Robert Mathew returned to his studies at the State University last Friday. Robert stands well up in his classes, and we predict he will go through the University and graduate with high honors.

Lon Zink is using a pair of crutches since his return from Lincoln where he took his nephew last week. It seems that the boy became alarmed while enroute over supposed enemies after him, and Lon received a severely sprained knee in trying to quiet him.

Dr. Davis & Farnsworth of Grand Island, Neb., are prepared to treat all forms of chronic diseases, such as Rheumatism, Stomach disorders, Tumors, Cancers, Paralysis, Kidney diseases, etc. The doctors use, besides medicine and surgery, the x-ray, hot air baths, electricity and massage.

Carefully examines eyes and fitting lenses. Changes whenever needed. Those needing his care should call and him. The children should be sent to him, if eyes are defective.

W. H. Kennedy the jolliest old bachelor in the west, or anywhere else in this wide, wide world, for that matter, returned to Loup City last Thursday evening, after a summer's absence in Ohio and other states. We are sorry to learn, however, that he will be with us only for a short time, as he has bought a farm at his old haunts, near Columbus, McKinley state, and expects to return there to live. That's a mean Irish trick the colonel has played in so doing.

Work on the Hansen & Fletcher and Draper Brothers brick block has begun in earnest. The bank part will be 23x100 feet, two stories high, the lower story for the bank proper, and the upper for offices. Draper Brothers will have 27 feet frontage on Main street by 100 feet back. They had intended also building two stories, the Odd Fellows taking the upper story, but their constitution being prohibitive unless owning the location whereon the building may be situated, they could not receive a dispensation, hence the Messrs. Draper will make their building only one story for the present.

A letter from Henry Elmer dated at Dubois, Wyo., Sept. 10 says: "We are now within 20 miles off our hunting grounds. This town is within 100 miles of Thermopolis. I hope when I come back I can say I have killed an elk. I tell you crossing the Bad Lands is something terrible, and all I care for is to go back over that road once more. This will be the last letter till I start home again. The mountains are heavily covered with snow. My health is good and I feel a hundred times stronger." Under date of Sept. 18th, he writes further: "We are camping on the north fork of Wind River. The finest fishing you ever saw. Trout three times a day. We have joined a party of half-blood Indians, who are out with fifteen pack ponies after their winter meat. They are a nice lot of fellows and will give us our choice of elk heads the meat being all they want. We are going after elk on the 15th. We hunt off our horses. We are sure of elk and antelopes also. Antelope up here run 300 in a bunch."

The editor's wife returns thanks to several Loup city ladies for delightful rides in their carriages and surreys, the latest being Mrs. H. M. Mathew and Mrs. C. C. Cooper. In there fine tours.

An old man, named Hans Rasmussen, aged 68 years, committed suicide by hanging himself at his home in Dannebrog, Monday morning of this week. Despondency over continued ill health was supposed to be the cause.

Please take notice that all members of the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic are requested to be present at their hall Saturday, Sept. 24th, as there is business of importance to be transacted. Meet at 2:30 sharp.

Our new real estate man H. M. Smith, has secured office accommodations with Judge Wall. He is a hustler and judging from his energetic way of doing things he is going to make a success in the real estate business.

Logan Hillegas, employed at the Round Front barn, got too near the rear anatomy of a bronco, Sunday, and the force of the contact rendered him hors(e) du combat. The broncs seem to have it in for Happy Hooligan.

A. W. Throckmorton writes to change the address of his paper from Ericson to the new postoffice, Homestead, in Greeley county. A. W. closes his request with "Rah for the G. O. P. (God's Own People) and for Joe Pedler." That's what we are doing.

Next Sunday the Methodists dedicate their new church building at Wiggle Creek, and quite a number of our people expect to attend the ceremony. Services will be held at 11 a. m. and at 2:30 p. m. Morning services will be followed by baptismal service and reception of members. Dedicationary address in the afternoon by Elder Crane followed by dedication of church. All invited and take lunches along.

Next Sunday is Rev. Madely's last Sunday here before conference, and may be the closing of the last year of his labors among us. If so, it will be too bad, as he has proven one of the brainiest preachers we ever heard, as well as one of the best orators. If we were one of the head-push of the Methodist church, we would have his return, if we had to interview the bishop with a shotgun as a persuader, and double the salary, for he is well worth it, and then some.

