Call For Primary.

The Republican electors of Logan Township, Sherman county, Neb., are hereby called to meet in primary meeting, on Saturday, September 25, 1897 at 1 o'clock p. m., at the school house, in district No. 31, in Logan township for the purpose of nominating township officers and three delegates to Republican county convention, to be held at Loup City, October 1st, 1897; also to elect three delegates to the district convention to nominate a candidate for supervisor for Logan and Washington townships.

JACOB ALBERS,
Committeeman for Logan Twp.

If John Minshall is elected to the county clerk's office who knows but what he will hold on to the office a full term after his successor is elected and qualified as he did to the office of village trustee of Litchfield.

There is some dissatisfaction among the pops as to the candidacy of Mr. Frank Badura of Ashton for treasurer and yet it would seem that of all other nominations which that party has ever made in this country there is less room for discontent in Badura's nomination than of any other. Why? First, because Mr. Badura has proved himself efficient and capable of the management of county affairs, having been a member of the board of supervisors which position, so far as we have learned he has filled with credit; second, his interests and business relations are extensive and well mixed; and third, he is conservative and liberal in his views. He is not a loud mouthed pop, not a calamity howler in the full sense of the term, but while he retains populist views, is fair in his discussions and firm in his convictions. Mr. Badura ought to be able to get a full party vote.

Editor Thompson, of the Litchfield Monitor has proved himself to be one of the worst calamity howlers that the town has ever been afflicted with. Right in the midst of prosperity he is shouting himself hoarse about the "awful condition of the people." His editorial page of last week, and in fact every issue, gives his readers a conglomerated mess of rot, which he claims is good populism, democracy and free silver republicanism. He is continually trying to breed discontent in the republican ranks by making, unreasonable, untruthful and unqualified calumnious statements. He fills his insides with a large collection of plate matter, calculated especially to breed discontent and dishonesty with all men. He gives birth to the most ridiculous propositions ever set up in type, and last but not least, when he fails to get any notice from his contemporaries he begins a personal attack on them as he did on us last week. If Litchfield and vicinity can stand this for one short year and retain her here to fore good reputation for truth and morality, her citizens deserved to be bedecked with a cross of silver and a crown of gold, and ought to be in the lead when Gabriel toots his horn.

When a person is talking about something that he is conversant with his conversation and argument is given some weight, and when an editor writes on a subject with which he is familiar the reader is impressed with the points advanced; but when a man writes or talks about something that everybody knows he isn't familiar with, his productions are but wind. Now what does editor Thompson of the Litchfield Monitor know about the populist nominees for Sherman county. He has't been a resident of the county but a few weeks and we will wager a hand full of hair pins (which we now have on hand) that he isn't acquainted with one third of them. Come now, Thompson, put up or shut up.

The New York World in its issue of last week, Wednesday says: "There was 703 help wants in yesterday's World and on the same day last year there was 439 or 264 less than this year." And yet the populists would have you believe that there is no increasing demand for labor.

FACTS ABOUT WHEAT.

The following from the Kansas City Star shows clearly that the shortage on the Foreign wheat crop is greatly exaggerated by silverites: This is the way the free silver republicans get around the prevailing good times: "We recognize in the bountiful crop in this country and the entire failure of crops in competing countries a special advantage to our people by raising the prices of farm products, but we deplore famine in other lands and want a prosperity that does not depend on the adversity of the balance of the world."

The effectiveness of this declaration would have been greatly increased if the platform had included a statement of the "competing countries in which there is a "complete failure" of the crops; if it had named the lands in which there is famine; if it had included some specifications as to the "adversity of the balance of the world."

There is, in fact, no country that has anything like a complete failure of crops; not a single country in all the world whose farmers will not receive more money for this year's crops than they received last year. Russia, which is the greatest competitor with this country in the exportation of wheat, has a crop of 210,000,000 bushels, according to the latest cable advices from St. Petersburg. The average Russian crop for eleven years past according to the Liverpool Corn Trade News, the best authority on the subject, is 244,000,000 bushels. There is no

"complete failure" there.

France which stands next to the United States in the production of wheat, 272,000,000 bushels this year, as compared with 300,000,000 bushels in the past twelve years. Italy and Romania where crops are short compared with last year, have raised smaller crops twice since 1891 than they have harvested this year. The Hungarian crop this year, which comes nearer being a failure than any other in Europe, is about 75 per cent of the average for six years past.

Even India which there were large districts which have bordered on a state of famine every year for almost indefinite period, raised three-quarters of a full crop last year, and probably will have about the same this year. But India exported an average of only 20,000,000 bushels of wheat per year for the four years preceding last year—equal to less than a single month's exports from the United States at the present rate of shipment—and therefore India exports very little figure in making wheat prices for the world.

The Argentine Republic last year raised about half an average crop, but almost all the Argentine surplus is always shipped out between February 1 and June 1, so last year's Argentine's crop in influencing wheat prices at the present time, and the new Argentine crop, to be harvested in January, promises now to be the largest on record, with a single exception.

In view of the foregoing facts it is an entirely unjustifiable exaggeration to declare that present high prices of wheat are due to "entire failures of crops in competing countries."

Nor is there the slightest basis for the statement that the growing prosperity of this country at the present time is based on "the adversity of the rest of the world." What is that adversity to be found? Not in Germany, for the country has been enjoying an extraordinary industrial boom for many months. Not in England, for the trade returns there show constant gains. There is not in all the world a single country whose crops this season will not yield more in dollars and cents than they did last year; not a single country where the average condition of the people is worse this year than it was last.

The prosperity of the United States rests on a much broader foundation than the advance in wheat. That has contributed much to it. But the improvement in business got under way before the advance in wheat started; before it was generally realized that Europe would require more than the usual quantity of wheat from this country. If it should turn that the crops of the world are not as deficient as many people suppose them to be, the prosperity in this country will continue to grow; more men will find employment; more farm products will be consumed; more clothing bought, and people will go on enjoying more and more of the good things of life—Kansas City Star.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is evidence of kidney trouble. Two frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to urinate and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail. Mention the NORTHWESTERN and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietor of this paper guarantees the genuineness of this offer.

HUMPHREYS' MONTHLY SUFFERING.

Thousands of women are troubled at monthly intervals with pains in the head, back, breasts, shoulders, sides hips and limbs. But they need not suffer.

These pains are symptoms of dangerous derangements that can be corrected. The menstrual function should operate painlessly.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui makes menstruation painless, and regular. It puts the delicate menstrual organs in condition to do their work properly. And that stops all this pain. Why will any woman suffer month after month when Wine of Cardui will relieve her? It costs $1.00 at the drug store. Why don't you get a bottle to-day?

For advice, in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. ROZENA LEWIS, of Olanville, Texas, writes: "I was troubled at monthly intervals with terrible pains in my head and back, but have been entirely relieved by Wine of Cardui."
