

CHAPTER X .- (Continued.) He stopped and listered.

ged " this he was sure someone was near him, ble. The old man refused at first, but He passed on, but kept an eye dire ted the money was fempting and he took it behind him. In a moment more he heard with many thanks. something in the path, and on turning quickly about he saw a dark figure just gliding across the path from the rose hushes. he forced her to the ground. With his together, and then, taking off her long morrow," if the weather was good." cotton apron, he folded it up, and with that it suid:

"Now, if you make the least noise with your month, even so much as would to work toward that end. awaken a sparrow that had perched upputting a gag between your jaws. I time during the day. Larson may have by think you know me.

ed in the garden undisturbed, and before they separated for the night they she rose to her feet and shook herself. beard the brig; and though his authority "Yon'll suffer more still if you do not was shaolute, yet he knew too well that people to die before now by forcing them- real governing principle. selves into dangerous places."

CHAPTER XL.

Paul arose very early in the morning. he was not long in discovering that rowly; but he appeared to take no nowere upon her, she seemed anxious to avoid him.

into the garden with Mary, and having shriveled face followed it; but she saw secured a spot where no one could watch the young man's keen eve fixed upon secured a spot where no one could watch and overhear them without being seen her, and she dodged quickly back. by them, they devoted a few moments to "Mary," he commenced, "you must and overhear them without house is "Mary," the commence of a main about excuse me for the question I am about excuse me for the question I am about sed to be on board by 10 o'clock. promised to be on board by 10 o'clock. So he spoke to Mary all the hope he could, and having premised to come again very soon, he kissed her, and then "How," cried she, in a tone o eagerness. "Can we get away?" ed away to his boat. The passage "You are ounctual," said Marl with a enser upon his face, which the youth did not fail to notice.

promises that had escaped from the eastle. The moon was up brig I and full, and Three of the animals had been found, the overs walked out is in the garden. and Paul mounted one of them, telling There was some dew upon the grass, but the men he was going to try his mettle they noticed it not. They had walked He strock into a path which he rememabout the place once, talking only that hered well, and at the end of some seven sweet, soft language which is nonsense miles he came to a little core accorded to all save those who tall it, when Paul by poor fishermen. He soon found some was sure he heard monsteps near him. of them, and learned that one of their Mary," he said, "we are surely dog: with a load of dried fish, and flut another would sail in just a week from Paul conversed as before, but he that time. Paul easily found the same watched narrowly for some demonstra-tion. At length he reached a point where him he gave the letter. The man proma thick clump of rose hushes grew at an level to deliver it faithfully, and the angle in the wall, and when he reached youth offered him a dollar for the troa-

CHAPTER XIL

He saw in an instant that it that Paul remembered about the inforwas Hagar. With one bound he reached mation he had received respecting the ber side, and, seizing her by the throut, lugger which was to sail in one werk.

"Surely," he muttered to himself. "he handkerchief he bound her ankles firmly said in one week-in-one week from to-

And thus musing the youth commoniit he bound her wrists down to her ed to work the deck again. His mind knees. Having thus deprived her of all was new ousy with a mighty idea. Why tone which she knew too well meant all castle as well by that time as my other? This was a proposition that dwelt in his mind until he had resolved to set

On the next morning he told the capon your black nose, I'll finish the work tain he should go up to the castle some wished that Paul should remain on From that time Paul and Mary walk | hourd, but he had been too long in the habit of allowing the youth to have his own way to stop him now. And there mid much which they would not have might have been one more reason why others hear. Before he retired to the he did not care to enforce his wishes dwelling Paul went and set Hagar free. at present. He knew that Paul would keer out of my way. I have known his youthful protege possessed the most S. after dinner Paul went up the river and took a boat's crew of his own selection. He found Mary well, and of course, joyful to see him.

At the end of an hour they were sent old Hagar was watching him very nar- ed in the very room where they had been watched by Hagar, but now they tice of it, only looking out that she did left their door open, and sat where they not come near enough to annoy him; could see anyone who should ascend the and when she found that the youth's eyes stairs. It was not five minutes after black mass of wool appear above the After breakfast our hero walked out balustrade, and in a moment Hagar's

The hour drew algh at which our hero to put to you, but I wish to know how was to take his departure, for he had much money you could raise in an emergency. I want money enough to get to "How," cried she, in a tone of quick "I have an opening-a dim chance. I down the river was quickly made, and think we may succeed. But we must when Paul stepped over the brig's side, have the money, Mary. I have some the captain was in the gangway to re- perhaps a thousand dollars-which I have received from poor, generous fel-lows whom I have helped."

