Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Persistent Anæmia Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills After Other Remedies Had Failed.

"When I began taking Dr. Williams" Pink Pills," says Mrs. Nathaniel Field, of St. Albans, Somerset county, Maine, "I was the palest, most bloodless person you could imagine. My tongue and gums were colorless and my fingers and ears were like wax. I had two doctors and they pronounced my trouble anæmia. I had spells of vomiting, could not eat, in fact, did not dare to, I had such distress after eating. My stomach was filled with gas which caused me awful agony. ten years I could not do housework, The backache I suffered was at times almost unbearable and the least exertion the house. The kidney secretions made my heart beat so fast that I could hardly breathe. But the worst of all was the splitting neuralgia headache which never left me for seven weeks. About this time I had had several numb spells. My limbs would be cold and without any feeling and the most deathly sensations would come over me.

"Nothing had helped me until I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, in fact, I had grown worse every day. After I had taken the pills a short time I could see that they were benefiting me and one morning I awoke entirely free from pain. The distress after eating disappeared and in three weeks I could eat anything I wanted and suffer no inconvenience. I also slept soundly. I have taken several boxes of the pills and have gained in weight from 120 to 154 pounds and am perfectly well now."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure anæmia because they actually make new blood. For rheumatism, indigestion, nervous headaches and many forms of weakness they are recommended even if ordinary medicines have failed. They are sold by all druggists, or will be sent postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y. rope is not for sale."

Lord Rothschild's Tart Reply. Lord Rothschild, who is taking a prominent part in the commission which is considering as to the best territory for Jewish colonization, is the wealthiest member of the wealthiest and most famous banking house in the world. His monetary and social influence suggest the monarch rather than the financier. There is a story that Jay Gould once called upon him on business. Lord Rothschild sent out word that he was too busy to see the caller. Mr. Gould, not accustomed to being denied audience by anyone, sent back rather a tart repetition of his request. After an interval the attendant returned with this reply from Lord Rothschild: "Tell Mr. Gould that Eu-

MISTAKES

The rural vote must be cultivated! To this end, Mr. Candidate bought a small farm for a summer home, and Mrs. Candidate, as a politician's wife and ever interested in her husband's affairs, entered enthusiastically upon the duty of educating herself in its varied interests

"George," she began one hot day, factory buildings of the "White City" fanning herself with her sun bonnet while she studied her husband's drawing for an addition to the farmhouse

'when will you begin to build?" "Never!" replied her husband from behind a Farmer's Bulletin.

"Good heavens!" exclaimed his wife. 'You surely don't expect me to spend another summer here without more room, do vou?"

Mr. Candidate laid aside his Bulletin, carefully selected another and resumed his reading without replying to his wife's question. Mrs. Candidate's indignation grew as she watched him. "Really, George," she said, her voice vibrating with resentment, "am I to interpret your silence as a refusal to make any explanation of this extraordinary change of plan?" "You wouldn't like the explanation after it was made, Mattie," said her husband, continuing to read.

"Of course, that means, George," said his wife, bitingly, "that the explanation involves some criticism of Mr. Candidate read on. "Well, George," said Mrs. Candidate, so offended that her voice trembled, "you wouldn't treat me with such scant courtesy if I were one of your constituents." "My constituents are more careful of my interests than you are, Mattie," said her husband, curtly.

"Mercy, George!" exclaimed his wife, actually stuttering with surprise. "How can you say that, after all I've done this summer to make you-well, solid with the country voters!" Mrs. Candidate paused. Mr. Candidate read with an obliviousness that thoroughly aroused her. "Look at this hideous dress," she exclaimed, her voice thrilling with indignation, "and this check apron and this sun bonnet that I've worn to impress the farmers' wives and daugh-Mrs. Candidate's voice broke with the pathos of her sacrifice. Mr. Candidate preserved a sphinx-like silence. "Don't I churn publicly under the big tree in the back yard every morning just to show that I respect labor, and didn't we put the hennery right next to the public road so that everybody could see that I wasn't too proud to feed the chickens?" The climax found Mrs. Candidate breathless and Mr. Candidate still unprovoked to speech.

