

SOME CLIPPINGS

BROKE HIS NOSE

Mr. E. L. Stacy; head butter maker at the Ravenna Creamery, sustained a serious and painful injury, Monday morning, while engaged in the ordinary safe and peaceful occupation of splitting kindling wood. He was in the act of breaking up boards with a one-inch iron pipe, two or three feet in length. Midway of the pipe was a joint, which suddenly gave way and the loose end flew up and struck him in the face with force sufficient to break the bridge of his nose.—Ravenna News.

HE DIPPED HIS PEN

The country editor often has to earn his potatoes and cabbages, but never more than when there is a marriage in the household of one of his subscribers. The editor of the West Point (Miss.) Times, dipped his pen in ordinary ink to write what follows (what might have happened had his pious wish been fulfilled is hard to imagine.)

"Would that my pen had been plucked from some beautiful bird of paradise and dipped in the eyes of a rainbow, that I might fittingly describe the beautiful marriage scene enacted at the residence of Mrs. E. V. Braswell, No. 401 St. Anthony street Mobile, Ala., on the evening of February 23. Just as the day god, clothed in majesty sublime, had withdrawn his galaxy of quivering, golden beams from all the earth and wafted a good night kiss to the young evening, who was fast approaching with her cloudless brow mounted by a crown of jeweled stars—it was then that the cords of confidence, hope and love, binding the hearts of Hiram J. Bruister and Mary Elizabeth Braswell were indelibly traced upon the scroll of life and the sacred seal of holy matrimony placed thereon."

AN INDIANA MATINEE

W. F. Mason hands us the following clipping from his old home paper at Cannelton, Indiana, The Enquirer, which, while not of a news nature, is about as good paragraphing on the subject as one could find to read of a satirical kind. It won't hurt you to read it and it is a pretty good representation of the wit and brains of American paragraphers:

Last Sunday afternoon in Hawesville, Alfred Lander and Rud Slaughter, two gentlemen with complexions the color of Henry Schlemmer's chocolate drops, got tangled up in a little difficulty that put Lander to the bad for awhile. It is not known here whether the trouble arose over a seven on an eleven, but it came to pass just the same. Slaughter drew his lead depository from the bosom pocket of his trousers and transferred four shares of preferred stock into Lander's sub-treasury. Three of the four were accepted and one rejected, which left Lander looking like the rays of a morning sun playing leap frog with the man in the moon. The doctors have located the missing mine product in Lander's anatomy and returned a verdict that his chances to sell his vote this fall were equal to Slaughter's who is tied up in the Hawesville jail for "shoving the queer." The job of perforation on Lander is an good as could have been expected considering the time in which Slaughter had to act. The sunshine now peeps through Lander in three places and if he is permitted to make his home in Hawesville for awhile longer the water works plant over there will use him for a strainer on the suction pipe at the pump house. The "shooter" and the "shotat" have been serious propositions for Hawesville for a long time and both have had it coming to them for a period dating through the ages of several annual calendars.

Lawsuits in India

They have a way of settling law suits in India that it would be well to copy here, according to the Springfield Republican. When a dispute arises over the ownership of land, two holes are dug near together and the two opposing lawyers nicely planted up to their waists. The first one to become bitten by a bug or becomes so exhausted that he has to be exhumed loses the case for his client. This does away with unnecessary talking, and adds an interesting element of chance to the game.—Ex.

A Comparison

The following clipping is taken from one of our exchanges who says that the author is unknown:

The difference between an editor and a doctor is that if an editor makes a mistake he has to apologize for it, but if a doctor makes one he buries it. If the editor makes one there is a lawsuit, swearing and a smell of sulphur, but if the doctor makes one there is a funeral, cut flowers and the smell of varnish. The doctor can use a word a yard long without knowing what it means but if the editor uses it he has to spell it. If the doctor goes to see another man's wife he gargles for the visit, but if the editor goes to see another man's wife he gets a charge of books. Any old medical college can make a doctor, but can't make an editor. He has to be born. When a doctor gets drunk it's a case of overcome by heat, and if he dies it is heart trouble; when an editor gets drunk it's a case of too much booze, and if he dies it's a case of delirium tremens.