Dr. S. A. Allen our popular dentist, expects to leave for Chicago the last of the week, to perfect himself in his chosen profession in the dental department of the Northwestern University. He will continue his studies until spring, when he will return and resume his profession. Dr. Allen is one of the rising young dentists in the state and believes in up-to-date methods in the practice of his profession, and has had splendid success during his stay among us. We are glad to announce the doctor's intention of returning here in the spring. We wish him success in his studies.

There is one traveling man who will cancel future visits to Loup City at least for a season. He might have been innocent and guileless, but that will never save him for "butting in." The tragic tale unfolds in all its hideousness as follows. He was standing in a Model restaurant in our city, when a prominent Belle, accompanied by a growing young man entered and engaged the urbane front-row proprietor in a conversation relating to a long felt want—supper time. As they left the food dispensary, the t. m. inquired if the couple were husband and wife, with a woe-begone-widower look in his pale pink eyes. "I should say not," was the response. "Of course not," returned the p. p. eye t. m. "I should have known better; any one could see she was the kid's mother." [Slow curtain.

The NORTHWESTERN acknowledges pleasant calls, during the Baptist association meeting, from Reverends D. S. Hulbert of Taylor, and T. S. Smith state evangelist, with headquarters at Bridgeport.

Several loads of Loup City people picnicked at the river, Sunday. One of the pleasant pastimes, we learn, was wading in the river, which may account for the rarified atmosphere about the city Monday.

While taking a boat ride on the river, Sunday, two Loup Cityites were discussing the fact of a boat always overturning to the right, when suddenly the theory and occupants were upset to the left and left in some four feet of thoroughly leavened and not altogether lovely Loup river mud and moisture. The solution solved the question and the discussion was not resumed. It was a Starr performance.

While driving at a brisk trot, Sunday afternoon, with Lawyers Mathew and Starr in the buggy, Mr. Mathew's fine buggy team became disengaged from the vehicle by the tugs getting loosed, the tongue dropping and breaking, overturning the buggy, throwing both occupants violently to the ground, Mr. Starr underneath, with Mr. Mathew on top. While Mr. Mathew escaped uninjured, Mr. Starr was quite severely bruised about the hips, necessitating the use of crutches. However, the meteoric desecency of that particular Starr is not permanent. No damage was done the team which was soon caught. Later, we learn that with the exception that the tugs did not become unhitched until after the tongue fell and broke, that Starr fell on Mathew and the buggy on Starr, and a few other little inaccuracies, the first report is substantially correct, but we couldn't tear the item to pieces for such minor corrections. We have, however, killed the reporter.

Does advertising pay has been much discussed in our city of late, pro and con; and the con by at least two married men. A few days since, this office turned out some circulars of an advertising nature for a mercantile firm, which, together with a necessary article for a lady's toilet, were enclosed in bulky envelopes, and addressed to the sex for whom were most appropriate. These envelopes when taken from the postoffice developed so much latent curiosity among the assembled male bipeds that shredded envelopes were soon numerous about them and disclosed the contents to their view, which mental calculation not being able to evolve how one could cover two resolved into a game of give away and "jelling" until two of the aforesaid were left without either a right or left to be mated and the wrath of their mates to be appeased later, proving games of chance are often two-edged swords, cutting both ways. It was another Starr performance, in which John's son also participated. But we draw the curtain.

Choicest hams at Reynold's.

Rev. Kennedy is on the sick list.

J. O. Bayne, brother of our Jim, was up from Aurora this week.

Reynold's Market is the best place in this section of the country for good, wholesome meats—beef, pork, mutton, veal—everything of the best.

County Attorney Pedler went out to Colorado last week to visit his wife and daughter, who are sojourning there on account of the latter's health.

Wanted.—A man to work on my stock farm near Loup City. German preferred. Steady employment to right man.

LAWRENCE SMITH.

The Sherman county Sunday school convention will meet at Litchfield, about the 18th of October next. Prominent workers will be in attendance.

The Baptists are holding revival services, commencing this week Monday evening, and much interest is manifest. Mrs. Adair, a lady evangelist is in charge.

W. F. Mason and wife and Miss Edna Minshul returned home Monday evening. Mr. Mason has been absent for two months and says it good to be home again.