"i thought you had many thousands." "So I should have were I to take my me take one half of these areas in trust for you. Thus has the forfared cresture made us equal shuters with use self, she keeps only one-third of all she Sound."

Now," said Paul, "this part of monty is settled, and the pext is the means of getting away from this pince. In our week from to morrow, if it is fair, a small ingger will sull from the little fishing cove. If we can be on the ground at the time, our object may be averplished-ah? there is that would head again.

Paul darted towards the head of the stairs like a holt and poor Hager fum bled from the paint she had gained : the hottom, voliling line a piece small laggers would sail on the morrow he said, when he returned to his --"I hope she has not injured herned "I only intended to frighten her panien. But I was going to say; I will be here on the evening below that day. The smallest of my bast's crew is not much larger than you, and surely no taller. will hring an extra suit of his elothes and you shall put them on. Then B()y dis name is Billy Mason-shall wat his appareanity and erony to the hoat and hids beneath the thwarts. After this I shall call my crew will, and when you rume holdly with them, as one of the It was not until hug into the evening four, the deception will not be noticed. for it will be dark, you know, and no me will think of one ruse. If that woman has not crept up the stairs, after all." suddenly broke in Paul, in a low withpor. He had just at that moment caught sight of her gliding along from the head of the stairs to an opposite angle of the wrong scent."

Paul knew that Hagar was where she could hear every word he should speak in an ordinary tone; and, in a voice pfectly clear and distinct, and little loader than usual, but at the same time very earnest, he said:

"Now, we must be very cateful, Mary how we net. I have put that old Hagai out of the way, at any rate so there b no more fear of her overhearing us. A very low chuckle was here heard and both Paul and Mary smilled, You'll suffer for dis." she suid, as have the sympathy of every man on he able to escape," resumed the youth. "in one mouth from this time I shall in the same distinct key, "By that time I can get all my prize money, and then we will make some plans for out moving off. I have had some further talk with Buffo Burnington, and he says he thinks Marl Laroon is my father, after all, and he advises me to be a piratel He says it is a free and noble life

"I am sorry for that," chimed in Mary, distinctly. "But then we shall not need his assistance. But cannot we escape before the end of a whole month?

"No," retorned Paul, "for I cannot get they were sented before Paul saw a my money before that time; and then, again, about that time Mari Laroon will begin to think about sulling, and we may have a better chance. I will use you it one week, and then we may make our our plans more fully. Remember, in on week I will try to have something more tilte to tell you."

When Paul started to return to th brig be felt sure that his servitude we soon to have an end. His heart wa light and buoyant, and his hopes were al muny and bright. He forgot how many clouds arise suddenly upon the cleas sky, and how many cups are broken on their passage to the lips. (To be continued.)

The Wild Horse Race.

In the track before the grand stand, and colorings of their figurings being, as cation, and while the general points of the ten riders, each with his saddle a rule, of a positive character. Yet these model dresses will appear, there upon the ground and backamore is these materials are to be trimmed lavish will be a plenty else to repay search. So Wear.

DIVERSITY IS LIKED. this, and us acceptable modules. browns this achieve is southed very hugpair; and even in brown's source past tive shudes, the trick reduces the asser remove of the color of the main m

FALL AND WINTER GOWNS OF MANY PATTERNS

Elaborately Trimmed Quiet Tastes to skirts should not cause surprise, size their hugeness has been a matter of shot rrowth. The proportions shown in mo-Fabrics of Quite Noticeable Colors and sis for early winter surely are the librid necessary to support the failness, the diversitiation will say, and not without some truch. If she and the developers of

Be Put in Eclipse.

ICHNESS, next to Indiana only will stop at a little, all will saty.

as when such materials have pre-start all over, it should be written that with a fack. Place in a join with 300 vailed, they have served with little gar-niture, but current models indicate that in a how worth visiting. "Even interes, but current models indicate that the shops are worth visiting. "Even interes, but current models indicate that the shops are worth visiting. "Even interes how only interest to be preferred to even interest of the shops are worth visiting. "Even interest how only interest to be preferred to even interest of the shops are worth visiting. "Even interest how only interest to be preferred to even interest of the shops are worth visiting. "Even interest how only interest to be preferred to even interest of the shops are worth visiting." To oven until brown whom twenty with the shops of the shops are worth visiting. "Even interest worth the shops are worth visiting." to oven until brown whom twenty with consider. "Hark! she is creeping this brocaded staffs, for example; they strike be not be disappointed if the gowns way shi There, she has stopped. Now, the shopper who views them in the piece sketched here do not appear in many power of locomotion, he said to her in a could he not get Mary away from the he careful, and we will put her on the as verging closely on the showy, the size forms. These are not days of wide dupli-

