TOWN AT AUCTION.

Bought for a Low Figure. Was Not a Bad Speculation.
Some thirty years ago a wealthy Russian nobleman gave up a large tract of his valuable estate and founded thereon a model town, which he christened Walsawa. During the remainder of his life he showed the greatest interest in his scheme, and at his death he left the whole place to his inhabitants, who were to run the town on moderate socialistic lines. Suddenly finding themselves their own landlords, taxmasters and local authorities, the people, of whom there were about 400, decided to make the place a model town in every sense of the word. They became so very progressive that they instituted improvement upon improvement, without the least thought as to whether they could pay the necessary bills, and when these had to be met they awoke to the necessity of levying additional rates. This caused an exodus of more than a hundred of the inhabitants, which left the others in a worse position than ever. To meet the town's bills by taxation was no longer possible, so the whole place as it stood was mortgaged to its most pressing creditors. In time matters became so bad that Walsawa could not even pay the interest on the mortgage, and the mortgagees, therefore foreclosed. The town was divided up into lots and sold by auction, realizing just about sufficient money to repay the mortgages. But it was a bad speculation for the purchasers, for when the inhabitants found they were expected to pay rents as well as taxes, they deserted the place at once, leaving the town to look after itself, and fall into ruins.

CEILINGS OF CURIOUS KINDS.

Elaborate Ideas That Men of Wealth Have Devised.
A Russian nobleman of immense wealth has hit upon a curious method of ceiling decoration. Every ceiling in his mansion contains a fresco dealing with an episode in the career of his ancestors, and the whole forms what is, perhaps, a unique example of interior ornamentation. Nearly 500,000 rubles have been expended upon this extraordinary work, a sum equal in our own coin to approximately $71,500, says Tid-Bits.

Less extravagant, but undoubtedly quite as curious, is the ceiling decoration of a certain London householder, who has covered the surface in question with canceled checks returned to him through his bank. At first glimpse the real nature of this quaint embellishment is not apparent to the spectator, but the effect of same is said to be positively charming.

A WELL-DEVELOPED NERVE.

How It Got a Business Man Out of a Predicament.
"There is absolute wit in some men's nerve," said a business man of Washington a few nights ago. "My partner and I, with the intention of expanding our business, about a year ago, decided to send a representative through the south. We looked over the field carefully and finally picked out a young man who was possessed of good address and who we felt sure would do the work. He had been convivial in former days, but his department had been such for a year that it made us feel confident he would do the proper thing. He was given $400 for expenses and was started out on the mission. It was the understanding that he was to make a daily report of his efforts. Two months passed by and we never heard from him. We telegraphed repeatedly to different towns that were on his itinerary, but not a word could be learned regarding his whereabouts. Finally one day a hurried telegram, collect, came. It read: "I am not selling many goods, but I am making a fine impression. Wire $100 quick."

"The nerve of the fellow got our nerve, and so you know," continued the business man, according to the Washington Star, "we wired him the $100. And afterward he made good. We have never asked him what he did during the two months. And he has never broached the subject to us. It was the wit that pleased us."

Protecting Currant Bushes.

Greece uses more than five thousand tons of copper sulphate per annum for killing insects, especially those that feed upon the currant bush.

The Time is Not.

Abernethy declared that the best time to eat was, for a rich man, when he could get appetite, and, for a poor man, when he could get food.

CLOCKS OF ODD DESIGNS.

Unique Inventions Over Which Men's Brains Have Worked.
Some interesting reproductions of old French clocks have been lately attempted with success. One is in the shape of a fan, with a different hour at the top of each compartment. The fan gradually unfolds as the hour proceeds. Another is in an empire design with three little waterfalls—made of crystals which pass down a glass tube—which fall into a little glass trough full of real water and inhabited by a solitary live goldfish. Yet a third clock is in the shape of a bronze sunflower placed in a crystal vase. The center of the sunflower forms the dial, and the course of the hours is marked by a lady bird which slowly makes its way from hour to hour.

Another invention is the tortoise clock. This was designed by M. de Serviere for Louis XIV. The works are encased in a tortoise shell box. The dial, made of pewter, is placed on the top of the box, and is sufficiently large to allow of its being filled with water. In this basin is placed a magnetic tortoise, beautifully imitated in cork, and it floats unfaithfully toward the hour, however often it is detached. —Philadelphia Record.

Negroes Becoming Civilized.

Great changes have been made among the negroes of German East Africa. They now use plates, cups, glasses, saucers, looking glasses, spoons, knives, umbrellas and occasionally clocks; they call for soap and for kerosene. In their market places they are seen drinking tea with sugar at table. The women have adopted European clothes and make use of sewing machines, even in the interior districts.

Lili Lehmann a Vegetarian.

Many of the admirers of Mme. Lili Lehmann did not know that the great singer is a vegetarian until they learned that the Vegetarian Society of New York had arranged a banquet in her honor for this month. Non-vegetarians have been requested to subscribe to the banquet, but they must expect to be satisfied with a strictly vegetable menu. Mme. Lili Lehmann began her vegetable diet seven years ago for her health and has kept it up.

Autor With Distinguished Pedigree.

Mrs. Ruth M. Crocker, the New England poet and miscellaneous writer, celebrated her eightieth birthday in Boston. Her mother was a lineal descendant of John and Priscilla Allen of Mayflower fame. Before Mrs. Crocker's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" appeared Mrs. Crocker wrote a novel on precisely the same theme, which was never published on account of Mrs. Stowe's book being issued first.

New York in Scotland.

It may not be generally known that there is a New York in Scotland, and within a short distance of Glasgow. The village is marked on one of the maps of the Caledonian and L. and N. W. Railway tourist guide for the present year. It is situated on the west shore of Loch Awe, directly opposite Portfinisherrigh Hotel, on the east side of the loch.

Senator Hanna's Hash.

Every Sunday morning for some time past Senator Hanna has earned breakfast for breakfast, and somewhere near a score of public men in Washington make periodical attacks on the old-fashioned hash. So far all have been welcome, but the fame of Senator Hanna's hash is spreading fast and it looks as though the list of guests will have to be restricted.

America's Oldest Editor.

William Millikan, Sr., editor of the Fayette county, Ohio, Herald, is the oldest newspaper editor in the United States. He was twice a member of the Indiana legislature and was also a member of the Ohio legislature and presented and pushed through the present law regulating the rates for legal publication of newspapers.

Earthen Reservoirs for Oil.

Earthen reservoirs are rapidly taking the place of ordinary oil tanks at Beaumont, Texas. Two companies have recently undertaken to establish reservoirs, each to hold 200,000 gallons. The soil is of such a nature that earthen reservoirs can be used to excellent advantage, and they are much cheaper than anything else.

Noneconformists Are Spreading.

Recent statistics show that the Church of England provides in England and Wales about 7,000,000 sittings in places of worship, against over 8,000,000 provided by the Noneconformists. The church communicants are said to number 1,974,679, as against 1,945,932 in Noneconformist congregations.
