GRAND BALL

Christmas night, December 25th.
Will be given at the opera house, remember the charges will only be enough to pay expenses. You are cordially invited to attend, no trouble, good music.
Manager R. C. DOWN.

A glass or two of water, taken half an hour before breakfast, will usually keep the bowels regular. Harsh cathartics should be avoided. When a purgative is needed, take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They are mild and gentle in their action. For sale by All Druggists.

A father recently at Tekamah shot and instantly killed his son for breaking his jug of whiskey, yet there are church members that believe that whiskey is all right in its place, but the question here arises where is its place? Not man's stomach we are sure unless you want to make a devil out of him.

Better Than a Plaster.

A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Balm and bound on the affected parts, is better than a plaster for a lame back and for pains in the side or chest. Pain Balm has no superior as a liniment for the relief of deep seated muscular and rheumatic pains. For sale by All Druggists.

To improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion, try a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Mr. J. H. Seitz, of Detroit, Mich., says, "They restored my appetite when impaired, relieved me of a bloated feeling as caused a pleasant and satisfactory moment of the bowels." There are people in this community who need just such a medicine. For sale by All Druggists. Every box warranted.

Reflecting Telescopes.

Recent work with reflecting telescopes indicates that in a good atmosphere the photographs taken by the projected eight-foot reflector of the Lick observatory should show us a universe 300 times as great as that revealed by our best refractors. That is, such an instrument should detect stars seven times as far away as any that have been yet observed.

A Timely Suggestion.

This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is certain to be needed before the winter is over, and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system. In almost every instance a severe cold may be ward off by taking this remedy freely as soon as the first indication of the cold appears. There is no danger in giving it to children for it contains no harmful substance. It is pleasant to take—both adults and children like it. Buy it and you will get the best. It always cures. For sale by All Druggists.

Manager R. C. DOWN.

Miss Susie Tupper, who taught the primary scholars of the Harrison school the past two years, and is now teaching at Gordon, came up on the passenger I at Thursday morning to spend Thanksgiving with us, and visit her sister, Miss Catharine, who is now teaching the primary scholars here. Her many friends, scholars and associates were certainly glad to see her, and her visit was entirely too short. But we hope however that this will not be her last visit. She departed for Gordon Saturday evening, and no doubt one young heart went with her, but such is life.

The entertainment given last Wednesday night by the Harrison school proved a success in every respect, and the teachers should be given great credit for the pains taken in drilling the children for this occasion, for it means a great deal of extra work for them. We are sure every father and mother present felt proud of the part their children took and we feel that every one both great and small acquitted themselves well and gracefully. The gross proceeds of the evening were $25.00 which will go toward buying a library for the school. Such moves are in the right direction, and from the interest taken by our citizens and immediate vicinity we only emphasize the spirit shown.

How to Prevent Croup.

It will be good news to the mothers of small children to learn that croup can be prevented. The first sign of croup hoarseness. A day or two before the attack the child becomes hoarse. This is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy freely as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the rough cough appears, and it will dispel all symptoms of croup. It is this way all danger and anxiety may be avoided. This remedy is used by many thousands of mothers and has never been known to fail. It is, in fact, the only remedy that can always be depended upon and that is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by All Druggists.

SUDDEN DEATH.

On Tuesday evening the family of John Meinhart were surprised at the sudden illness and death of Mr. Meinhart, the father of the family. He had performed his usual day's labor and eaten a hearty supper, after which he complained of a violent headache. A physician was summoned but death resulted before he arrived. It is supposed a blood vessel of the brain became ruptured in some manner. Mr. Meinhart had been troubled a number of years with paralysis, but always rallied and was able to perform his usual labor. He leaves a wife and five grown children to mourn his loss, to whom the sympathy of the community is extended.

Funeral services were held at the M. E. church this afternoon and the remains were interred in the Crawford cemetery.

In the death of John Meinhart the community loses an industrious, honorable and upright citizen, whose hand and voice was ever ready to assist in bettering the condition of his fellowman.—Crawford Bulletin.