Apple Dumplings

Pare, core and quarter six or eight apples, then stew in water till nearly ione and skim out. Take a cupful of In the amounts of an ap-preciable reduction for the more possible. But they are a symbol of style been that is anguindy. Further, the ten-ishness in dress damp toward positive efforts makes this winter. There is not a solution of an ap-preciable reduction the more possible. But they are preciable reduction the more possible. But they are in the amounts of had resert, momen who would not set a preciable reduction that is any out of the come at once, anybow, and set a preciable reduction that is any out of the come at once, anybow, and set a preciable reduction the post of the come at once anybow, and set a preciable reduction the post of the come at once anybow, and set an endow of balance with half a couplat of balance post of the potential trimmings to be such notions may except through the re- four and stir it into the patata mix-used, and the very markable variety existing; if they don't ture. If a little more four is messed variety of them in want their shirts to tallow out, they eas to make the paste from enough to roll vegue tends to wards complexity. Beturing the simulantic feshion to follow. Not a few of the newly stylish fai-button. Even shopping trips don't give out ty should be added. At this stage work as rapidly as possible. Divide the dough into five parts and roll such out wet the suges and fill with the rice are so showedy the whole show, though they present figured that little enough first to definit, who ascend like decoration is there is a solution of the risk of becoming aty. In methods with the risk of becoming In previous confused and so blundering or having to close the edge and prick several times

To Bake Beans Right.

Good rals water is better than most well water for cooking beans. Beans will never cook tender in water that has a good deal of time in it. Soak the benns over night. In the morning put a tablespoonful of malasses or brown sugar in the bottom of the bean crock, add the nears, together with bits of tment or suit pork. They may be baked In the oven, or, if that is in use, kept on the back of the stove, where they will simmer slowly, a part of the time. They will need no attention, except to keep covered with water, and with a tight cover the rest of the day. About an hour before supper uncover salt and brown slightly in the oven,

Pickled Mushrooms.

These should be kept in a cool, dark place at least a month before using. Peel the large caps (but not the buttons), measure, wash carefully, but thoroughly, and drain. To four quarts allow one-half a saltspoonful of cayenne, one clove of garlic, one teablespoonful of broken mace, one-half tablespoonful whole cloves, and half a tenspoonful of salt. Put the mushrooms in an earthen jar in layers, sprinkle them with the sensoning, cover with vinegar, and seal.

Suct Pudding.

Chop a cup of such to a powder and free it from strings. Add to it a copof molasses and warm the mixture slightly; add two well-beaten eggs, cinnamon and mace to taste, and a plut of flour that has been sifted twice with a saltspoonful of sait and a scant teaspoonful of baking soda. Last of all, stir in a cupful of seeded and minced raisins, plentifully dredged with flour, pour into a buttered mold and steam for three hours.

Cucumber Cataup.

U

scally mean to be so," replied share. But hold, I will take my share the youth. "When I give my word I of the last Russian prize, and if I do I keep it."

scended to the cabin, and his first ovement was to seek the bunk of the been distributed yet." old gunner, whom he found in a very weak and painful condition. The old man was glad to see the young surgeon. and hoped that he would not be left in the captain's hands again.

Paul administered to his patient such dicine as he thought necessary, and then passed through the cock-pit to the harth deck. He had not noticed Buffo Burnington upon the spar deck, and he supposed, of course, he should find him mean," she said. and he did. The strange man young man's hand as he came up, and hear him, he said, in quick, low tones:

What has the captain heard about wishing first to know what had transon coming over the side was. 'Is ever since. He must have heard something.

"So he has," answered Paul. "He has evening we conversed together here

And the youth went on and told all hat had transpired, giving a full account of what Hagar must have overheard, and her having afterwards seen Laroon.

