 A whooper-up populist in this town ask one of the boys if it was a fact that he had went over to the republicans, and upon getting an affirmative answer told him that he had some work to do but if such was the case he could not do it.  We were in error in stating that a resolution endorsing socialism was passed in the populist Co. convention, we meant that all the resolutions were of a socialistic nature. We were also in error in stating that Mr. Mathew was the gentleman who worked them through, we should have said that it was T. S. Nightgale, but by mistake Mr. Mathew's name was put in type and the error was not noticed until after we had gone to press. The only way we can account for the mistake is that both gentlemen figured prominently in the same article, hence the names got mixed. It all means about the same thing, however as it was a conglomerated mixture of socialistic and populist, and we might add anarchistic doctrine.

A CRITICAL TIME
During the Battle of Santiago.
SICK OR WELL, A RUSH NIGHT AND DAY.
 The Packers at the Battle of Santiago de Cuba were all Heroes. Their Heroic Efforts in Getting Ammunition and Rations to the Front saved the Day.
 P. E. BUTLER, of pack-train No. 3, writing from Santiago, De Cuba, on July 23 says: "We all had diarrhoea in more or less violent form, and when we landed we had no time to see a doctor, it was a case of rush and rush night and day to keep the troops supplied with ammunition and rations, but thanks to Chamberlain's Cholera, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, we were able to keep at work and keep our health; in fact I sincerely believe that at one critical time this medicine was the indirect saviour of our army, for if the packers had been unable to work there would have been no way of getting supplies to the front. There were no roads that a wagon train could use. My comrade and myself had the good fortune to lay in a supply of this medicine for our pack-train before we left Tampa, and I know in four cases it absolutely saved life."
 The above letter was written to the manufacturers of this medicine, the Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa. For sale by Odendahl Bro's
