AT EAST LAVINGTON.

The Grave of Cardinal Manning's Wife Is Neglected.

Some interesting passages in the early life of Cardinal Manning are recalled by a writer in the Sunday Strand. We are told that to the end of his life Manning had flowers sent to him every spring and summer from a little village in Sussex—East Lavington by name. "Why (asks the writer) should the great cardinal receive flowers from this little place? The answer lies in the fact that from the early summer of 1833 to the end of 1850 he was rector of the parish, and that for four of these years (1833-37) he enjoyed a married life there so perfectly happy that from the day his wife died down to that upon which he himself folded his hands and closed his eyes for the last time on earth, he could never even trust himself to breathe her name to a living soul." Mrs. Manning was Caroline, the third of the four daughters of the Rev. John Sargent. One of her sisters was wife of the Rev. Samuel Wilberforce, afterwards the well-known bishop. This grave is neglected today. It is almost, the writer says, the only one in the little churchyard that has neither stone nor cross upon it, and its top is fast mouldering away: "It was Manning's wish that it should be so. Late in life he told his friend and biographer—the late Edmund Purcell—that he had received a letter from the churchwardens announcing that the grave was falling into decay, and asking for instructions as to putting it and keeping it in order. His reply was: 'It is best so. Let it be. Time effaces all things.' But he was mistaken. Time had not effaced, nor will it efface, the memory of that brief idyll." The house at Lavington—which was Manning's home—is now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Wilberforce and their family. It was Mrs. Wilberforce who, in old age, sent the cardinal day by day flowers from Lavington.

GIRLS FELL VICTIMS.

A Romance of the Plague in Perthshire, Scotland.

The last time the plague visited Glasgow with excessive virulence was in August, 1645. Then, on the 16th of that month, the Marquis of Montrose, who fought under the standard of Charles I., signally defeated the Covenanters under Gen. Baillie at Kilsyth. Thereupon the provost and corporation of the pestilence stricken city sent envoys with a message of congratulation to the marquis and a warm invitation to him and his soldiers to partake of Glasgow's hospitality. Montrose, at the head of his troops, entered the city and was sumptuously entertained, but would not stay on account of the epidemic. However, as a matter of business, apart from sentiment, he levied a heavy tax for supplies upon his Glaswegian hosts, to their huge disgust. A moment of a pathetic romance connected with the 1645 plague visitation in Scotland is a railed enclosure on the bank of the Almond, in the parish of Methven, Perthshire. It marks the spot where lie interred the hapless "Bessie Bell and Mary Gray," famed in Scotch song. Daughters respectively of the laird of Kinvaid and the laird of Lynedoch, the maidens were much attached to each other, and when they heard of the ravages of the plague they retired to a bower near the Almond and dwelt in perfect seclusion. The fair recluses, however, had their place of retreat discovered by a young man of their acquaintance, who supplied the twain with provisions. He caught the plague himself, unluckily, and communicated infection to Bessie and Mary, to which the girls fell victims. According to the stern custom of the time their bodies were not allowed interment in Methven kirkyard, so they were buried together in a spot contiguous to the bower.—The London Chronicle.

Good Cause of Action.

In Louisiana, if a creditor finds that his debtor intends to leave the state and stay away he can, without further bothering, get out an attachment and seize whatever property the unfortunate may have, says the Chicago Journal. A creditor, who was one of Col. Proudfoot's clients, performed this operation one morning and the debtor was so hurt about it that he fell dead. The debtor's heirs went to law later and claimed the property on the grounds that the death made the seizure invalid. "The law in this case, gentlemen, is very clear," said the colonel, when his chance came. "It says that if a man is about to leave the state permanently his property may be seized. If our late lamented friend was not about to leave the state permanently I never want to handle another case."

Syria's First Lunatic Asylum.

There has recently been opened on one of the lower slopes of Mount Lebanon, Syria, near the road from Beirut to Damascus, a newly built hospital for the insane. Its founder is Mr. Theophilus Waldmeier, a veteran missionary in Abyssinia and Syria. A considerable area of land and gardens for the growth of wheat, olives and other fruit surrounds the buildings. It is the first organized lunatic asylum in Syria, where the need for such institutions is said to be great.

