Pleasant Diocesan Visits.

Rev. Peter Rowe is the Episcopal bishop of Alaska. His visits to his diocese are by no means pleasure outings. During his last trip in March he and his two companions wandered from the trail and were without food practically for three days. The route of the bishop's visitation covered a distance of 500 miles through an unpeopled region. The bishop's face was badly frozen and it became necessary before reaching a settlement to kill some of the sledge dogs so as to conserve the food supply. The Episcopal development of Alaska, like that of
