OLDEN TIMES

Our Ancestors Plowed With a Stick

It was not so long ago that all manure spreading was done with a fork and it is only within the last very few years that there has been a general movement toward the adoption of a machine for this purpose. People are beginning to understand that a Spreader, while it saves labor and is convenient, has a much more important function to perform.

The Spreader has come, not so much to save labor and tickle the lazy man as it has to make money for the clear-sighted American. It is not our purpose, however, to take the time here, explaining why Manure Spreaders are needed. Everybody knows this without our paying for this space to repeat it.

Improvement is "life" to machinery, the same as growth in a man means life. This is why we say that many of the old style spreaders are dead and some of them thoroughly buried. We say this because they still adhere to such ancient principles, good in their time, but too crude to be used in a modern age like this. A void experiment, but when you can get a Spreader with such a conveyor, traction surface and modern principles of construction as the Litchfield Spreader embodies, do not we pray you, pass this up for something that was "good enough for our grandfathers."

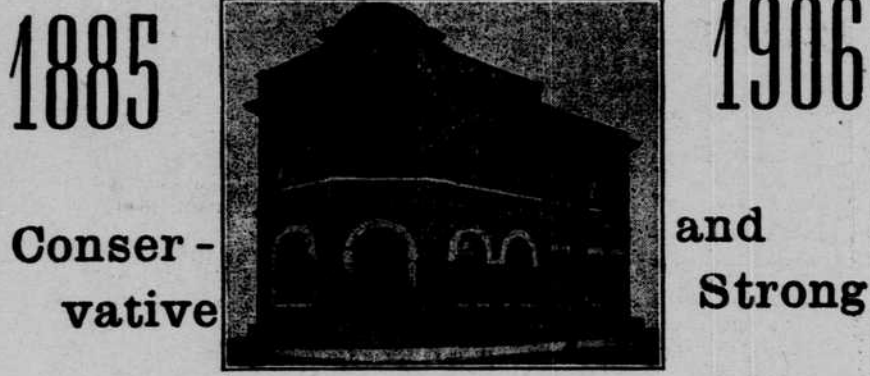

Just drop in and let us explain how the conveyor on the Litchfield Spreader is arranged, with a saw tooth surface that grips the load firmly and when this conveyor moves the load must positively go with it. No sliding under a wet, slippery load, no giving way. It just grips the load and holds it.

With the Litchfield Spreader all you have to do is to watch your team, knowing that when the beater wheel revolves the load is being fed to it properly and the work is being done as it should be. We can show you, in the Litchfield Spreader, a machine that does not require constant attention and inspection. You drive through the field and back to the barn. One simple motion of one lever and it is all done, automatically and without looking over your shoulder. Wouldn't this be a relief, after using some of the Manure Spreaders that require expert handling? Just drop in and see us—No not us, but this machine. It will pay you. We have a little fab for next week. Read it, sure.

Little Marie, the 10-year-old daughter of Milo Gilbert, was thrown from the buggy on her way home from church last Sunday, by the horses becoming frightened from some cause, and for a time it was feared she was seriously injured, but later reports proved no severe injury was done her.

Fatal Accident.

Little Ethel, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Dunlap residing in the south part of this township was accidentally burned to death last evening. The little girl was visiting at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Olive Sherman, in Clay township, and with three other children were playing with matches, when in some way the little one's clothes caught on fire and she was burned so badly before the fire could be extinguished, that she lived only a few hours. The funeral was held at the home of her parents this morning at 10 o'clock, conducted by Pastor Wold, and the body laid to rest in Austin cemetery. The broken-hearted parents have the sympathy of all in their terrible bereavement.

Tuesday was the opening day of the season at Jenner's Park, and it was a gala day indeed, and all Loup City went there for at least a portion of the day. Sargent, Arcadia and surrounding country were also well represented. The Jenner's may well be proud of their dandy little park, as it is the finest, shadiest and best kept of any in central Nebraska. Jenner's Park is up-to-date in every respect.

In company with Will Zimmerman, we took a trip over into the west part of the county, last Friday afternoon, through Webster, Elm, Harrison and Clay townships back home. We found the crops in the very pink of condition, no lack of moisture and every prospect of the finest of crops. We saw wheat fields for many an hour, acres standing three feet high, beautifully headed and could not look finer. Corn by the thousands of acres had beautiful stands, growing thrifly, clear of weeds, and showing the farmers were up-to-date in caring for their fields, and all nature assisting to prepare a bumper of a crop. No prettier country exists than that we traveled over. That's what makes us feel like standing up for Sherman county.

