BULL MOOSE IN TERRIFIC FIGHT

Bangor, Me,-(Special.)-A fierce struggie to the death between two bull moose in deep snow, near Mount Ka-tahdin, was witnessed by George E. Stewart of Boston, who has been spendng several weeks in the woods, and who brought with him a souvenir of the conflict, of which he tells a thrill-morning on snowshoes, and when about three miles away found evidences of moose. Although he had not taken a mevery form. 50 cents at druggists.

"For the next two or three minutes they swayed backward and forward without either of them apparently gaining the slightest advantage. Suddenly the one nearest me disengaged himself and broke away. My first thought was that the animal had had chough of the fight and that he had decided discretion to be the better part of valor, but no sooner had the moose gained a sufficient distance than he lowered his mighty head and, with a bellow of rage, charged his bulky antagonist, instead of retreating or making a counter charge, the second moose remained perfectly still. He cented to me to be calmly awaiting cally in the same rank as a sugar-pro lies in the beet-fields.

Suddenly I saw him rear on his hind legs, and, coming down, plant his knife like hoofs directly on the head of the enemy. The force was terrifo and the moose nearest me went down under the blow like a log of wood. He was at his antagonist's mercy.

"Time and time again the bull brought those terrible front hoofs down on the prostrate body before him. The other moose made desperate efforts to gain his feet, but his shoulder had been roken when he first feil, and the ef-orts came to naught. For a time he truggled and then, at last, he lay per-ectly still. His murderer gave the body a last contemptuous blow and hen disappeared through the under
