Mr. Bryan said at Knoxville, Ten. on Sept. 16, 1896 that if any one believed that the gold standard was a good thing and should be maintained, they should not vote for him. After a successful trial of it for 3 years most people will take him at his word.

Colonel Roosevelt will make 40 speeches in Nebraska during October. It will surely be an exhilarating feeling to the fusionists to hear a real live colonel that had back bone enough to go to Cuba.

Well, Brother Ed., in regard to that revenue deal you say one of the revenue commissioners had rendered a decision that all mutual insurance companies must pay 8 cents on each hundred dollars issued in policies, all of which seems to trouble you very much. This commissioner must have been a Republican as you forgot to mention the ruling of your crazy state auditor last spring when he decided that the Woodmen order could not accept another member in the state because the authorities of the state of Illinois refused to allow a couple of wild cat companies that were organized in Nebraska and had no standing any place, to do business in their state. But no one was scared, and so it will be now, at the next visit of the fool killer all will come right as it did with your auditor.

If holding the Philippines is such a grave crime as Mr. Bryan would have you believe it is why did he resign his commission as colonel of the Second Nebraska and go to Washington to lobby for the ratification of the Paris treaty. Seventeen democrats voted for ratification and the measure passed by one vote, showing that Mr. Bryan's influence was the power that carried the measure. Did he do this for the purpose of making an issue for his fall campaign or was he honest in his endeavors? If he was honest in what he did then and it was right to take possession of those islands then why does he oppose keeping them now? There is no new evidence discovered why it should be wrong now if it was right then and we believe the American people will impress this fact upon Mr. Bryan's mind very forcibly in November.

A Word to Mothers. Mothers of children affected with croup or a severe cold need not hesitate to administer Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It contains no opiate nor narcotic is in any form and may be given as readily to the babe as to an adult. The great success that has attended its use in the treatment of croup and croup has won for it the approval and praise it has received throughout the United States and in many foreign lands. Indications That It Will Give Its Vote to McKinley.

Public Sentiment Steadily Changing. Abuse of Executive Authority.

Omaha, Sept. 19.—At a pace that evinces deliberation and sober thought Nebraska is making its way toward the Republican column.

It is no idle assertion to say that at this very time Nebraska is a doubtful state, with sentiment steadily changing in favor of the Republicans, in that degree as to justify the assertion that it will give its electoral vote to McKinley.

The effort of the fusion campaign managers to stem the tide by trying to meet the logic of events with bugaboos and vagaries is falling far short of accomplishing its purpose.

In the first place, the people of Nebraska are too intelligent to be duped in any such way. They know that the cry of "imperialism" and "militarism" is only a scheme to divert attention from the real issues. They know that it is intended for no other purpose than to keep them from thinking of the terrible distress of four years ago, and from comparing the philosophy and prophecy of the "boy orator" in 1896, as to what terrible things would happen if McKinley was elected, with what really has happened. Knowing this, the people are turning their backs upon bugaboos and are giving preference upon bugaboos and their domestic affairs careful consideration.

The people are asking themselves what guarantee have they, if Bryan is elected, that the terrible industrial and commercial distress of four years ago will not return?

They are asking themselves why they should desert a wise leader and sound policy—a policy that has brought good prices for all farm products, that has closed the free soup house and opened the factories to ten million laboring people—for an unwise leader, and an unsound policy that, every time it has been tested and applied, has precipitated a financial and industrial crisis, has stifled the hand of labor and extinguished the fires in nearly every factory.

They are asking themselves why they should reject that which has been proven to be for their best interest for that which history proves to be weighted down with injury and danger.

There was a time when many of the people of Nebraska permitted others to think for them. They were too busy with their own personal affairs, or too confiding, to devote attention to political problems. For that reason many honestly believed in the vagaries of Bryan in 1896. They accepted what he said as gospel truth without stopping to consider for a moment.

It is different today. They have learned to the contrary in the school of experience. They have been taught to think for themselves, and, in doing this, they have discovered to what extent their confidence has been imposed upon. They have discovered that not one of Bryan's predictions of 1896 has come true. That he was wrong in each and every instance. He told them McKinley's election would visit upon the country inconceivable disaster. He told them that just so sure as McKinley was elected this country would be visited by such suffering and distress as it had never known.

Results have demonstrated that this, to say the least, was a vicious and shameful imposition on public credulity.

NOTHING TO GAIN.

The people of Nebraska know by this time that they have nothing to gain by voting for the Bryan electoral ticket. They know full well that established policies of government are in such close sympathy with industrial conditions that they cannot be disturbed without causing unrest, and they know further, that to substitute policies that are a tax on enterprise and energy for policies that are stimulative means to do that which sober reason holds to be inimical to the public weal.

It is vastly more important to the voters of Nebraska that there shall be good markets and good prices for farm products, that labor shall be employed, that the money of the nation shall be free from spurious contamination and shall be the very best, that money may be had at a low rate of interest as a stimulant of industry and as a relief to the debtor, than that the Philippines shall be turned over to Aguinaldo's tribal government.

Concerned as all patriotic Americans are in the proper solution of the Philippine problem, the first and foremost thing to be considered is the welfare of the American people at home, especially since the McKinley administration has demonstrated its ability and intention to adjudicate the Philippine question along that line most consistent with American customs and traditions.

There is no danger, as regards the Philippines, that problem will be properly solved. The great danger that confronts the American people is free trade, spurious money and consequent low prices, idle labor and hard times.

Conservation, judiciously pressed upon us when we are suffering under affliction, only serves to increase our pain and to render our relief more painful.

We know of no worse situation than to be in a hurry and find our path obstructed by some one who is very slow. —Acheson Globe.
