IRISH STINE DEAD.

News reaches us of the death of Fred Stine, an old and highly respected pioneer citizen of the Middle Loup valley who settled on a homestead near the south line, Sherman county in 1874 and who was among the first to take government land on the river. Mr. Stine was 52 years of age at the time of his death which is said to be the result of blood poisoning. The early settlers here will remember him with a deep feeling of regret as this news comes to them. He was kind and generous to a fault. He was well known by all the settlers far and near as a citizen whose character was above suspicion and who was enterprising, public spirited and charitable. A few years ago he sold his old homestead on account of ill health, and with regret bid adieu to his old friends in Sherman county and settled at Fayetteville, Arkansas. After residing there for a year or more he returned and purchased a farm near the old homestead where he has resided ever since. The Ravenna News in speaking of his death says:

"Fred Stine, one of the oldest settlers and most respected citizens of the Middle Loup valley, died at his home about 8 miles north east of Ravenna, of blood poisoning, Tuesday, July 14th, 1896, age 52 years. The funeral took place at the home of the family Thursday forenoon, and the remains were interred in a cemetery in the vicinity on a farm formerly owned by him. Fred Stine was born in Wellenberg, Germany, in 1844. He was a veteran of the late war, having enlisted in the 36th Ohio volunteers, in August 1862, and served until the last fight of the battle of Nashville, where he lost his left arm. He was an honored member of the G. A. R. and also of the A. O. U. W. The deceased came to Sherman county in 1874, and was accompanied by another one-armed man whose name was Friedel. These men joined forces and together built sod houses, taking up every bit of sod used with spades.

During the past two years the deceased was in very poor health being grievously troubled with small tumors which grew all over his body, and finally resulted in blood poisoning, which caused his death.

ANOTHER CITIZEN GONE.

August Foltz, one of Loup City's highly respected and much beloved citizens died last Monday, July 20, 1896, at Alliance, Neb., while taking a western trip from here overland in company with his wife and little daughter, where he stated to, if possible, obtain better health. Mr. Foltz was born in Ohio, May 19, 1853 and was 43 years, 2 months and 1 day old at the time of his death.

He has resided in this town for the past four years and has made warm friends of all who have formed his acquaintance. He started on his western trip leaving here Wednesday, July 8th accompanied by his wife and daughter and George Eggers, the latter going as driver. For the first few days he stood the trip remarkably well, but as they got farther west the air became lighter and in consequence the breathing more difficult. They reached Theadford, Neb. last Saturday evening and as Mr. Foltz became too weak to longer stand the job of the wagon without resting up a bit, himself and wife and little girl took the train at 2 o'clock a. m. Sunday morning for Alliance where they proposed taking the needed rest. From the hour of their arrival at Alliance he gradually sank, and at 1 o'clock a. m. Monday passed away.

Word of his death was received here by G. H. Gibson, Venorable Consul of the M. W. A. Camp of this city, and of which order Mr. Foltz was an honored member. Accordingly six of the members of that order, Messrs. G. H. Gibson, W. H. Conger, J. I. Depew, James Johansen, John Hopper and Adam Schupp left here at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning for Ravenna where they joined Mrs. Foltz with the remains of her beloved husband, and accompanied her to her former home at Phillips, Nebraska, in Hamilton where he was taken for burial.

The funeral exercises were held at the Methodist church in that place at 2 o'clock Tuesday, July 21. There was a large turnout and we learn that the minister who conducted the services preached a very able and impressive sermon, taking for his text the words "In my Father's house there are many mansions."

The immediate relatives present were Mr. Foltz's mother, wife and little daughter Della, also Mrs. Foltz's father and mother and three sisters.