The Northwest Nebraska Teachers' association, which was held at Crawford last Friday and Saturday, proved a very successful and interesting meeting. There was a large attendance, and we are glad to say Sioux county was well represented and no doubt but what they all feel fully repaid for time and money spent. The state department has in the past three years done much for the interest of education throughout the whole state, and Deputy McBrien's presence and interest taken in this grand association did a great deal in making this an interesting meeting. His lecture Saturday night should have been heard by every parent, boy and girl in Crawford, for it was words spoken that will never be forgotten by those present; and we hope the foundation of many a character may be built from them. Those present from this county were: Misses Amy Christian, Geneva B. West, Lizzie Parsons, Katie Parsons, Katie Breyer, Benoit Pomeroy, Orrel Kelley, and Annie Hanson. Messrs John Burke, J. B. Burke, George Williams, Howard

Dr. C. H. and Minnie Curry, the Eye Specialists, of Chicago, who have made several visits to Harrison, will make their next professional visit to Harrison for one day only, Saturday, Dec. 5th. They are the oldest and most reliable specialists in the west and carry the largest and most complete set of instruments in use. Consultation, free. Glasses fitted at the lowest prices. They are known to be good and reliable.

Carey Items.

Rev. Curran came with his stereopticon last Tuesday and has been holding meetings at the church in the evenings since then. Because of the busy season the attendance is small, but those that go find them interesting.

On last Sunday fifteen united with the church and nine were baptized. All were young people excepting one; and some that were baptized were infants.

The Spawse young folks are at home enjoying the Thanksgiving vacation.

Nearly everybody have their corn picked, and those that haven't are rushing to get done before snow comes.

Through the kindness of Mrs. E. P. Lyon on the school district No. 3 is the recipient of a beautiful engraving of George Washington. It is a gift that the patrons may well be proud of. Mrs. Lyon always has the interests of the young at heart and spares no trouble in doing that which will be for their up-lifting. The children of this neighborhood are fortunate in having a friend so true.

Last Thursday Grant Benson died of consumption and was buried on Saturday. Rev. Curran preached the funeral sermon. A few months ago Mr. Benson came here hoping this climate would improve his health—fled on the claim formerly owned by Wm. Hixon, built him a house and had only lived in his new home a few days when he was called away leaving a wife and five children to mourn his loss. The community joins in extending sympathy to Mrs. Benson and family.

PROG.

I was delighted and pleased when Mrs. Belle Dunn invited me to eat Thanksgiving dinner with her for I knew that I would have a splendid time. It would be almost impossible for me to describe the entertainment and good time that I had; nevertheless I undertake the task.

The house was well filled with relatives and friends. There being 24 for dinner and several others came in the afternoon. Before dinner we all enjoyed the photographic music especially the selection, "Why does a Chicken Cross the Road?" and Ottavate's vocal and instrumental music. Then came the grand dinner! It would make one hungry to see such a delicious spread. There was everything, turkey and dressing, chicken, chocolate and pound cakes, pickles, sauces, etc.

All ate very heartily and enjoyed a good square meal. (or more than square) After dinner Mrs. Bell Dunn played several difficult, beautiful selections. We all enjoyed her Inspirational Compositions. After a while Mr. Finley, Mr. Scott and son Edward joined in and made the house ring with their various instruments. The guests left about 8 o'clock with the music still ringing in their ears, and we will always look back to that day as one of our most enjoyable, and wish to thank Mrs. Dunn for the kindness shown and good time afforded us.

Like birds of passage our wanderers of the valley are returning, among the latest arrivals are Jesse Hill and Henry Wertz, we acknowledge a pleasant though short visit from the last named gentleman and was glad to welcome him back to the valley again.

LETTER FROM MRS. A. THORNTON. Chapter 3.

After we left Osis we found a few wet muddy places, and the black cult objected to going through them; so she switched to one side so short and sudden that she cracked the front axle, but not so bad but what we thought it might take us through. To break her of this Bob would go ahead on Buck and lead her through, and she soon went along without any trouble; but after we passed Springview she made another lunge and down went the wheel. Well now what was to be done? We saw at a

A great deal has been said in the past few years about the conduct of our young men at the dances that have been held here in Harrison, and in a way a great deal of censure and abuse has been heaped upon them for their conduct; but we have yet to hear one lady say that she will stay at home until the young men can learn to behave themselves; And we also fail to hear in a single instance where a father or mother have said "you can not go, for the reason of conduct & etc." Young lady you are in a way directly responsible for the conduct of the young men you associate with. If you want a young man to be decent and respectful, make him so, for you can do it; And if mothers were a little more careful about their daughters things would be different. The young man that behaves himself ungentlemanly is not all to blame, for it is nothing more than natural, and especially with some, to misbehave if the young lady will tolerate it. Young lady if you knew the power that you have over these young men you might be induced to help them to be men, in the place of careless and thoughtless beings.

Fathers and mothers of this place are throwing up their hands in horror at the little disturbance on last Thursday night, and should there be a dance tonight with the same influences and surroundings every dear daughter would be there. Let me say to you parents, that it is not bad enough, for when it does get to that point you will rise as a unit to denounce and crush it, but not until then will you do it.