Dr. W. L. Marcy left this morning for a ten days' visit to Chicago and Sterling, Ill., thence to St. Louis to attend the exposition. He is accompanied by his little son, Charley.

A bevy of high school girls stated to us last Saturday evening that they liked their new principal ever so well. They say he is very strict, but very kind. Two good qualities in the school room.

Dave Depew returned from Arcadia Monday. He brought into this office samples of apples from the Peter's farm, 12 miles northwest of Loup City that beat anything we have seen so far this year. They are something hard to excel.

H. M. Hughes of Elm township was in the city last Friday, interviewing Dr. Marcy over a capricious molar and meeting his friends. He is a strong Roosevelt man and a reader of the NORTHWESTERN for the future and is all right.

N. B. Thompson brought to this office, yesterday, samples of so-called Egyptian corn, the ears being 13 inches in length, the kernels of dark blue color and double the size of ordinary corn. Mr. Thompson says they make the finest of stock food.

Surveyor Wulf is doing good work here of late fixing up the proper grades of the streets, and finding out where correct lines are generally. However correct he may be, it works a hardship on those whose buildings are not on exact lines. The dirt from the excavation for the new bank block is being hauled out on the streets to help bring them up to what they should be.

W. R. Mellor and wife returned from their visit to Iowa and St. Louis, Monday evening. Mr. Mellor feels especially good over the splendid outcome of the State Fair. He has received word from the secretary that the late exposition was a record breaker, having more paid admissions than any year preceding, even the great record of 1892. The receipts are $14,662.20. The Mellor administration has proven a great success.

Poet's Pet Goose.
Lord Byron at one time was deeply attached to a pet goose. He had bought the bird to fatten up for his New Year's dinner. In the meantime the poet and the bird became so mutually attached that he could not kill it. Instead, he bought another for his dinner and had the pet goose swung in a cage under his carriage when he traveled.

Baptist Association Meeting.
The Grand Island Association of Baptist churches met with the Loup City church Sept. 13, 14 and 15, closing too late to be reported last week.

About thirty delegates and visitors were in attendance, among them some of the prominent ministers of the state.

On Tuesday, evening, at the opening of the session, the Baptist house of worship was filled to listen to Rev. C. J. Pope and President Geo. Sutherland of Grand Island.

Rev. Pope gave way to Mrs. C. J. Adair, a very forceful speaker, well known to Loup City people. She gave a telling interpretation of the parable of the unjust steward.

Dr. Sutherland in his address showed why Christian education is necessary. He declared that Grand Island college is the best place to secure an education in the state. As proof, he cited the winning of the Oxford Cecil Rhode's scholarship of $4,500 by a Grand Island student. The unexcelled instructors of this college make it possible and probable that the grand prize will be won by this school for many years to come.

Among the many good things of Wednesday's session were fine addresses by Rev. L. C. H. Biggs, Sunday school missionary, and Rev. A. E. Carson, a foreign missionary, temporarily pastor at Kearney.

In the afternoon an address on foreign missions was given by Mrs. Sophia Titterton, telling of the heroic endeavor of her father, a missionary stationed on the Behnnapoetra, a thousand miles from the mouth of the river, which was her birthplace.

She was followed by Mrs. Carson, who will soon return to Burmah. She showed by her touching and feeling address that her heart is among the savage people of her mission station even now.

In the evening, Rev. C. W. Brinstad, state missionary, gave an address on "Evangelism in Nebraska."

Among other good things he showed what a New Testament church in Nebraska means—an independent body of Christians in any locality who are implicitly following the New Testament standard, with full-time services, and one which would, if every other church in the world were blotted out, reproduce the denomination.

He was followed by a rousing evangelistic sermon by Rev. A. E. Carson.

The closing session Thursday forenoon was very interesting. Rev. C. J. Pope delivered his postponed annual sermon; Judge Angier gave an address on the teacher's preparation for Sunday school work, and Mrs. Titterton on the relation of junior work to the Sunday school, followed by an open discussion of Christian giving, from which all present concluded that it was easier to supply the money demands of the church of Christ than to supply the money demands of the lusts of the world and the pride of life.

Those present, in departing for their homes, declared this to have been the best association they ever attended.

Look for the name on the leg, "ROUND OAK." It is the stove you have always heard about. We will be pleased to explain it fully. Respt. yours,
