Lewis Gerlach has sold 18 Deering mowers this season and 12 Hay rakes. Lew said it took hustling to sell them but Lew is a hustler when it comes down to business.

Prof. Crandall spent most of the time here from Friday until Monday night and we are inclined to believe that Valentine holds some fascinating attraction that interests him.—Valentine Republican.

Howard Burke is on the sick list this week but as Edwin Guthrie and our ever accommodating friend W. H. Davis came to our rescue we will be able to get our paper out on time with many thanks to them.

Is it not far more preferable to spend a few dollars for a supply of Dr. Rea's Blackleg Vaccine and save your cattle from this dreaded disease than suffer the consequence of neglect? Read the special offer in his advertisement in this paper.

The church building is quite an improvement to the town, as well as to show we are not beyond the pale of civilization. The church building has needed these repairs for several years, and the board of trustees feel thankful for the hearty response made by the people in the way of funds for the same.

W. R. Smith purchased from Grant Guthrie the 12 acre tract, lying East of the townsite, and has commenced the erection of a residence on the same. We are glad to know that Mr. Smith is going to remain with us, for since he sold his business interest in the town he has been undecided as to just where he would locate.

Mrs. Euler from New York city arrived on the train Friday to pay her relatives a visit. We know the boys will enjoy her visit, for if there is any one a true man loves to see it is his mother. Carl says his mother thinks this is a big country for so few a people, well this may seem so to any one coming from such a crowded city but we enjoy having plenty of room and breathing the pure fresh air that sweeps down on us from across the Rocky mountains.

On August the 4th the fourteenth annual Teachers Institute for Sioux County Nebraska will be held, and we anticipate one of the most profitable Institutes that has ever been held in the county, our every effort will be to this end, and any one desiring to attend this institute whether they have taught or not, are welcome for we expect to take up work that will be in reach of all. We will be especially glad to meet any that are thinking of preparing themselves to teach, for my desire is to make teachers out of our home talent which is as good as any in the state.
Respectfully,
J. B. Burke, Co. Supt.

Co. Supt. Burke received an anonymous letter last Monday mailed at Crawford, Neb. giving him strict orders to not give a certain lady school teacher any more schools to teach, and giving for his reasons language that we do not care to quote. Supt. Burke has this to say, if any school teacher, lady or gentleman conducts him or her self improperly, he is anxious to know of the facts, but they must be over the name of the one making them and not under a fictitious name or no name at all. If the one that wrote this charge will come to Supt. Burke's office he will give him a hearing but he will in no wise pay any attention to such communications. We hope the one that wrote this charge will be man enough to come forward and give his reasons for such accusations as he has made. We must all recognize the fact that a woman's treasurer is her name, and any man that would try to falsely rub her of such is not worthy to be called a man unless she has seen fit to lay aside this, and place herself in a sphere that would deserve criticism, and then; O! man be careful.

HYMENAL.
Zimmerman-Thayer.
Mr. Irvin Zimmerman and Miss Mable Thayer were married last Monday at high noon, Rev. Youngman officiating.
Mr. Millard Thayer and Miss Lillie Zimmerman assisted the young couple in launching out on the great matrimonial sea, in which there is a great deal of joy and happiness which the Press Journal hopes this bright young couple may receive their share. We have known the groom from his boyhood up and can only say words of commendation for him and the bride has been known to us for several years, and we have found her a bright smart young lady, and is well qualified to make her home a haven of rest and that her husband may always look back to the lucky day that she became his wife. Success and happiness to you Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerman is the wishes of the Press Journal.

DIED.
Andrew Wunder died last Thursday at his home near Adelia.
Mr. Wunder was taken suddenly ill on Monday night and grew worse until he passed away on the Thursday following.
Mr. Wunder was 81 years and 3 months old at the time of his death. The funeral services were conducted from the Catholic church at Montrose of which he was a member. Father Reaback performed the last sad rites and the body was laid away to rest amid the mourning of the relatives and his many friends that had gathered to pay their respects to their departed friend.
Mr. Wunder came to Sioux County in 1898 and was one of our most respected citizens. The Press Journal extends sympathies to the bereaved relatives in their loss of a husband and father.

Wm. J. A. Baum, Clerk.

MEANT IT OTHER WAY.
Rev. E. J. Hardy, author of "How to be Happy Though Married," tells this amusing anecdote:
A young couple had been married by a Quaker, and after the ceremony he remarked to the husband, "Friend, thou art at the end of thy troubles."
A few weeks after the man came to the good minister boiling over with rage, having found his wife to be a regular vixen, and said, "I thought you told me I was at the end of my troubles!"
"So I did, friend, but I did not say which end," replied the Quaker.

The same Old Story.
J. A. Kelly relates an experience similar to that which has happened in almost every neighborhood in the United States and has been told and re-told by thousands of others. He says: "Last summer I had an attack of dysentery and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used according to directions and with entirely satisfactory results. The trouble was controlled much quicker than former attacks when I used other remedies." Mr. Kelly is a well known citizen of Henderson, N. C. For sale by J. E. Phinney.

We learn that Mr. Leopold DeBock died Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock and will be buried at Montrose, Friday at 10 o'clock.

