They expected him to fail in the negotiations or to "make a bad peace," and either would have spelled political ruin. Instead, upon the very terms upon which the emperor told Mr. Meyer he would make peace and upon which the military party did not believe it possible for peace to be negotiated. M. Witte succeeded in securing a treaty honorable and under the circumstances favorable to Russia. This has evidently only exasperated his enemies the more and intrigue is again at work to discredit him. Since Japan was in a conciliatory mood they say he made a mistake in surrendering half of Sakhalin. Yet he did so by the czar's orders and himself insists that personally he would have stuck to the end territory or give indemnity.

ST. PETERSBURG-A dispatch from Lidziapudze contains the details of what will probably be the last engagement of the war. This encounter took place on August 28 and resulted in an advantage to the Russians, who took 130 prisoners. A number of Japanese were killed. The Russian losses were eight killed. The cessation in the activity of the Chi-minutes of such rest is valuable; the muscles of the face relax, and one does not get a hard, set look, which
