Lieutenant Miley has returned craft may be left to us, shall go to head them off or perish. Such is my duty." from San Luis and Palma Soriano, where he went four days ago to receive the surrender of Spanish troops. The number surrendered was larger than General Toral reported-3,005 Spanish troops and 350 volunteer guerillas-gave up their arms.

The cost of Cervera's fleet is figured by El Nacional as follows: "The and gave parole and have gone to work. They were on the verge of starvation and I have to send them rations tomorrow. If the number keeps up as they have there will be about 24,000 to ship away, nearly 12,000 here, 3,000 from San Luis, 6,000 from Guantanamo, and over 2,000 at Sagua and Baracoa. (Signed) SHAFTER.

Spain's Editors Speak of the Wiping Out of Her Two Great Fleets.

New York, July 26. - The view of Spanish editors on the destruction of Cervera's fleet are shown by these quotations from Madrid newspapers re-

"Montejo's squadron yesterday; Cervera's squadron to day; the Heraldo of Madrid exclaims.

"This is horible. This is dreadful. No account of the lost ships. No Spaniard would weep over ships lost in another Trafalgar. On account then of the blood that was shed? There is Cuba covered with our blood and nobody ever thought of it. What makes our grief greater is not the extent of our disaster but the consideration that what for us was annihilation was for the Yankees the affair of one moment. These figures tell their own tales-Cadarra is killed, and with him hundreds of obscure heroes fell. But what did it cost Dewey to produce such a terrible catastrophe? Six wounded sailors. Our best fighting ships, our admirable cruisers and swift destroyers are sunk off the Cuban coast, their crews are slain or captured, with Admiral Cervera at their head. But what did such a complete victory cost Sampson? One dead and two wounded. These figures make not only a striking contrast, but they produce the ef fect of red hot iron in the flesh.

"What? Is there no means by which we may kill as we are killed? WASHINGTON. July 24.—The war department at mid- Is there no means by which the guns of our ships may cause a slight scratch on the enemy?"

"That is to say, $20,000,000 of which Sampson has given a good account in three or four houres," is the comment of El Nacional. And the cost to Spain of Dewey's victory was still greater-Ed.

Money for Shafters Men. Don't Want Silver.

A rather interesting question has arrisen in regard to the payment of troops. A telegram has been received from General Shafter requesting that gold and paper be sent to Santiago, as tradesmen there refuse t to accept American silver dollars at their par value and rate them at fifty cents Major-General Commanding. on the dollars of South American countries. St. Thomas, D. W I., July 26-Reports have reached here that the The 254 prisoners captured on the four prize steamers now American troops under General Miles, have been landed on Porto Rican soil at Guanico.

The landing was effected yesterday afternoon and was not accomplished without a brief skirmish between the Americans and Spaniards. The as they backed out of the dock one of the patrol gunboats came Spaniards were not in force and were routed with the loss of four men.

They went in to reconsiter the place, while the fleet lay off Guanico bay. The Spaniards did not know the Americans were near until the Gloucester fired a signal gun.

The Gloucester then sent the launch to the shore under command of they would not fight long. The quickest and easiest way to Lieutenant Huse.
