A newspaper whose columns overflow with advertisements of business men, has more influence in attracting attention to build up a town than any other agency that can be employed. Capital and labor go where there is an entertaining community. No power on earth is as strong to build up a town as a paper well patronized and its power should be appreciated. The man who overlooks his town paper injures himself by injuring his town and his townmen.—Wansmaker.

Robert Mathew is spending his vacation at home and is employing his spare time in drawing, on a large scale, a complete map of Sherman County for use in his father's office. Robert is a young man of more than ordinary ability for one at his age, and his work on this map is a masterpiece and shows what a young man with energy and perseverance can accomplish when he sets about it with a determined effort to succeed. We understand that he is soon to resume his studies again at the University at Lincoln.

While Mrs. J. N. Fisher was returning to her home last Tuesday afternoon from Loup City the team became unmanagable and she was seriously hurt. She had driven to Loup City to bring her father Geo. Ware to take the noon train for his home at St Paul and after doing some trading started for home. The horses were a spirited span of blacks. But it was stated that she arrived home safe, drove into the yard and alighted from the carriage. The men were in the field at work and she unhitched some of the traces when the head strong animals started for the watering trough. She was knocked down and the vehicle, in some way struck or passed over her injuring her back and otherwise hurting her. The team in the excitement ran away and did a great deal of damage to the carriage. Mrs. Fisher lay unconscious for some time and was found towards evening by a lady neighbor, Mrs. Graach. It was several hours before she gained consciousness sufficient to tell how the accident happened and it was at first feared that she would not recover, there being evidence of internal injuries sustained. However her physician has, at this writing, hopes of her recovery. Her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ware, at St. Paul were notified by telephone and came up on the noon train Wednesday. A later report as we go to press states that Mrs. Fisher is resting easier and is much better.