"Then you are sure he knows all this?" said Buffo, in a tone which betrayed distress. "Well, it will not benefit him any, sepecially since I know what has happened, and shall now know how take him."

ake ann. But," asked Paul, "what connection hare between you and myself? There is he some. There must be something that such a man as Marl Laroon into

." uttered Buffo. "There he w, just coming down into the cabin, hear his voice. Can you get a w Nagasahi for me?" a easily. But-"" grow mind now. When I hand you

you see that it is sent there

Se, do you not that it is sent there es, and that not another person wees it you and I. Trust to me yot a rad I may help you." the following day Buraington slip-letter into Paul's hand, directing a subleyer to conceal it and send as seen as pendible. When Paul approximity he azaminet the mis-in two as confinary letter bloady and denoted to "Failer Maary shall have some two thousand more; but Paul passed on to the quarter-deck and | perhaps I cannot get it without exciting the captain's suspicion, for that has not

> "Let it go, Paul, let it go," said Mary, with a sparkling eye and waking smile "I have enough, and more than enough, though not in ready money."

The youth gazed upon his companion's face with a puzzled, inquisitive look, and as the smile about the maiden's lips grew broader and warmer, his anxiety increas ed. Mary noticed it.

"You would like to know what I "Listen and I will tell you. Among the slaves here is started up as soon as he saw Paul, and young girl who has ever manifested a hurried toward him. He grasped the great affection for me, and who will run away to her own people when I go away. gased hurriedly about him, as Some three years ago she brought to me though fearful that some one might over- a small piece of crystal-like substance. and asked me if it was not a diamond. examined it, and told her it was. She had wiped it clean and rubbed it with Why do you ask?" returned Paul, dry pummice, and upon comparing it with some gems in my possession, I knew it at once to be of great value, and told

"I'll tell you. Last night Laroon went her it would buy her freedom many times on shore, pretending that he only meant over. She told me she should not want to take a stroll among the woods. He her freedom so long as she could have was gone till quite late. His first ques- me for her mistress, and after some hes itation she asked me if I did not hope Burnington abourd? The bostswain at some time to be free from the place told him I was. 'Then keep him I told her I did; and thereupon she in The bostswain at some time to be free from the place. abcard,' said the captain. I heard this formed me that she thought there were myself. This morning when I went on many more diamonds where she found dock Laroon was there, and he hus this. It was at some distance from watched me as a cat would watch a rat here, where the small stream which runs under our walls eddled about a deep cav ern in the side of the cliff. She found, accidentally, an entrance to that cave, heard all that you said to me on the and upon a bed of sand which had washed up from the bed of the mountain stream she found the gem. Her supposition proved correct, and she has brought me nearly two hundred diamonds some large, some small. She has kept half the same number for herself my command, for to my request sho would not listen. But yet I have been forced to accept the richest ones."

Mary at once left the room, and when she returned she had a small box in her hand, which she handed to her lover. Paul opened it and his hands trembled as he lifted one after another of the jewels which he knew were worth thouands of dollars each.

"But I have not told you all," she said, with a smile brighter than any she had yet shown. "My poor slave has loved you long and truly, for you were ever kind to her when you and she and -when we were all younger than we are now.

"Is it Otehews of whom you speak?" "Yes."

"How could I help being kind to one oe faithful?"

se faithful?" "And she was faithful because you were kind. Let me tell you, Paul, that these Muyscas are not of a nature to be faithful to one who is unkind, and for that reason would poor Otshews kill our master for me any moment. She is a skrowd person and in case of used I should piece much dependence apon one helper sllowed him, wait in ple plications of such glint as jet or metal turesque groups for the horses which ic luster lends are made by wholesale are presently being dragged across the Striped weaves little if any less shows mal holding back on the rope, kicking striking, fighting for freedom every inch of the way. Not until he is blind ed by a handkerchief or bit of gunn; sacking can he be held still at all, any then only in a tremulous uncertainty that turns to a frenzy of bucking the en of subdued tastes. Solid color stuffs instant the saddle touches his back In the mad mix-up of men and horses ropes and saddles, presently developed the wonder is that anything can be ac complished. But sooner than would more or less in the air above it; an other fellows and then another, the horses all bucking, rearing and pitch ing more wildly than ever. Then one has somehow worked his way through the "milling" mass; others are fast af ter him, the riders, permitted only hackamore bridles, that scarce may guide the crazed animals at all, tri umphantly waving hats and quirts m they make off by such eccentric se quence of bone tacking jumps, pitches and "crow-hopping," that no wonder some have to "pull leather" while oth ers come to grief upon the ground .-Leslie's Monthly.

An Architectural Problem.