Morrison, Colo., July 10 1902.
Dear friends of the Press-Journal:— My last went from Denver, I believe! I spent several very pleasant days there and on Tuesday, the 8th resumed our journey. Best seems quite able to do her share now, but we expect to take our trip up, and through the mountains very gradually for several reasons and think the horses will be amply able to go as fast as we shall want to. At Denver we delivered Mrs. Ray safely to her husband and met Mr. Rice's niece, Miss Bertha Case of Omaha, who is to be the fourth member of the party for the rest of the journey. We spent the fore noon of Tuesday loading up again and after dinner rode out of the city with Roy on horseback—A very convenient arrangement as we could send him forward to inquire the way, or back to find the pillows when we lost them out. We went through Ft. Logan and drove straight west toward the mountains, which seemed quite near when we fairly got out of the city. We stopped for the night just outside the first range of foothills. Wednesday morning was rainy and we did not break camp until late when we thought it was clearing up. That was a mistake however and we drove to Morrison five miles or so in a mist, which about the time we got there came down in a good hard shower with some thunder which sounded quite loud in the hills. To go to Morrison we entered a gap in the hills and found the little town right in the gap. We replenished our usual supply and learned some more about the road, ate our dinner in the shelter of the wagon and the clouds rolled by we drove through the mountains and now they are to follow to Fairplay or more was once a toll road from Denver to Leadville. Now it has been bought by the state and a man patrols it regularly to see that it is in order. About 8 miles of the way from Morrison follows Lucky creek and was built along the side of the canon with mountains on the right and depths on the left. Spruce trees began to be plentiful with some small oaks and berries and flowers that were new to us. So that we had to make frequent stops to wonder and admire. There is a great deal of travel along the road, we have seen many loads of lumber, telegraph poles & etc. A fishing party from Lincoln and some miners going to the summit. Near us are camped a man and his wife from Ohio, who are here for health sake. Having passed this strip of road we came to a widening of the canon where are some farms, and here we camped with Turkey creek a little clear mountain brook babbling over the stones, close to us, and mountains on either side. It was so pleasant we decided to stay a day and let the roads dry off before taking the next thousand feet which comes in the next six or eight miles. We climbed the hill on one side this morning. Bertha and Roy have been horseback riding this afternoon and now Mr. Rice and Roy are trying the hill on the other side. We have had a pleasant day with two tiny sprinkles of rain, which did not amount to anything, and are thoroughly dried out. Not that we got wet under the cover, but there was a general dampness and a decidedly cold air that we are glad to have past. Friday morning we found frost on the tent and everything that was left outside, but it was a fair day and it soon dried off and warmed up. The stove in the tent is a great comfort these cold mornings and evenings. We drove about twenty miles over such a pretty road, mostly up hill with some downs, but no hard pulls. We had been hitched up in front to help the posies out a little. The country is beautiful with high hills all around us and frequent glimpses of more distant mountains. Such a variety of lovely flowers that they keep us exclaiming all the way and the weather is just right in the day time if it is a little cold at night. We have hardly had a breath of wind since we left Denver, not enough at any time to make it unpleasant and we had plenty before. Mr. Rice was remarking this morning that we have not got away from home after all, for we are still enjoying Jimmie Wilson's ham and Mrs. Antrim's butter is still good in spite of her forebodings because it was packed in a tin pail. In a land where milk is 10 cts. a quart and eggs 25 cts. per dozen these home things are doubly appreciated. We are 7 or 8 miles from Bailey which is on the railroad. There we will mail our letters, buy things for Sunday, and find a pleasant camp beyond to stay in until Monday. Next time I shall probably tell of higher hills and more climbing. We are about 8300 now.

Sincerely,
Emma L. Rice.

Bodarc Cleanings.
Married—At Bodarc July 21 at the home of the bride's parents Irvin S. Zimmerman and Mable C. Thayer Rev. Youngman of Harrison officiating. The young couple have the best wishes of the community in their matrimonial venture.
We are sorry to learn that Mr. DeBock who has been very ill for some time is at present writing (Tuesday) very low and no hopes are entertained of his recovery.
The folks who had such a discouraging time putting up their alfalfa through the wet weather are having better success with their hay. The weather has been more favorable the last week and the hay crop promises to be a good one this year.
Clarence Zimmerman went over to Old Woman Creek Thursday to help Len Dout drive a bunch of steers to Harrison to be delivered to Mr. Reed he having purchased a d. h. m. lately from Mr. Dout.
J. L. Anderson moved last week into the house just vacated by the Hunter family he will act as foreman we understand for Mr. Wickeshaug of Dakota who has purchased the property from J. W. Hunter.
J. W. Hunter has left the Valley and taken a residence near Harrison. We have looked upon them as friends and neighbors for a number of years and the people of Bodarc are sorry to see them go but gradually our neighbors are all leaving us and going to where their children can have better advantages. We wish them success in their new home.
M. A. C.

When populism first sprung into existence men were going round with patches on their pants and selling corn at 10 cents or less a bushel, hogs and cattle at about $2 a wt. That populism has been a factor in changing these conditions no sane person will deny. It is a good thing to keep alive.—Rushville Standard.

New York's Four Bridges.
Names for the three new bridges across the East river, New York, have been selected. The present bridge is known as the "Brooklyn bridge." The one nearing completion and running from Manhattan to Williamsburg will be the "Williamsburg bridge." The third, to be erected just north of the navy yard, will be the "Navy yard bridge." The fourth, which will be built over Blackwell's island to Queen's borough, will be the "Ravenswood bridge." Many New Yorkers think that historic names should have been bestowed on the great structures.

The Castle of Heidelberg.
There is a row over the beautiful castle of Heidelberg. One set of architects declares that the ruins are in a dangerous condition and propose the restoration of the greater number of buildings to the condition in which they were when the French burnt the castle in 1793. Others assert that the ruins will stand forever, and that the proposed restoration is an act of vandalism. The ruin is the chief attraction in the town to Germans and Englishmen.
