More and better goods for the same money at Gerlach's store than any other place, try them.

Edwin Guthrie started Tuesday night on the return trip to Kearney Military Academy after spending his vacation with the home folks.

The sale of Durham bulls at the stock yards Saturday did not attract a very large crowd. The remaining bulls were all sold at a reasonable figure.

A. McGinley, of Sioux county, was in Crawford Saturday and purchased all but a few head of the cattle sold at the Grabbert Sale—Crawford Bulletin.

Mr. Henry Warneke started Thursday night for Denver where he will remain for a short time with his family. He has been looking after his ranch interests in this section.

H. and G. Lindeman returned Friday night to their respective homes in Crawford and Iowa. They visited for several days with the Gerlachs in this city.

A birthday party was given Monday night at the home of Miss Lucy Moravsek, in honor of her birthday. A house full of children enjoyed a delightful time.

James Anderson returned Monday from a visit to Chadron. While there he had a wen removed from his head by a surgical operation and returned feeling much improved.

Rev. R. E. Warren was agreeably surprised last Tuesday with a present of a fine willow rocker and a rug from a number of his Rushville friends.—Rushville Recorder.

The work on the Commercial Hotel is being rapidly pushed. The building is now almost enclosed and if present good weather continues will soon have it ready for occupation.

The Denver papers state that Spauld, the Denver stockman, appeared before the federal court at Cheyenne and asked for an extension of the 30 days given him to take down his fence on government land. He was reprimanded by the court and the time extended until Feb. 4th.

Clubbing Offers.

While you are thinking of subscribing or your yearly reading matter, remember that the PRESS-JOURNAL will take subscriptions to any paper on earth and save postage and time for you.

Hard Time Dance.

Friday night, January 11th, a "Hard Time Dance" will be given at Andrews Hall. Good music will be furnished and a prize will be given to the most appropriately dressed couple. All are invited. 27-4

At the next meeting of the Woodmen of the World which will be Saturday evening, Jan. 18, there will be a debate on a very "live" question. "Resolved, that the land leasing bill now before Congress should not pass." An interesting time is looked for and all members should be present.

Revival Services.

Rev. Youngman, assisted by Rev. Ray of Crawford, has been conducting revival services during the past week at the M. E. church. The meetings will continue through next week. All are cordially invited.

J. W. Owens, of Chadron, was in the city the first of the week in the interests of Chloro-Naphtholeum, which is a cattle dip for the prevention of Texas Itch and other diseases which cattle are sometimes subject to. He succeeded in establishing an agency with Marsteller Bros.

Special Meetings

Rev. Mr. Rice will begin a series of special meetings at the Bodarc Presbyterian church on next Sunday, Jan. 12. The Rev. H. P. U. Bogue, D. D. of Alliance will assist him in this work. A large attendance is desired.

Wm. Barnes, of Battle Creek, Neb., who has been assisting in the PRESS-JOURNAL office for several weeks, left Saturday night. He will work in Chadron for a short time before returning home. Mr. Barnes is a first class, all around workman, such as a country print shop requires and is thorough and conscientious in the execution of his duties.

John Diekmann returned yesterday from Chadron having finished giving his testimony at the Russell murder trial in Chadron. About a dozen of the witnesses for the state had given their testimony when he left and there still remains about fifteen more. No startling developments have come to light. It is thought that the case may occupy the whole week.

Miss Tupper and Kendrick and Prof. Myers returned Saturday in time to begin school work on Monday morning. Miss Tupper visited at her home in Pierce county and also attended the State Teachers Association. Miss Kendrick spent her vacation at her home near Mansfield. Prof. Myers attended the State Association of South Dakota and Nebraska and read a paper at the latter place. All report a pleasant and profitable vacation.

Rev. Father McNamara was given a pleasant surprise at his residence on King St. last Sunday evening it being the anniversary of his thirty-third birthday. Whist occupied the evening and an elegant dinner. The guests were prominent business men of the city and included—L. A. Coburn, D. McNeil, Max Loewenthal, W. A. Smith, Jas. Finnegan, J. Brogamer, C. H. Feldman, E. C. Harris, Ben Loewenthal, William Spencer, Jake Kass, Robert Hood and Chas. Morrissey.—Chadron Journal.

Petitions.

Petitions have been drawn up, by the PRESS-JOURNAL, to our representatives in congress that they use their influence and their vote in opposition to the proposed land-leasing bill spoken of in an editorial in this paper last week.

These petitions have been sent to all post offices in the county and can be found at Marsteller Bros. L. Gerlach's, County Clerk's office and at both newspaper offices in Harrison.

The right of petition is the small man's only resource in this matter as they are unable to support a lobby at the National capital as the capitalists are doing. It is urgent that these petitions be signed as soon as possible so that they can be sent to Washington, and it is to everyone's interest to sign them as soon as possible.

