AN UNCONSCIOUS SPY. How a Woman's Kindness Nearly Led to

Her Death. During the late civil war Mrs. Wheeler, the Eugene healer, served as a nurse in the Union service. She had many thrilling experiences and among them the Eugene (Ore.) Journal has heard of the following: She was present at the battle of Spottsylvania. At the commencement of the battle a Union officer rode up to her and handed her a package of papers with the request that she should keep them safe until the battle was over, and then, if he (the officer) should not live to call for them, to deliver the package at headquarters.

In the course of the fight a flank was turned and Mrs. Wheeler and the rest of the hospital nurses captured by the rebels. Upon searching her person of course the papers were found and proved to be the work of a Union spy, who had been inside the rebel lines. She was at once arraigned before a court-martial composed of rebel officers, and notwithstanding her statement of how she came by the papers and repeated protestations of innocence, she was formally convicted of being a spy and sentenced to be nanged at sunrise the next morning. She was then taken by a guard of three soldiers and confined in a small guard house, which had but one small aperture admitting light and air, and through the aperture she saw the erection of the gallows on which she was to perish.

What a grim perspective!

Inside the guard house there was nothing but the bare floor of earth and two dry-goods boxes standing against a wall; no chair, no bed.

That night one of the guards entered the guard house with a piece of corn bread and a tin cup of water for her sup-

Mrs. Wheeler spoke. The guard stopped.

He then retired and locked the door upon her again. Later on in the night she heard a voice at the aperture say 'Move the small box!" She moved the box and discovered an aperture, which proved to be a tunnel. Through this tunnel she worked her way on her hands and knees for about one-fourth of a mile, when she emerged from its mouth and found a man and two saddled horses standing there.

Mrs. Wheeler mounted one horse, and the man, who was disguised, the other. For six miles they rode on in darkness
