IN FORTY-EIGHT HOURS PE-RU-NA CURED HIM.

Cold Affected Head and Throat—Attack Was Severe.

Chas. W. Bowman, 1st Lieut. and Adjt. 4th M. S. M. Cav. Vols., writes from Lanham, Md., as follows:

"I have been particularly benefited by its use for colds in the head and throat. I have been able to fully cure myself of a most severe attack in forty-eight hours by its use according to directions. I use it as a preventive whenever threatened with an attack."

"Members of my family also use it for like ailments. We are recommending it to our friends."—C. W. Bowman.

Pe-ru-na Contains No Narcotics.

One reason why Peru-na has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit.

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called "Laxative Tea" or "Herb Drink."

NATURE'S ESSENCE.

Extracted From Forest Plants

Nature's laws are perfect if we obey them, but disease follows disobedience. Go straight to nature for the cure, to the forest; there are mysteries here that we can fathom for you. Take the bark of the wild-cherry tree, the root of man-drake, stone root, queen's root, bloodroot and golden seal, make a scientific, non-alcoholic extract of them with just the right proportions and you have Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It took Dr. Pierce, with the assistance of two learned chemists, eight years of hard work experimenting to make this vegetable extract and alternative of the greatest efficiency.

Just the sort of spring remedy you need to make rich, red blood, and cure that lassitude and feeling of nerve exhaustion. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery bears the stamp of PUBLIC APPROVAL and has sold more largely in the past forty years than any other blood purifier and stomach tonic. The refreshing influence of this extract is like Nature's influence—the blood is bathed in the tonic which gives life to the blood—the vital fires of the body burn brighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which has accumu-

Plea for Light in Houses.

Another mistake is to have too little light. Why darkness and gloom should be sought in any portion of a house where people must live, has always been to be an unsolved problem. Mysterious corners are in order in a cobwebbed attic or an underground cellar, but they are seriously out of place in a pleasant room into which visitors are ushered, and which is supposed to be a rallying spot for the family.—Exchange.

Modern Hunting.

In shooting, as in other sports, though luxuriousness is now regarded by modern shooters as a prime necessity of enjoyment. They have their loading done for them, their birds are driven to them and in greatly increased numbers, their luncheon hours are devoted to the best in many courses of food and wine and they get home by motor as quickly as possible after shooting is over.—London Country Gentleman.

British Foxes Made Abroad.

The purchase of foreign fox cubs from importers of wild animals is at present with serious dangers. Wolves, jackals and such like creatures are easily mistaken in the cub stage, for foxes, and now and then have been sold in England as veritable children of Br'er Fox. This is the true explanation of those sensational outbreaks of sheep worrying during the past few years.—London Daily Mail.

Scattered Kindness.

There are lives of wearisome monotony which a word of kindness can relieve. There is suffering which words of sympathy can make more endurable, and often in the midst of wealth and luxury, there are those who listen and long in vain for some expression of disinterested kindness.—Frances Ridley Havergal.

First Trade in the World.

Two blacksmiths were once conversing as to which was the first trade in the world. One insisted that it must have been gardening, and quoted from Genesis: "Adam was put into the Garden of Eden to dress it and keep it." "Ay, John," retorted the other, "who had stood up for his own trade, 'but who made the spades?'"

Private Car Lines.

The railroads seem very willing to have the private car lines brought under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission. A railroad president is authority for the statement that lines are paid mileage, without discrimination, and the question of excessive charges is a matter for the shipper to settle with the car lines, so long as there is no law to govern their rates. Car mileage paying has been decided to be as legal as the payment of rental for property.

Produces Most Mica.