County Superintendent Burke received this week, a report from the State Superintendent. It was largely relative to the smaller schools of Nebraska. There are 4,771 school districts in Nebraska with pupils in attendance which number from 1 to 20. Supt. Fowler recommends that wherever practical the smaller districts be consolidated and if necessary transportation be furnished at the expense of the district. There are several school districts in Sioux county which our county superintendent thinks would do well to consider this plan. He expects to make such recommendations at sometime in the future.

Miss David, of Crawford, who will teach the school on Squaw Creek came up Saturday and took the Montrose stage to her destination.

REMARKABLE CURE OF CROUP.

I have a few words to say regarding Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It saved my little boy's life and I feel that I cannot praise it enough. I bought a bottle of it from A. E. Steere of Goodin, S. D., and when I got home with it the poor baby could hardly breathe. I gave the medicine as directed every ten minutes until he "threw up" and then I thought sure he was going to choke to death. We had to pull the phlegm out of his mouth in great long strings. I am positive that if I had not got that bottle of cough medicine, my boy would not be on earth today.—Joel Demont, Inwood, Iowa. For sale by J. E. Phinney.

RIPPERVILLE.

Mr. PRESS-JOURNAL, This is the first from Ripperville and will not bother you very much to get it into press for the items will not be very numerous.

Logging is all the rage in and around Ripperville.

The DeBock boys are hauling lumber to Montrose.

The Carroll boys, Mike and Martin, went to Bill Hoyts to buy cattle last Monday. Have not learned what success they had.

The Crawford boys had a small break down last Saturday that delayed the mill for a few days.

One more load of lumber completes the bill of native lumber for the Commercial hotel at Harrison.

Miss Lillie Zimmerman returned to Chadron Tuesday night.

More some other time.

Bodarc Geanings.

Old Sioux county is most variable in her temper. Two weeks ago we had extreme cold, blustering winds, the earth hidden under several inches of snow, while the last few days have been like spring. Even flies are buzzing merrily around on the windows.

Our old neighbor, Joe Kipp, came up from Gering last week to visit old friends and also take back with him his son Earl who will remain in Gering with his father this winter.

There was a social gathering of the Bodarc people at the Church on Christmas eve. The program was a short one on account of the storm and other reasons. There was little time for preparations, but a Christmas tree delighted the hearts of the little ones and a generous treat was enjoyed by the old and young alike.

Miss Lillie Zimmerman and Mabel Thayer came up from Chadron last week and will spend their two weeks vacation at their respective homes in the valley.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. Frank Nuto is at present very sick.

Mr. Charles Stuart, of Cottonwood, is visiting with Mr. Z. F. Antrim.

Mrs. F. H. Hall is still improving we understand.

A Bargain.

Several PRESS-JOURNAL readers have renewed and with their renewal have left the necessary collector for the weekly World-Herald and the Commoner. The price of these three papers at this office is $2.30. It is a combination which is hard to beat, because it gives one diversified reading matter. With these three papers on your table you will have local and general news and editorial comment which will keep you informed as to what the leading men are thinking of current events and the relations these events are having and will have in the history of the world.

During the Commoners first year it has attained a circulation which is probably unparalleled in the history of any periodical. Many predicted that this phenomenal subscription list would fall away after the first three months and leave nothing but an aching void in the breast of Mr. Bryan. But these predictions have been placed on the same shelf as those that the Philippine war would be ended when Bryan was defeated. The renewals have been coming into the Commoners office recently at the rate of many thousands each week. During the year Mr. Bryan has secured the service of Will H. Maupin, who was for many years paragrapher and humorist on the World-Herald staff. His department in the Commoner, as it did in the World-Herald, gives the paper life and color which relieves any tendency toward monotonous which a "one man paper" might have. Mr. Maupin also has charge of the Weekly Press Forum department and is amply qualified by his wide newspaper experience to select the best from among the 30,000 exchanges which make weekly visits to the Commoner office. If you have neglected to renew for the Commoner you have made a mistake and should rectify it as soon as possible.

Family Didn't Disturb Him. Sir James Paget, whose life has just been written by his son, Stephen Paget, had the rare talent of being able to read and write in a room where the rest of his family were otherwise occupied, and seemed to keep up at the same time a lively interest in what they were engaged upon or talking of, putting a word now and then into their conversation while busily engaged with papers and books at his own particular bit of the table.

Old Man Takes to Automobile. Luther R. Marsh of Middletown, N. Y., long prominent as a Spiritualist and dupe of Dis De Bar and the former law partner of Daniel Webster, hale and hearty at the age of 90 years, has become an enthusiastic automobile enthusiast and is frequently seen driving a machine through the highways of that section.—Chicago Chronicle.

Stock Report.

Receipts of cattle are heavy from all points. There are a few western rangers coming but the bulk of the offerings is made up of corn fed though choice finished heaves are scarce. On account of the heavy runs and lower reports at other points buyers here are very bullish although demand is very good market runs slow and weak 10 to 15c lower than last week's close. Cows and mixed stock in liberal supply, trade is dull with prices 15 to 20c lower for the two days. Stockers and feeders in very good demand and market strong. Receipts light. Sheep receipts moderate market steady to strong.

