Baby Burned to Death.

Word was received in this city last Friday morning that a little baby girl belonging to Mrs. James Gray, eight miles south of town, had been burned to death. Dr. Main was summoned to the scene and found the horrible news too true. It seems that the little 2-year-old daughter of Mrs. James Gray, and a little brother were playing in the barn and in some way secured matches, with which they set the hay on fire, and before the baby girl could be succored her clothes were a mass of flames and her body was burned to a crisp. The little brother escaped and gave the alarm but too late to save the little one, who also ran from the burning barn, as the flames had gotten too firm a hold upon her clothing and the wind helped hasten the horrible death. The barn and contents were wholly destroyed. This is the second terrible accident of the kind within a few miles of Loup City within the past few months, and in both cases matches within reach of children has led to the fatal result. Parents cannot be too careful in this regard.

Loup City School Notes.

Election day the high school had a formal election. The class room was fitted up with a counting booth and the high school room was used for general electioneering grounds. Some of our amateur politicians showed themselves adepts at electioneering—those flattering words, bribes in the form of apples, proved the possessed of an artist in the matter. Christian Sorensen, Marie Minshull and Clayton Mead were chosen judges while Emma Outhouse and Clifford Rein were the clerks. Miss House was city marshal and arrested members electioneering too near the polls. The vote of the pupils well coincided with that of the general public. Miss Josie Polski of Ashton and Jessie Culey were visitors of the high school Friday afternoon. Orin Miller visited in the grammar room last week. Miss Cline of Lincoln, who has been the guest of Miss Braeh, spent two days visiting the Loup City schools. Florence Criss entered the 8th grade Monday. A program was rendered in the 2nd intermediate last Friday afternoon. A number of guests witnessed it, among them were the 11th grade. Mr. Fred Williams representing the Silver, Berdett Publishing Co. visited the school today. Mr. Williams is a graduate of the State University and was superintendent of the schools at Seward for a number of years.

Dedictory Services.

Last Sunday occurred the dedictory services of the re-built Methodist church of this city. The day was exceedingly fine, with the exception of slightly cold weather accompanied by flurries of snow, the first of the season, but not enough to keep people at home, and in consequence the fine church, now capable of seating 500 persons, was filled both morning and evening and the exercises were most excellent and of such a nature as is calculated to fill with pride attendants of religious worship, especially of the congregation of this fine edifice. The church as it now stands, is a pride in the hearts of the people. It has its own heating and lighting plant and is independent in all that concerns those points. The building has a commodious basement for the social functions of the church, which is one of the prides of the congregation. All in all, our Methodist friends have a perfect right, and undoubtedly do feel happy over the enterprise. As we said, both services received a crowded house, and everything went off in the most satisfactory manner. In the morning the presiding elder, Rev. L. H. Shumate delivered the dedictory sermon, and he proved to be a most entertaining speaker, and though his sermon was over one hour in length, held the profoundest attention of the vast audience. His mannerisms are strictly original and as a platform speaker would undoubtedly prove a most eminent success. The further fact that our chief executive, Gov. John H. Micker, was to deliver the principal address, Gov. Micker delivered a most interesting address, taking for his subject, "Character," and held the closest attention of the vast body from start to finish, and were the enormous hearts beat with his excellence. Space will not admit of extended comment upon the governor's address, and few words would prove inadequate to do justice to the splendid points brought out in the thirty to forty minutes of heart to heart talk with the sea faces before him. Suffice it to say the chief executive of the best state in this best country on the face of the earth was at his best, and the admonitions, warnings and pleadings to the young men of today to build characters for honesty, integrity and uprightness, which are the foundations of a good standard of manhood, found an echo in every heart present. At the close of his address, the presiding elder undertook to clear off the indebtedness unprovided for, some $1750, which the people of Loup City and surrounding country helped him to do in an exceedingly short time, in their usually generous nature and dominant good will, and everybody went home feeling that a day was spent in a most profitable manner.

Thanksgiving Services.

At a conference of the different city pastors held Monday afternoon it was decided to hold a union Thanksgiving service on Thanksgiving evening, the meeting to be at the M. E. church. Rev. H. S. Wold to preach the sermon and the M. E. choir to furnish the music for the occasion. This service should command the attention of the public, for as a community we do not need to look far to find ample reason for thanksgiving to the Almighty Father of us all.

Wedding Bells.

Last Saturday the Northwestern received through the mails the announcement of the marriage of Mr. Raymond S. McFadden to Anna I. Youngland, both of Webster township, which was solemnized on the 7th of November at Cheyenne, Wyo. Following the announcement came the words, "At home after December 15th at Loup City, Nebr." The many friends of this estimable young couple in Sherman county will gladly congratulate them over the auspicious event and offer them heartfelt good wishes for life's happiness.

Installation of Pastor.

The installation of Rev. L. C. McEwerson, Presbyterian church, on Thursday evening was the occasion of an interesting and impressive service. The meeting was presided over by Rev. Geo. Longstaff of Farwell, who delivered an interesting sermon. This was followed by the propounding of the constitutional questions of the church to pastor and people, after which the prayer of installation was offered by Rev. Dr. Ray of St. Paul. Rev. Johnson of Kearney followed outlining the various duties of the pastor and congratulating him upon the success of his efforts. The last address of the evening was delivered by Dr. Ray, who, in a timely and powerful way, is well known to Loup City churchgoers. In delivering the charge to the people, he, too, referred to the good work accomplished by the young organization and in a bright and attractive way spoke of the duties devolving upon the people of the newly installed pastor. The music for the occasion consisted of an anthem rendered by the choir in their usual manner, and the solo, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," by Mr. B. P. McKinnie, who was at his best and received many compliments from the visiting clergymen as well as the appreciative audience.