India is the leading producer of mica and supplies about one-half the world's requirements.—London Engineer.

lated during the winter. Doctor R. V. Pierce, the founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, and physician of large experience and practice, was the first to make up an alternative extract of roots, herbs and barks, with a PARTICLE OF ALCOHOL OR NARCOTICS, which purifies the blood and tones up the stomach and the entire system in Nature's own way. The Golden Medical Discovery is just the tissue builder and tonic you require when recovering from a hard cold, grip, or pneumonia. No matter how strong the constitution the stomach is apt to be "out of kilter" after a long, hard winter; in consequence the blood is disordered, for the stomach is the laboratory for the constant manufacture of blood. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strengthens the stomach—puts it in shape to make pure, rich blood—helps the liver and kidneys to expel the poisons from the body. If you take this NATURAL BLOOD PURIFIER AND TONIC you will assist your system in manufacturing each day a pint of rich, arterial blood, that is stimulating to the brain and nerves. The weak, nervous, run-down, debilitated condition which so many experience at this time of the year is usually the effect of poisons in the blood; it is often indicated by pimples or boils appearing on the skin, the face becomes "bluish" or "yellowish," Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all blood humors as well as being a tonic that makes one vigorous, strong and forceful. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery STANDS ALONE as the one medicine for stomach, liver and blood disorders that has the ingredients printed upon the wrapper of every bottle leaving the great laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y., which cures in nature's own way; not only does it STAND ALONE in respect to its ingredients but also as the only spring tonic and reconstructive which absolutely contains no alcohol.

"I was taken with a severe cough, weakness, my back 'glimmer' over the eyes, had a bad breath, and stomach was out of order," writes H. Gaddis, of 1423 South Tanna Avenue, Tacoma, Wash. "I felt sluggish, did not care for anything, had no life, was almost miserably more, appetite very poor. I read Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser and went right away and purchased a bottle of his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and before I had taken all of one bottle I felt better. If any doubt the truth of this testimonial they may write to me."

Why Oyama Is Commander

"I understand," said an American friend of mine, the other day, "that the brain of Oyama's camp is General Kodama and the commanders of the different army corps. Why was Oyama placed at the head of them all?" Field Marshal Oyama is placed at the head of the Manchurian army of Nippon because—(1) there is no one who could more fittingly represent the supreme commander of the Nippon army and navy, His Majesty the Emperor, than does Marquis Oyama; (2) because he is the Abraham, the patriarch, among the soldiers of Nippon, and because he is the heroic tradition of the Satsuma samurai in a general and living personality; (3) because to him all the chief commanders under him are as children of his own rearing; because to him are known all the strength and foibles of all his men; because among the living men fit to take the field there is none who can act as the master-prompter with quite as much grace, great good-hu-nor and intimate knowledge as does Oyama; because with the field marshal at the head of the Manchurian army the sad picture of the house divided against itself is an impossible spectacle; (4) because of the commander of the Nippon army in this war is expected a great thing—nothing less than the salvation of Nippon and the ultimate and permanent peace of the far East—and it was necessary that he be a man of broad horizon, a man who understands nice distinctions in the proportion of things, a man with a gift of modifying the suggestions of his officers to advantage without rejecting them outright; (5) because the field marshal is a singular man in that his calmness and temper seems to increase with the increase of difficulties and the sunshine of his good humor to brighten as the storm of reverses frowns more darkly all about him.—From "Oyama, the Victor of Mukden," by Adachi Kinnosuke, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews.

Experience in Diving Bell

How it feels to go down into the sea in a diving bell is described as follows by one who made the descent: "Putting on a pair of stockings, leggings and heavy boots, I jumped on to the seat when the huge bell—it weighed forty tons and was as large as a good sized room—was swung by the powerful crane over the staging, and gradually we were lowered into the sea. The sensation at first was very strange. As we entered the water, which was driven out of the bell by compressed air, there was a distinct buzzing round the ears and head. I was told to hold my nose and blow through it and I did so. Slowly we descended and at last reached the bottom, some fifty feet below the surface. The bell in question was seventeen feet long and ten feet wide. There were six of us in it. It was lighted by electricity and almost as bright as day. We first landed on a bed which the divers had previously leveled. The moment the bell touched the ground there was, perhaps, about two feet of water in it. This was quickly driven out by the compressed air, when we walked on comparatively dry ground with the sea all around us.

"By sending signals up to the man in charge of the great crane to which the bell is attached, the apparatus can be moved as its occupants wish. After inspecting the smooth bed on which the bottom blocks are laid, we went out to sea, and, landing on the bottom again, obtained some idea of the difficulties of digging a foundation on the floor of the ocean. It was ragged and rocky. Four men went in a bell under a pressure of 27 pounds to the square inch for three hours at a time, digging up the ground until it is perfectly smooth and level. The material is thrown into a large wooden box, swung in the center of the bell. "Climbing to our seats again, the man gave the necessary signals, and away we went, all under water, of course, until we landed once more upon the stones just placed in position. The electric lights in the bell are placed closed to the thick little glass windows. When we stayed on the bottom quietly for a little while the fish darted at the light, but at the noise of a shovel they quickly disappeared."