A NARROW ESCAPE.
A GRATEFUL WOMAN.

MRS. F. J. LYNCH, GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

Mrs. F. J. Lynch, 324 South Division street, Grand Rapids, Mich., writes The Peruna Medicine Company, Columbus, Ohio:

Gentlemen:—I earnestly recommend Peruna to any suffering women as it cures quickly. I had a most persistent cough which nothing seemed to cure. Two bottles of Peruna did more for me than all the doctors seemed to do. In a couple of weeks I found myself in excellent health, and have been enjoying it ever since. Hence I look on Peruna as a true friend to women.

MRS. F. J. LYNCH.

Like the plague-stricken Egyptians a cry of distress has gone out from every household, and the mildew of woe clings to every hearthstone. Catarrh in some form, catarrh in some stage lurks as an enemy in the slightest cough or cold and finishes its fiendish work in heart disease and consumption. No tissue, function, or organ of the body escapes its ravages; muscles wither, nerves shatter, and secretions dry up under its blighting presence. So stubborn and difficult of cure is this disease that to invent a remedy to cure chronic catarrh has been the ambition of the greatest minds in all ages. Is it therefore any wonder that the vast multitude of people who have been cured of chronic catarrh by Peruna are so lavish in their praise of this remedy? That the discovery of Peruna has made the cure of catarrh a practical certainty is not only the testimony of the people, but many medical men declare it to be true. As a drug store in this age of the world is incomplete without Peruna, it can be obtained anywhere with directions for use. A complete guide for the prevention and cure of catarrh and all diseases of winter, sent free by The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Chronic Coughs and Colds Are Catarrhal Diseases.

Catarrh is the Continual Scourge of Christendom.

Catarrh hovers ominously over every city, and nestles treacherously in every hamlet. It flies with vampire wings from country to country and casts a black shadow of despair over all lands. Its stealthy approach and its lingering stay makes it a dread to the physician and a pest to the patient. It changes the merry laugh of childhood to the wheezy breathing of hood, and the song of the blushing maiden to the hollow cough of consumption. In its withering grasp the rounded form of the fond wife and mother becomes gaunt and spectral, and the healthy flush of manhood turns to the sallow, haggard visage of the invalid. Cough takes the place of conversation, speech gives way to spitting, the repulsive odors of chronic catarrh poison the kiss of the fondest lovers, and thickened membranes bedim sight, impair hearing and destroy taste.

THE OPEN-TOP CAR CHILLITLI.

The very newest thing in railway car architecture is a passenger car for steam roads, built very much on the lines of the summer trolley car, except that this car can open up the top as well as the sides. The car was built by the Pullman Company for the American Tourist Association, of Chicago, and was intended as an observation car in the great canons of mountainous mountains could be enjoyed to the fullest extent would be from a car without sides or top. The following season a coal, or gondola car, with board seats, was attached to the American Tourist Association train, and every traveler on that train climbed into it. Afterwards the Mexican government prohibited the carrying passengers in freight cars, and the coal

Mexico. The car was invented by Beau Campbell, the Mexican traveler, and came about as follows: Some years ago when Mr. Campbell was traveling through the great Tamoco Canon, he had a seat on the side of the car next to the mountain, the rocks of the cliff were within two feet of the window, and of course he could get not even a glimpse of the canon, as all the windows on the other side of the car were taken up by the occupants of the adjoining seats. Determined to view the magnificence of the canon, Mr. Campbell returned to Las Canoas, and through the courtesy of railway officials made the world-famous ride on board what the superintendent called his "trolley," an open car with seats for eight persons, and with this ride came the idea that the only way the magnificence of Mexico's car had to go. Then the building of a passenger car without a top was decided on, and the Chillitli came in evolution from a work car to the coal car, and to the consummation of itself. The Chillitli became famous, and from an observation car went on duty as a pavilion by the sea, and a roof garden, for it is electric lighted, and has an outfit of Chinese lanterns. But the favorite is also remembered as a dining car of the tropics, attached to a special train, that, during meal hours, could stand still or run just fast enough to secure a breeze, and not raise a dust. The Chillitli is the largest observation or dining car ever built. There are seats (reversible as in a coach) for 63 people, and when the tables are in place 56 persons may sit down to dinner.
