TWO PLANS IN OPPOSITION

Omaha Standard to Lincoln Journal.

While westerners are not allowing themselves as a class to be wrought up to any considerable degree of feeling over the agitation for a national system of irrigation of government lands, there are evidences that there is strongly antagonistic feeling existing in Washington between the western cattle interests and the followers of the national irrigation association's project.

The latter is a proposition for the government to construct reservoirs for the storage of western waste water and the building of extensive main canals to conduct it to points at which it may be used for irrigating arid government lands, the latter to be sold to actual settlers, the plan being to have the government reimbursed for its expense from the funds derived from sales of the land.

The counter proposition contemplates the leasing of government lands for grazing purposes at nominal rentals, the proceeds of such leases to go to a fund to be ultimately used for irrigating the lands involved. This proposition seems to have the backing of the western grazing interests, and at least some of the western railroads. General Manderson, general counsel for the Burlington, is known to strongly favor this plan, from which it has been inferred that it is also the preferred plan of the Burlington railroad. Nebraska's two senators are also listed among the advocates of this plan, and Senator Mihard has introduced a bill generally conforming, it is said, to this plan, the contents of Senator Mihard's bill do not appear to be generally known here, but it has been asserted among those interested in the irrigation project that it provides for leasing the government lands for grazing purposes at something like 2 1/2 cents per acre.

The Commercial club of Omaha has, on the other hand, been committed to the plan of the national irrigation association, and has gone to considerable expense in advancing the work of that organization and giving aid and countenance to its chief representative, George H. Maxwell. The latter has been going about the country diligently inculcating the plan of irrigation for normal settlement and cultivation, so that the conservative instincts of the stock raising interests are leveled chiefly at him.

Advices from Washington are to the effect that Maxwell's speeches on the subject have been accepted in Washington as a reflection upon the senators and congressmen who incline to the counter proposition that he is being dominated by many of the representatives of western interests.

The denunciation of the Omaha Commercial club at a recent meeting of cattle interest. Alliance has assumed considerable size in Omaha. The resolution of denunciation assumed to take the club to task for its opposition to the plan favoring the growers. This action of course placed the club in a delicate situation, as its members are well acquainted with its excellent qualities. Many of them have testified to the remarkable cures which it has effected. When you need a good reliable medicine for a cough or cold, or attack of the grippe, use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and you are certain to be more than pleased with the quick cure which it affords. For sale by Dr. J. E. Phinney.

Having a Run on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

Between the hours of eleven, m. and closing time at night on Jan. 25th 1901 A. E. Clark, druggist, Glendale Springs, Va. sold twelve bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He says, "I never handled a medicine that sold better or gave better satisfaction to my customers." This remedy has been in general use in Virginia for several years, and the people there are well acquainted with its excellent qualities. Many of them have testified to the remarkable cures which it has effected. When you need a good reliable medicine for a cough or cold, or attack of the grippe, use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and you are certain to be more than pleased with the quick cure which it affords. For sale by Dr. J. E. Phinney.

Please the Americans.

Americans living in Manila are subjected to extortion by Spaniards and Filipinos in the matter of house rent and other expenses. The American having to pay just double the prices asked of anybody else. Recently an American lady, knowing since a scale of prices existed in the city markets, took her native servant along to make a few purchases, which was done, native prices being paid. When the stall keeper at the market learned that the purchased goods were for an American lady, he attacked the lady and, seizing the basket which contained the purchased articles, consisting of vegetables and fruit, she emptied its contents into the street, threatening to thrash the American and her servant if they attempted to repeat such a trick upon her.

From Entitled Men to Admiral.

Rear Admiral Oscar W. Farenholz, United States navy, who was inspector officer at Charlestown navy yard up to about a year ago, and who is now on the retired list, is the only officer in the service who reached the grade of rear admiral from the position of enlisted man. Admiral Farenholz entered the navy first as a volunteer during the civil war, and has a record of more than sixteen years sea service.

Upon these considerations the executive committee of the Commercial club has decided its secretary, in responding to the resolution of the Alliance convention, to deny that it has opposed the measures favored by that convention, which is technically true. Members adherent of the national irrigation association's plan in Omaha are placing great reliance upon the message of President Roosevelt, which seems to be an indirect endorsement of that plan. In fact it has been claimed that the president's exhaustive treatise on the subject of the irrigation of arid government lands could not have been more favorable to the plan of the national irrigation association if it had been written by George H. Maxwell himself.

A Georgian man while driving through near Little Rock the other day saw a boy standing on the edge of a field of corn, which did not look very promising.

Thinking to have some fun with the boy, the man accosted him, and the following conversation ensued: "Young man, your corn looks kind of yellow." Yes? that's the kind we planted? Don't look as though you would get more than half a crop. "We don't expect to, the landowner gets the other half." The man saw that he was not going to have all the sport he figured on, so he said rather sharply: "There ain't much difference between you and a fool, is there?" "Nope," replied the boy, "nothing but a mill fence."

Then a small voice whispered to the man that everyone is not a sucker who looks that way. Whipping up his horse, he disappeared down the road at a crescendo.