Real Lovers of Idleness

"Idleness is the most natural state," is the dictum of Jefferson De Angelis, the comedian, at present starring in "Fantana." "Your ordinary, everyday man will tolerate nearly everything in preference to hard work. Want me to give you an instance? "Three years ago I was one of a little party that went into the Adirondacks on a hunting and fishing expedition. There were only four of us, so we did not consider it worth while to employ a cook, agreeing that each in turn should have charge of the culinary department. When it came to allotting terms of service, someone suggested that the first chef should do the work until a complaint was made about his cooking, when the maker of the complaint should succeed him. The next kicker was to take the place of the second, and so on. A young fellow named Jones was assigned to 'create the part' and began his duties the day that camp was pitched. "Jones was a nice young chap and a willing worker at first, but as time passed and no aspirant appeared to relieve him he grew weary of the task.

His friends were having the time of their lives, while he was unable to get far away from pots and pans and smoky wood fires. Again and again he made deliberate attempts at spoiling the dinner, hoping that someone would complain, but the boys were quite satisfied to pay the penalty of eating bad food in return for exemption from preparing it. "At last, determined to be free, Jones mixed biscuits one afternoon and when they were ready to bake poured a pound of salt into the dough. The fellows got back to camp in due season and as they squatted around the fire one of them took a biscuit and bit a large piece out of it. The salt in it nearly choked him. He gagged and turned red in the face. As soon as he had regained his breath, he exclaimed: 'Gee whiz, that biscuit is salty!' Then, remembering that this statement, identified as a complaint, would make him the cook of the party, he added, hastily: 'But it's good! It's good! It's good!' He ate every scrap of the food and we other two martyrs followed suit."

Extol Deeds of Bravery

A Japanese newspaper prints the following incidents of the fighting before Port Arthur: "There was a brave sergeant in the investing army at the rear of Port Arthur. One night he fell asleep in front of the enemy's fort. At dawn suddenly noisy voices broke out around him. He started up at once and saw that he was surrounded and about to be captured by a company of the enemy. Yet he stood still and taking out an explosive shell from his pocket in an instant he hurled it with his full power into a crowd of the enemy. Smiling at them in their alarm, he went back into his own position with the speed of the wind. "One day a most severe battle was going on somewhere about Port Arthur. At its hottest moment a company of our brave soldiers were furiously rushing, over the dying and the dead, in the face of a pelting shower of death-dealing bullets, against the stubborn defenders posted in a semi-permanent fortification, when Sub-Lieutenant Ota saw a soldier following after him with high spirit, but quite empty handed. The officer, being astonished, called him by name and asked him what he had done with his gun. "At this the soldier looked foolish for a moment, but as soon as he looked at his right hand he exclaimed: 'Oh, my hand! Oh, my gun! My gun!' He had been utterly unconscious that his hand together with the rifle had been blown off some moments before by a shell from the enemy. The name of this ardent and memorable warrior is Bunzaemon Nishikawa, native of the province of Etchu."

His Monopoly Was Strict

At the sale in New York of the late Surrogate J. H. V. Arnold's collection of autographs, a lawyer said: "Do you see this autograph, the autograph of one of the richest men in the world? Well, Surrogate Arnold, in showing it to me, told me a story about its author. "The rich man, it seems, had been arguing with Mr. Arnold about monopolies—had been claiming that there were good and bad monopolies, and that those he was connected with were distinctly of the good and helpful sort. "Then he showed what a bad monopoly was. He showed the character of a bad monopolist.

"He said there was a young man in the South who had all the characteristics of a bad monopolist highly developed. This young man went, one summer, on a visit North. He sought out another young man on his return, and said impressively: "'Look-a-here, I understand that you took advantage of my absence from town last month to go callin' on Miss Henrietta Brown.' " 'You're mistaken,' the other young man answered. 'It is her sister, Miss Clarissa Brown, that I've been callin' on.' " 'Well, sir,' said the first, 'that makes no difference. I've got my eye on both them girls.'"

