-The JOURNAL offers congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Brady, who arrived in Harrison Tuesday and who will make their future home out near Bodare, ten or twelve miles north of town.

-On last Monday morning about seven o'clock commenced one of the worst blizzards of the season, and continued until dusk, at which time snow ceased to fall but the wind continued to howl until next evening, however at no time during the storm did we have genuine cold winter weather.

-By an unseen explosive, the battle ship Maine was swept out of sight. So also by the use of printers ink, which is always ready at the JOURNAL office you can blow your business into a most enviable position and one wherein neither Dons nor 'Unions can compete. The man who uses printers ink in business uses money, which "add" causes to flow into his coffers, try it and you will believe the scribe of the JOURNAL force.

-Attorney Guthrie's familiar smile greeted the "boys" on last Tuesday. From observation, you would be at a loss to tell just how to answer if asked the question: Who was the most happy master Eddie, "the boys" or Grant? Well the JOURNAL scribe will vouch for the veracity of the statement, when he answers, Grant was the most delighted to be with his old friends. True too true friend Grant: there's no place like home, E'en humble though it be.

-The following are the assessors, who who were in attendance at the annual assessors meeting Tuesday.

Z. F. Antriss, Bodare precinct. W. J. A. Raum, Cottonwood " H. Pickenbrock, Montrose " A. L. Staudenmaier, Andrews " James Nolan, Warbonnet " Nels Engbret, Highland " James Cook, Running Water " Otto Tietze, Bowen " David Finley, White River " J. S. Dickinson, Snake creek "

-The funeral of Mr. Wilcox whose demise occurred on last Sunday night about midnight, of heart failure at his home in Warbonnet; took place at 1 o'clock from the M. E. church in Harrison, Rev J. E. Kendall officiating services were opened by singing "Nearer my God to be," and the reading from the 16th chapter of St. John, after which prayer was offered and the appropriate hymn was sung as sleep in Jesus. The text was the 26th and 26th verses of St. John. After the sermon was preached and the remains viewed by friends and relatives of the deceased, the members of the order, A. O. U. W. took charge and concluded the services at the grave. The pall bearers were B. F. Thomas of this place and Charles C. Jamieson, Fred Van Houten and Robt. C. Scott of Chadron, who represent the A. O. U. W. order, and E. E. Livermore and J. E. Bawdwin of this place, who represent the G. A. R. order. A large congregation were in attendance at the funeral. Mr. Wilcox was 64 years old.

-We understand Miss Anna Moravik intends to enter the employ of Mrs. Satterlee wife of the proprietor of the Blain hotel at Chadron.

-On last Friday Virgil Heister branded 144 head of yearling steers and heifers, which his father had disposed of the day previous, to Jacob Mills of Hat creek Wyo.

-We are glad to hear once more the sound of the hammer proceeding from the direction of H. A. Priddy's shop, after being on the rack of pain during a week, it must seem rather a relief to be able to work again.

-There will be Mass at the court house in Harrison on the 20 of March at ten o'clock sharp. As there is to be a special meeting held immediately after mass; all the members interested in the building issue should endeavor to attend.

-The P. F. stock company 60 miles south of Harrison had 300 head of young cattle shipped here from the eastern part of Iowa which arrived here Monday and were driven out to their ranch Tuesday. They were a fine lot of young stock, and as we learned cost the company $18.00 per head in Iowa, making them cost in the Harrison stock yard nearly twenty dollars.

-As this is Saint Patrick's natal day, and one dear to the hearts of all Irish wherever they may be, whether on the burning sands of Africa, or on our own sweet shores of freedom, it matters naught, for from the four winds of the earth, on this morning, risen the voice of that untold millions, who proudly call St. Patrick their patron saint. And while the Irish in a more special manner, claim him as their own; they should also remember, that not one drop of the Celtic blood courses in the veins of Patricia, as he was a Frenchman taken prisoner and carried a captive into the north of their own dear Erin; "beautiful side of the sea" "Oas to St. Patrick."

Columbia's champion saint, all hail! With fadless glory crowned, The offspring of your ardent zeal This day your praise shall sound.

-DIED-At the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Alexander near Ardmore S. D. February 26th 1898, Mrs. Jane Fosket aged 73 years and 4 months. Funeral services at the school house, conducted by Rev. Hill, the remains were laid to rest in the Collins Cemetery on Sabbath afternoon.

Out of the shadows of sadness, Into the sunshine of gladness, Into the light of the best; Out of a land very dreary, Out of the year's very weary, Into the capture of real.

-DIED-At his home, in Warbonnet precinct, Sunday night, March, 13th, 1898, about midnight, Mr. J. E. Wilcox, aged 64 years.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to thank all those friends who so kindly assisted me in my late hour of trial, during the death and burial of my beloved husband Mrs. J. E. WILCOX.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our friends for their many acts of kindness and sympathy during the sickness and death of our loved mother.

Mrs. & Miss J. C. ALEXANDER.

A Country Editor.

Mr. Clark, of Missouri, followed in a characteristic plea for the "country editor" in a speech against the bill.

"The great objection to this bill" he said, "is that it is detrimental to newspapers and diminishes the diffusion of information. Having once been a country editor myself, I am certain a most kindly feeling for my old confederates. I am willing to make affidavit that the eleven months I spent editing a rural journal were the most beneficial of my life to myself and perhaps to others. I am proud to have belonged to the editorial guild. I am unalterably opposed to anything that will injure the country editor, curtail his profits, circumscribe his usefulness, or place an additional thorn in his pathway. The rural editor-God bless him-is the most persistent of teachers. Like charity as described by St. Paul in the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians, he "suffereth long and is kind; he envieth not himself, is not puffed up; doth not behave himself unseemly; seeketh not his own; is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil; rejoiceth in truth; bareth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things."

"He is the backbone of every community, the promoter of every laudable enterprise, the worst underpaid laborer in the vineyard. Counting his snace as his capital, he gives more to charity, his means considered, than any other member of society. He is a power in politics, a pillar of the church, a leader in the crusade for better morals. He is pre-eminently the friend of humanity. Line upon line, paragraphs upon paragraphs day by day, he is embalming in cold type the facts from which the Herodotus, Tacitus, Simonds or Macaulay of the future will write the history of our times. He fully chronicles our advent into the world, briefly notes our uprising and our downittings and sorrowfully records our exit.
