

A Beautiful Young Society Woman's Letter.

ST. PAUL, MINN.,
521 Webster St.,
Dr. Hartman, Columbus, O.,
Dear Sir:

"I took Peruna last summer when I was all run down and had a headache and backache, and no ambition for anything. I now feel as well as I ever did in all my life, and all thanks is due to your excellent Peruna."—Bess F. Healy.

The symptoms of summer catarrh are quite unlike in different cases, but the most common ones are general lassitude, played-out, tired-out, used-up, run-down feelings, combined with more or less heavy, stupid, listless, mental condition. Relish for food and the ability to digest food seems to be lost.

Skin eruptions, sallow complexion, biliousness, coated tongue, fitful, irregular sleep, help to complete the picture which is so common at this season.

Peruna so exactly meets all these conditions that the demand is so great for this remedy at this season of the year that it is nearly impossible to supply it.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address: Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

A Weed Puller.

Another machine has been invented for the use of the farmer. The picture shows the invention doing its work, and gives an idea of the mechanism by which it is operated. Two fluted rollers are mounted on an adjustable support at the rear of a sulky, with chain gearing to rotate them rapidly as the machine is drawn over the ground. As the flutings on the face of the rollers mesh closely together, it is easy to understand how any weed or grass which once gets between them will be drawn up, until it is finally lifted out of the ground, roots and all. To insure the killing of higher growths, the machine has been fitted with a series of rotary blades, which feed the tops of the weeds down beneath the face of the first roller instead of allowing this roller to strike the stems and push the weeds over, without uprooting them.

So-Called Corn Wheat.

In sections of the West there is being grown a variety of wheat known as Polish wheat, which has comparatively little value except, perhaps, as a food for stock. Public accounts of this wheat have been so garbled that farmers have a wrong impression of it. As this wheat is grown in the Northwest, it produces wonderfully, and the kernels are much larger than those of the recognized varieties of wheat, and when fed to stock it is said to have wonderful fattening results. That it has some merit there is little doubt, for it has given fairly good results in the making of macaroni wheat, although not so good as the results from the true macaroni wheat. It is doubtful if it is safe to use it largely in the fattening of stock, although it is worthy of test in that way. Seedsmen in the North and West can doubtless furnish seeds in small quantities, and the reputation already acquired makes it worth a test. In some sections the variety is known as Emmer and some seedsmen catalogue it under that name.

Make a Bag Holder.

A frame may be fixed in a few minutes that will hold bags while being filled. Cut a board six inches wide and nail together as shown. Fill a bag and set it inside, then adjust the books the proper height. The books are eight penny wire nails driven through the boards downward to prevent turning and the ends then bent upward. The front books should be a little lower than the back two. A cross brace on the back will strengthen the frame.—A. Gilmore, in Farm and Home.

Rock Gardens.

A rockery is attractive if well made and not out of place. It should be made only in locations where a natural heap of rocks covered with flowers and vines would not seem unexpected or out of tune with surroundings. A sunken rockery is the most attractive, but the hillock shape is less costly. If convenient, build on a shady southeast slope. Dig below frost line and use the earth removed as side filling. The stone work should be finished and firmly wedged before filling with earth and gravel. Good plants, mosses, vines and ferns can be found about any forest ledge, and the nurserymen sell rock plants and alpine plants adapted to such locations.—Exchange.

Butter or Goose Fat.

The most popular substitute for butter in Germany is said to be goose fat. eWeight for weight, butter costs less than the fat, but then the latter seems to be far more economical. A pound of excellent butter can be had in Berlin for about 30 cents. Goose fat, on the other hand, is sold by the litre (1.76 pint) at an average price of 70 to 75 cents. In a recent government publication there appeared a suggestion from the American consul at Berlin to the effect that Germany offers a good market for this article of food.

Low Wages.

An English farmer writes that he knows several farmers who have lately surrendered their rented farms solely from the difficulty of getting laborers; and in that neighborhood a good

BEST FOR THE BOWELS

Wives are objects of bargain and sale in parts of Russia. In the district of Knysehin, on the Volga, for example, the price of a pretty girl from a well-to-do family ranges from $70 to $100, and in special cases a much higher sum is obtained. In the villages the lowest price is about $25. It is customary for the fathers of the intending bride and bridegroom to haggle for a long time over the price to be paid for the young lady.

Story so old that it may be new to many: A stuttering man went into a doctor's office to be cured of stuttering. The doctor was engaged in his private office, but there was a man in the waiting rooms, and the new comer talked to him. He (the new comer) said he was very anxious to be cured of stuttering, and wondered whether the d-d-d-doctor could d-d-d-do him any good. To which the other man replied: "I-I-I-I-I think h-h-h-h-h-can. H-h-h-h-h-c-c-c-c-cured me."

Medicine Never Healed a Wound

Nature performs the healing process and medicine can only assist her in doing her work in healing wounds and throwing off diseases. Nine-tenths of the diseases of man and beast have their origin in some form of germs and if allowed to run and multiply form complications. The reason that Liquid Koal prevents all germs diseases and cures them, unless fermentation and inflammation have too far developed, is that it contains every antiseptic and germicide known to science. All germ diseases such as hog cholera, swine plague, corn stalk diseases, tuberculosis, blackleg and numerous others can be prevented by giving Liquid Koal in drinking water, because they are germ diseases and no germ can live where Liquid Koal reaches it. Liquid Koal is unaffected by the gastric juices of the stomach, passes through the intestines and from there into the circulation, permeating the whole system and still retains all its germicidal properties. Diluted with water, in the proportion of one to one hundred, it makes the best lloc killer known.