Song of the Southland

The south! the fair southland! The southland for me! The bloom-begemmed meadow The whispering tree, The land of the mockbird, And fruitage divine! Where each breath is as sweet And inspiring as wine! Where white ships of cloudland Rock idly above And spread their cool shadows O'er fields that they love! Where the blue morning-glories In catenets fall, And rose petals flutter And lilies are tall! The south! the fair southland! It slopes to the sun, And white-capped billows Laugh loud as they run

Their world-wide long race With grumble and roar, To throw themselves panting At last on its shore! Where boys are just boys, And girls are just girls; Not mamkin's roddy-dow But tumblers and laugh Who tumble and laugh And shriek loud in their glee, And are sweet, every one, As real babies can be! And lads are grown strait, And clean-minded and tall, And lassies are sweet, And are fair as their choral is a word-girdling theme, The south! Sing the south! With straw-beds sweet, As a kiss on the mouth! —Houston Post.

Either Loved or Loathed.
Red hair is either loved or loathed. Artists from Titian downwards express a preference for painting it; but, then, artists are uncertain guides as to human beauty. They have been known before now to admire cream-cheeked complexions, blousy hair and clothes which looked as if they had been made in a machine for chopping turnips and put on with a rake.—The Queen.

MOTHERHOOD

Actual Sterility in Women Is Very Rare—Healthy Mothers and Children Make Happy Homes.

Many women long for a child to bless their homes, but because of some debility or displacement of the female organs they are barren. Preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound more successfully than by any other medicine, because it gives tone and strength to the entire female organism, curing all displacements, absorption and inflammation.

A woman who is in good physical condition transmits to her children the blessings of a good constitution. Is not that an incentive to prepare for a healthy maternity?

If expectant mothers would fortify themselves with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for thirty years has sustained thousands of women in this condition, there would be a great decrease in miscarriages, in suffering, and in disappointments at birth.

The following letters to Mrs. Pinkham demonstrate the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in such cases.

Mrs. L. C. Glover, Vice-President of Milwaukee Business Women's Association, of 614 Grove Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham— "I was married for several years and no children blessed our home. The doctor said I had a complication of female troubles and I could not have any children unless I could be cured. For months I took his medicines, trying in vain for a cure, but at last my husband became disgusted and suggested that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; this I did, and I improved steadily in health, and in less than two years a beautiful child came to bless our home. Now we have something to live for, and all the credit is due to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Mrs. Mae P. Wharry, Secretary of the North Shore Oratorical Society, The Norman, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham— "I was married for five years and gave birth to two premature children. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me, and I am so glad I took it, for it changed me from a weak, nervous woman to a strong, happy and healthy one within seven months. Within two years a lovely little girl was born, which is the pride and joy of our household. Every day I bless Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for the light, health and happiness it brought to our home."

If any woman thinks she is sterile, or has doubts about her ability to carry a child to a mature birth, let her write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., whose advice is free to all expectant or would-be mothers. She has helped thousands of women through this anxious period.

Women suffering with irregular or painful menstruation, leucorrhoea, displacement, ulceration or inflammation of the womb, that bearing down feeling or ovarian trouble, backache, bloating or nervous prostration, should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound holds the record for the greatest number of actual cures of woman's ills, and accept no substitute.

Many Women Have Been Benefitted by Mrs. Pinkham's Advice and Medicine.

Truths that Strike Home

Your grocer is honest and—if he cares to do so—can tell you that he knows very little about the bulk coffee he sells you. How can he know, where it originally came from, how it was blended—or with what—or when roasted? If you buy your coffee loose by the pound, how can you expect purity and uniform quality?

LION COFFEE, the LEADER OF ALL PACKAGE COFFEES, is of necessity uniform in quality, strength and flavor. FOR OVER A QUARTER OF A CENTURY, LION COFFEE has been the standard coffee in millions of homes.

LION COFFEE is carefully packed at our factories, and until opened in your home, has no chance of being adulterated, or of coming in contact with dust, dirt, germs, or unclean hands.

In each package of LION COFFEE you get one full pound of Pure Coffee. Insist upon getting the genuine. (Lion head on every package.)
