With the adoption of the recently enacted tariff laws in this country the importation of shoestrings has practically ceased.—New York Sun.

Insurance Against Want in Age.

The report of the Berlin office for the insurance of working people against want in illness or old age shows that the number of recipients of old-age annuities between 1891 and the end of 1894 was 1,350, and the total amount received by them was 52,962 marks. The annuities given on account of disability due to other causes than old age were 3,423, and the total expenditure on this account 433,812 marks.

Beware of Morphine.

Mrs. Pinkham Asks Women to Seek Relief Cures and Not More Temporary Relief From Pain.

Special forms of suffering lead many a woman to acquire the morphia habit. One of these forms of suffering is a dull, persistent pain in the side, accompanied by heat and throbbing. There is disinclination to work, because work only increases the pain.

This is only one symptom of a chain of troubles; she has others she cannot bear to confide to her physician, for fear of an examination, the terror of fall-sensitive, modest women.

The physician, meantime, knows her condition, but cannot combat her shrinking terror. He yields to her supplication for something to relieve the pain. He gives her a few morphia tablets, with very grave caution as to their use. Foolish woman! She thinks morphia will help her right along; she becomes its slave!

A wise and a generous physician had such a case; he told his patient he could do nothing for her, as she was too nervous to undergo an examination. In despair, she went to visit a friend. She said to her, "Don't give yourself up; just go to the nearest druggist and buy a bottle of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It will build you up. You will begin to feel better with the first bottle." She did so, and after the fifth bottle her health was re-established. Here is her own letter about it:

"I was very miserable; I was so weak that I could hardly get around the house, could not do any work without feeling tired out. My monthly periods had stopped and I was so tired and nervous all of the time. I was troubled very much with falling of the womb and bearing-down pains. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; I have taken five bottles, and think it is the best medicine I ever used. Now I can work, and feel like myself. I used to be troubled greatly with my head, but I have had no bad headaches or palpitation of the heart, womb trouble or bearing-down pains, since I commenced to take Mrs. Pinkham's medicine. I gladly recommend the Vegetable Compound to every suffering woman. The use of one bottle will prove what it can do."—MRS. LUCY PEASLEY, Derby Center, Vt.

Cold Commaime.

To prepare cold commaime, chop and pound a fowl and put it into a jar with three pounds of minced beef gray. Add to it a cleansed calf's foot, a carrot, an onion, six cloves, six pepper-corns, salt to taste, and pour on two quarts of cold water. Cook for four hours by standing the jar in boiling water. Strain, season and pour into small cups to cool.

Snow Cream.

Beat the whites of three eggs to a froth; add gradually three rounding tablespoonsful of powdered sugar. Beat until very stiff; flavor with one tablespoonful of sherry and half a teaspoonful of vanilla. Add gradually half a pint of whipped cream, measured before whipping. Stir in very carefully and serve immediately in glasses.

Old-Fashioned Johnny Cake.

One pint yellow corn meal; half cup of flour and one and a half teaspoonfuls baking powder; one egg; two tablespoonfuls of sugar; half a teaspoonful of salt, one cup of milk. Bake in a well-buttered square pan.

Kitchen Economy.

A stationary wire soap dish attached to the side of the scrubbing pall will prevent bits of soap wasting in the water.

Some heavy unbleached muslin should always be placed over the flour barrel, under the lid, to keep out dust and insects.

Soft soap, made from half a pound of hard soap and two quarts of boiling water, is more economical for laundry purposes than ordinary washing soap.

Chronic Rheumatism.

From the Industrial News, Jackson, Mich.

The subject of this sketch is fifty-six years of age, and acutely engaged in farming. When seventeen years old he hurt his shoulder, and a few years after commenced to have rheumatic pains in it. On taking a slight cold or the least strain, the trouble would start and he would suffer the most excruciating pains.

He suffered for over thirty years, and the last decade has suffered so much that he was unable to do any work. To this, frequent dizzy spells were added, making him almost a helpless invalid.

He tried the best physicians and used several specific rheumatism cures without being benefited. About one year and six months ago he read in this paper of a case somewhat similar to his which was cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and concluded to try this remedy.

After taking the first box he felt somewhat better, and after using three boxes the pains entirely disappeared, the dizziness left him, and he has now for over a year been entirely free from all his former trouble and enjoys better health than he has had since his boyhood.

He is loud in his praises of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and will gladly corroborate the above statements. His postoffice address is Lorenzo Nealey, Horton, Jackson County, Michigan.