Sargent was well represented in Loup City at the opening of Jenner's Park Tuesday, a large delegation, headed by the splendid band of that city coming down to help make it a success. The Sargent band gave us some of the best music we have heard in the city for many a day, and reflected great credit on the town they represented. The gentlemen representing the membership of the band, were as follows: Leader, G. W. Peacher; members, Messrs. Mutter, Davis, Hatt, Williams, Ambrose, Woods, Livermore, E. C. E. and F. Harris; L. and G. Spacht, and E. and R. King. Several members of the Loup City band, headed by their efficient leader, Mr. Pritchard, assisted in making the music of the day the feature of the occasion. Among other great and good Sargentites, not otherwise mentioned, were Charley Freeman, the irrigation man of Sargent, Geo. Patsy, Fred Sidel, Major Clohn and a host of others, who helped the day get there.

Corner-stone Laid.

The laying of the corner-stone of the new Presbyterian church on Monday evening was the occasion of an impressive and interesting service. The exercises were held on the grounds and were attended by a large concourse of people.

The opening number of the program was music furnished by the band, which was well received.

Rev. Dr. Bay of St. Paul offered prayer. The church choir rendered an anthem in its usual acceptable manner. Words of kindly greeting were given by Rev. Wise and Wold in behalf of their respective churches.

Hon. R. J. Nightingale speaking as a business man, showed the advantage of the church to the community from a business and moral standpoint.

A beautiful duet by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Leininger, after which Dr. Ray made the principal address of the evening. His ready wit and pleasant sallies kept the audience in the best of good humor, while his earnest words made a deep impression upon all.

Following this address came the ceremony proper, when Rev. McEwen after briefly reviewing the inception and growth of the church, with the assistance of Mr. W. A. Hayes, one of the trustees, placed the corner-stone in position and solemnly declared it "Laid, in the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit."

The Regale Quartet won fresh renown by the rendition of "We're a Presbyterian Band" and then while the band played again the large tables were quickly filled and filled again and again until about fifteen gallons of ice-cream and a dozen and a half cakes were exhausted.

The occasion gave people a chance to look over the building in course of construction and everyone seemed pleased with the arrangement which will be most complete. Practically every inch of floor space will be utilized and when completed the edifice will accommodate between five and six hundred persons.

To School Directors.

Something more than a week ago, I mailed to all directors a tablet of all the blank forms needed by school district officers for the coming year. These forms are neatly put up and on the outside of the front cover will be found a synopsis of such portions of the school law as are of most importance to school officers. It will soon be time for the directors of the several districts to make their annual and census reports. These reports should be made with great care, as entered in the fact of our having maintained school during the past year depends your share of the state apportionment. Be sure that every item is carefully considered before the entry is made in the blank form to be found in the tablet for this purpose. See that the proper amount is entered in the item showing the amount on hand on the 2nd Monday of July, 1906. Unless this amount is correct your account will have to be taken up and corrected later. You will observe that the annual report must be delivered to the county superintendent within 10 days after the annual district meeting. Fill all items and verify all results. It would be well if the several districts boards should observe the directions in the note at the bottom of the front page of the tablet above referred to.

School officers should exercise the greatest care that the affairs of the district be carefully looked after. Education is expensive, but we must have it. Every dollar of the public school fund is sacred to the children who are now growing up, and the greatest caution should be used that it may be properly conserved and expended. M. H. MEAD, Co. Sup't.

Clear Creek Chat.

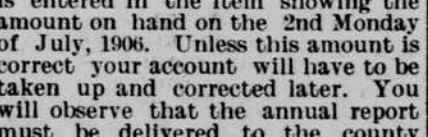

Crops are running rain. Miss Stella Thomas and M. Burtner were at the Bow this week as delegates to the Christian Endeavor. Mr. Stark's mother and sister are here from Ansley. Mr. Clipenstein is very sick and her recovery is doubtful. Mrs. Chas. Schoening has been sick but is some better.

Rockville Items.

Farmers are looking for rain every day but it don't seem like it will rain this summer. Just wait till it does start and it will make up for lost time. E. Dwehls made a flying trip to Loup City last Tuesday. Wm. Draper is finishing Burman's house this week. The dance last Saturday was a grand success and everybody had a good time. Sam Fletcher drove a bunch of horses to Grand Island Monday. Frank Thompson has built a new barn.
