Old People Have Their Troubles.

Mr. Francis Little of Berton Harbor, Mich. is over eighty years of age. Since 1885 he has been troubled more or less with indigestion and constipation and has tried almost everything in use for those ailments. Last August he began using Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and was soon feeling much better. In a recent letter he says, "I have used three boxes of the Tablets and now think I am well." These Tablets improve the appetite and invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. For sale by all Druggists.

A LETTER FROM MRS. E. L. RICE.

Hutchkiss, Colo. Oct. 2
I was to know more about packing peaches by this time and so I do, but do not know that there is much I can tell. I worked at it for a week or ten days, putting in ten hours a day and walking a mile back and forth. I wasn't tired out either, which the family ascribe to the virtues of the Colorado climate. The peaches are packed in the fruit house the packers seated at a long desk like table with the box resting upon it and a box of peaches at the left hand. Each peach is wrapped separately in paper. The wages are 2 cts. per box. Some experienced packers can put up 100 boxes a day 75 was my highest record. The work is clean and pleasant and not very hard. I never saw such peaches as the Elbertas that were packed for shipping to Chicago. It seems to me they were three times the size of those we ordinarily see on the market. They are shipped while yet hard, and some of the most perfect specimens have to be thrown out because they are too firm. These are shipped to nearer points or sold to people of the town and neighborhood for eating and immediate use. The packers are free to take all they want beside. After I was done work we tried drying some, but this dry country became a showery one about that time, and as we had no very good way to protect them I fear they will not be very marketable, and we have more than we can ever eat.

Mr. Rice meantime is busy house building. He has a man to help this week but means to do most of it himself. The frame is up and it is mostly enclosed. We have not had any particular uncomfortable weather so far, our first slight frost came Sept. 12, just nipping the vines and killing the cucumbers but not damaging the tomatoes to speak of. We have had all the tomatoes from Harry's garden that we could eat and put up and some to sell and still they are ripening and as for potatoes I think we have as nice and as big potatoes as Sioux Co. or Wyoming, and not a bit watery or hollow hearted as I feared irrigated potatoes would be. The frost was said to be earlier than usual this year and there has been snow in sight on the mountains for nearly two weeks. Some prophesies an early winter. About the 21st we had a week of more or less threatening weather, with slight showers culminating in a couple of nights of rain, that was while we were drying our peaches. The nights and mornings are getting cool, but the middle of the days are for the most part warm and sun shiny. The tent is so far warm enough to sleep in. Roy drives Boss to school every day. Using a neighbor's cart and harness and having for passengers two little girls, who are just beginning their experience of school-life. He is in the eighth grade and has for a teacher a M. E. minister who has brought his wife here for her health. After a month's experience we believe that his school is going to be pleasant and profitable.

Don't believe I'd move to Colorado just yet. Tho' you and yours would find a warm welcome from one family at least. You would think it the stoniest most barren land you ever saw. It is to be cleared of stone as some countries have had to be cleared of forests. And then the problem is to get the water. If you have money enough to buy water, you can do almost any thing and literally make the wilderness to blossom as the rose. It costs money to keep your horses and cows here, no feed but alfalfa, the horses must be shod. Just now we are interested in lumber and that is a way up. No saw mills nearer than 30 miles, so slabs, logs, and cheap lumber are not to be had. The cheapest that could be had was $18 a thousand, finishing lumber from $25 to $50 a thousand. Some things seem to be as cheap here as at home, but most things are a little dearer. We are always especially glad to hear from Timothy, M. A. C. and Chas and hope they will not fail to give all the news. E. L. Rice.