Warning to Young Girls

The following timely warning is sent out to the young girls over the country by the St. Louis Advocate with a request to the country publishers to give the same publicity:

"We would be glad to impress upon our brothers of the country press the great dangers that lie in wait for the multitude of young girls that are flocking to St. Louis, and notably at this time. The country press is a tremendous power for good and if they could keep this matter before their readers, constantly warning all as to the open door to ruin, many might be saved who else were lost. The gateway to St. Louis is the great union depot which is beset with a thousand snares for unwary feet. Any young girl who comes through the gates into the midway is at once spotted, and if it be possible the snare will so be spread in her path that she cannot escape. No girl should come here unless absolutely certain as to her course. The many tempting advertisements are often mere dates for ignorance and innocence. And if she comes to the city ready to enter the first carriage whose driver proposes to take her to a good cheap boarding place, or to accept the first situation offered where "no experience is required" she may as well bid adieu to innocence and hope when she leaves her home. And as a matter of course, the young man is almost equally exposed as far as moral or even physical safety is concerned. If the country papers will keep these things before their readers they will serve God and humanity."

For Old Times' Sake.

For the sake of the dear old times, dear, let us meet as we used to do; Let us wander across the meadows, Where the skies are always blue; Let us meet in the soft sweet twilight To the sound of evening chimes, Let us talk and sigh as we used to, For the sake of the good old times.

For the sake of the dear old times, dear, let us wander away and away; Let us count not the hours fleeting, But let love have all time in its sway; Let us meet where the birds are singing, Where nature whispers its rhymes, And where all the world is music— For the sake of the good old times.

For the sake of the dear old times, dear, let me tell the old story to you, The same that I'm always telling, The same that will ever be true; Come give me the same sweet answer In a voice like those silvery chimes That down in my dear heart echo, For the sake of the good old times.—Baltimore American.

A Case of Jolly.

Mrs. Smiles—I'm afraid you only know the worst side of my husband. Mr. Giles—Perhaps I did—until I met you. Mrs. Smiles—What am I to infer from that? Mr. Giles—Oh, now I know his better half.

That we recommend to each county convention that in the election of delegates to the state convention they give said subject fair consideration:

It is recommended that no proxies be allowed in said convention, but that the delegates present thereat be authorized to cast the full vote of the county represented by them.

It is also recommended and strongly urged that all counties shall complete their county organizations by selecting their county committees and the officers thereof prior to the date of the holding of said state convention.

The latest in explosives, according to Metal Industry, is powdered aluminum mixed with nitrate of ammonia and put upon the market under the name of "ammonal." How to Overcome Fear.

In overcoming your various fears, follow each one out to its logical conclusion thus, and convince yourself that at the present moment the things you fear do not exist save in your imagination. Whether they ever come to pass in the future or not, your fear is a waste of time, energy and actual bodily and mental strength. Quit worrying just as you would quit eating or drinking something you felt sure had caused you pain in the past.

Germ Diseases Of Animals

Now used throughout the United States for the prevention and cure of hog cholera, swine plague, corn stalk disease, pink eye, foot and mouth diseases etc. A sure remover of worms in animals. The cheapest and best lice killer on the market.

National Medical Co.—Gentlemen: This is to certify that I have used Liquid Koal for Erysipelas in cattle and believe it to be a cure for this disease from the experiments I have made, but believe it ought to be used when the animal is first taken with the disease. And for a lice killer it can't be beat by anything I know of. Yours respectfully, W. L. LITTLE.

York, Neb., June 24, 1903. Henry Scheele, Jr., lost four head of cattle. They had black leg. A calf that cost him $100 had it and the boy gave it up. We asked him to try Liquid Koal. He got a quart, gave three doses and the calf is well. That may sound fishy but it is worth investigating. Henry lives six miles west of York and you can talk to him. Liquid Koal is made by the National Medical Co. of York.—The Teller.