The problem of the reconstruction of the United States Military Academy at West Point embodies one of those large and comprehensive architectural propositions which, in this country have not been a practical possibility until very recently. The range of the architect, so far as his professional ac tivities were concerned, had passed lit tle beyond the planning of a single building. The execution of a large scheme, embracing groups of related structures, was something hardly to be thought of outside the visionary projects of the student period, where unrestricted by considerations of cost the incipient architect gave himself up to the designing of stupendous and costly undertakings. The limitations thus imposed naturally led to corre spondingly limited habits of profes sional thought.-Century.

Contracts for Railroads.

Bo far this year the contracts let for the construction of new railroads as gregate 16,816 miles, against 6,02 miles built in 1902.

These good managers who can make one cherry ple go around for a large family, we don't like them.

The average man is very patriotioes am po war clos when the hand, and each accompanied by the ery or needlework of some kind, and ap representative, these models are a fair half and remove the seeds. Put them showing.

The first was a black taffeta dress. with heavy lace and velvet hands, also field through a haze of dust, each and are combined with laces that are them in black, for triumings. Its peplum is selves set off with needlework, and then a characteristic of the season. In order is added almost a wholesale quantity of from the left in the next picture are a two teaspoonfuls of sait, a grated other decoration. These standards are many blue silk, with girdle of darker blue onion, a scant half-cup of horseradish, for dress-ups-evening and reception velvet, and with embroidery in the and two saltspoonfuls of cayenne. Mix

In the matter of colors alone, the trend supply of both gilt and steel; a heavy bottle and seal, is not such as altogether to please wom- brown poplin, self-ruffled and finished with darker brown velvet, and a dark run so much to bright tones that choosers red camel's halr embroidered with th of less assertive shades will be likely in lavishness so characteristic of the use of the end to become dissatisfied with their such decoration. Then in the conclud a sleve. To four teacupfuls apples selections. Assertive tones of red and ing illustration, see, in the same order, a of yellow, also of orange, are much used, heavy brown zibelline, self-banded and and the combinations affected are enough with jacket edged with white broadcloth have seemed possible to one is in the to make the doubting observer blink. a dark green serge, self trimmed and anddle,-or, to speak with accuracy Even browns, which are to rank high in with darker green velvet belt, and gray stylishness, are to he found in many cashmere set off with gilt and plak pa

THREE MORE FROM A LONG LIST.

tints bordering so closely on yellow or red that they hardly pass as quiet. Yet the shades of brown that easily encape conspictousness are many, and in them stand right out will find a favoring op-portunity. The stylishness of dresses in fwe or three shades of the same color.

through a meat grinder, or chop very, very fine. Drain and measure, and to every quart of the cucumbers allow two seeded and minced green peppers, darker shade enriched with a plentiful well together, add a pint of vinegar,

Crab Apple Marmmalade.

Cover apples with cold water and stew until very soft, then press through pulp add one teacupful sugar and stew one hour, stirring often to prevent burning. Put in cans while hot, or fill jelly glasses. This marmalade is very nice to put between layer cake, and is also a delicious, relishable sauce to serve with roast meat or a boiled dinner.

Fronted Ginger Cakes.

Warm a plut of molasses and stir into it a cupful of melted butter, a teaspoonful of ground cinnamon, a tablespoonful of powdered ginger and a half-teaspoonful of baking soda dissolved in a tablespoonful of boiling water. Beat well, add flour enough to make a soft dough, form into small cakes and bake. When cold spread with white of egg frosting.

Apple Jam.

Peel sour apples, chop quite fine; to each pound of apples use three-fourths of a pound of sugar, and the juice, and finely cut rind of one lemon, and for three pounds of apple one heaping teaspoonful of ginger. Stew apples, sugar, lemon and ginger one hour, then put in cans or glasses and cover well. Keep in a cool, dry place.

Honey Pudding.

One-half cupful stale brown breadcrumbs. Over these pour a half pint of boiling water and let them steep; beat light with a fork, add one wellbeaten egg, one-haif cupful of strained honey and a grating of nutmeg. Bake or steam one hour and serve with foamy sauce.

Vanila Ice Cre am.

Make a custard of a quart of idilk and seven eggs beaten light with two cups of sugar. Boil, stirring steadily. until the custard coats the spoon, then set aside to cool. Flavor with extract of vanitia and stir into a quart of rich cream. Beat hard, turn into a freezer and freeze.

Canned Stewed Tomatoes.

Scald the tomatoes and peel, laying them in a colunder to drip. Bring to a boll, cook for fifteen minutes, dip out the superfluous juice, add salt to taste and pour boiling hot into cans. Seal immediately.