W. C. Williamson, of Amherst, Va., says: "For more than a year I suffered from lumbago. I finally tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm and it gave me entire relief, which all other remedies had failed to do." Sold by J. E. Phinney.

A CURE FOR CROUP.

Buffalo Bill's Indian Balm. Ex-Congressman John Finnerty tells the following good story of Buffalo Bill: "Years ago, in an Indian 'scrap' in which I bore a part, Buffalo Bill and Yellow Hand, the noted chief of the Cheyennes, had an all but hand-to-hand fight, and it was one of the finest things I ever witnessed. Yellow Hand was one of the best looking of Indians and was possessed of a magnificent physique. In his war paint he was superb. What Yellow Hand was for an Indian Cody was and is for a Caucasian. The two were about as fine specimens of the red and white races as could be found. They were mounted and made a dead set for each other. When some 20 paces apart they opened a simultaneous fire, with the result that both horses fell dead in their tracks. Neither of such experienced horsemen, however, was to be caught by a falling animal, and both alighted on their feet. Both rifles again came to shoulder with machine-like precision, and again the two shots were at once. This time Yellow Hand missed by a hair's breadth, but it was not so with Buffalo Bill. His bullet crashed through the Indian chief's brain. To this day Cody preserves among his trophies Yellow Hand's bonnet."

A GOOD RECOMMENDATION.

I have noticed that the sale of Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets is almost invariably to those who have a prominent druggist of Cascade, Iowa. What better recommendation could any medicine have than for people to call for it in need of such a remedy? Try them when you feel dull after eating, when you have a bad taste in your mouth, feel nervous, have no appetite or when troubled with constipation, and you are certain to be delighted with the prompt relief which they afford. For sale by J. E. Phinney.

PROUD OF THEIR BURDENS.

Street Urchins Get No Chance to Carry Bags for Golfers. The early evening suburban trains coming into the Broad street station and the Reading terminal in Philadelphia contain a good sprinkling these days of young men and women carrying bags filled with golf clubs. The boys who lurk about the exits in the hope of picking up nickels and dimes for carrying small baggage let these people severely alone. They know it's no use. A young man alighted from one of the trains at the terminal yesterday afternoon, says the Philadelphia Record, accompanied by two young women. He was, consequently, loaded down with three of the unwieldy bags—his own and those of his two companions. As he passed through the gates he was approached by a boy, who cried: "Carry yer baggage, mister?" The young man simply waved him aside. Another boy, more worldly wise, took the first boy to task: "When yer in de business as long as me," he said, "you'll know demter dan to waste yer breast on dem guys. Dem's golf players, dem is. Dey wouldn't let yer carry dere stuff fer not'n. Dey t'ink it's smart to be seen carryin' dem clubs around de streets. Some of 'em carries 'em aroun' wot don't play golf at all. Don't you never tackle none o' dem people. Dere's not'in in it."

Canada's Principal Production.

Canada has never liked the image in which Kipling presented her as "Our Lady of the Snows," thinking that it might be held to cast reproach on her climate and discourage emigration. Wilkie's female admirer, defending him from the reproach of squinting said that he did not squint more than a gentleman and a man of honor ought to squint, and Canadians in general stand up for their territory as not a bit more wintry than it ought to be. A Dominion lecturer in London has recently told the Imperial Institute all about it, but failed to mention that the principal production of the country is emigrants to the United States, found on arrival to be particularly intelligent and useful.—New York Tribune.

ORIENTAL RUGS.

Think of a Floor-Covering Valued at $30,000!

To be a critic of Oriental rugs is as difficult as to be a critic of painting or music, says a dealer. Some men are experts in this line and their services are highly rewarded. The most valuable Oriental rug in the world is in the South Kensington museum, England. I think that it is worth $30,000. Age improves these beautiful things, softening their colors and giving a kind of blur, a kind of atmosphere to their design. Many of the notable ones are hundreds of years old. They did not wear out in the palaces and mosques where they were laid because no one walked upon them with shoes on; they were prayer rugs, and were stepped on, reverently, with shoeless feet, the devotees then kneeling. Of course, with such gentle usage any sort of rug would last a long time. These, made of the purest wools and dyed with more charming as the years passed. I don't know why it is, but moths will not attack a good, old Persian rug.—Utica Globe.

From an Author's Journal.

Following is an extract from the journal of an author who has not been fortunate enough to write a successful novel: "Rose at 5 and thought out plot for a short story. At 8 I rang the breakfast bell, moved the chairs around the table and rattled the knives to fool the neighbors. Wrote two poems on the world as a great place to fast in; also a short article to prove that appetite is a mere delusion. I then went to the postoffice to hear the clerk say there had been a wreck on the road and my check for a late manuscript wouldn't arrive until after Christmas. The clerk observing that it was 'a beautiful day,' I went out and dined splendidly on the chimney."—New York Telegram.

German University Students.

In Germany the proportion of university students to the whole population has doubled in thirty years. The total number in 1870 was 17,701, which gave 8.85 students to every 10,000 German males, while in 1900 it was 46,520, or 16.73 to every 10,000.