"If you can deny all this, George," resumed his wife, with a majesty of brow suited to Lady Macbeth herself. "I haven't another word to say."

Mr. Candidate rose and took sever turns up and down the shady gallery. "Well, Mattie," he finally said, with the air of one who reluctantly yields to pressure and performs a disagreeable duty, "what did you say to the leading dairyman of the county yesterday?" Pausing in his promenade and looking intently at his wife. Mrs. Candidate became suddenly

"I see, Mattie," said her husband, resuming his walk, "that you can recall as distinctly as 1 do your statement to that dairyman that you considered it unrefined, even vulgar, to sell milk.'

Mrs. Candidate hung her head. "Now, Mattie," he continued, with a district attorney's manner: "what did you say the day before to Mr. Poulterer?

Mrs. Candidate dropped among the Farmer's Bulletins completely unstrung.

"Well, George," said the wife, with an effort, "the very moment I told could eat the kind of chickens he raises, I saw that I had made a mistake," and Mrs. Candidate brightened a little with the confession.

"Indeed!" exclaimed her husband. with a sarcastic intonation that made his wife subside again.

"Perhaps you understand now, Mattie, why I have abandoned all idea of spending our summers on this farm." and Mr. Candidate, with the calm of desperation, filled his pipe and lighted it, while Mrs. Candidate reflected bitterly upon her many vain sacrifices to the prejudices of the country voters.-Washington Post.

Shakespeare's Advice.

Shakespeare put into the mouth of Polonius the injunction, "Give every man thy ear, but few thy voice." If this advice is to be held to be in keeping with the rest of Shakespeare's advice as to wisdom, it must be construed differently than it usually is. "In the multitude of counselors there is wisdom" is an old saying, but equally as old is the well known fact that one man who knows his business is worth more than 20 who don't.

Dig Fish From Mud. The native of certain parts of India are in the habit every year, in the summer, of digging the dry river banks for fish, which they dig out by hundreds, just as they would potatoes. The mud lumps are broken open, and the fish, perhaps eight or ten inches long, will be found alive, and often frisky, as if just removed from its supposedly native element, the water.

Sheer white goods, in fact, any fine wash goods when new, owe much of their attractiveness to the way they are laundered, this being done in a manner to enhance their textile beauty. Home laundering would be equally satisfactory if proper attention was given to starching, the first essential being good Starch, which has sufficient strength to stiffen, without thickening the goods. Try Defiance Starch and you will be pleasantly surprised at the improved appearance of your work.

To Represent Italy and Spain. The two great Catholic countries of Europe, Italy and Spain, are sending new ambassadors to the court of St. James. The marquis di San Giuliano, who will represent Italy, is comparatively a young man. He comes of an old Sicilian family of Norman descent, and is highly cultured, having traveled extensively with good results. He is an enthusiastic student of Dante, and is president of the Italian Geographical society. Senor Villa Urattia, the new Spanish ambassador, accompanied King Alfonso to London on the momentous occasion that ended in his engagement to Princess Ena, and won golden opinions for his tact and courtesy during that visit.

After much dispute about the price and quantity of malt, wherein Whityngtone, the late mayor, declared that the brewers had ridden into the country and forestalled the malt, to raise its price, they were convicted in the penalty of £20 ($100), which objecting to, the masters were ordered to be kept in prison in the chamberlain's custody until they should pay it, or find security for the payment

NEW YEAR'S CALLS.

A New Drink to Replace the Old-Time "Apple-Jack."

Twenty-five years ago the custom of making New Year's calls was a delightful one for all concerned, until some of the boys got more "egg-nog" or "apple-jack" than they could successfully carry.

Then the ladies tried to be charitabie and the gentlemen tried to be as chivalrous as ever and stand up at the same time.

If anyone thinks there has not been considerable improvement made in the last quarter of a century in the use of alcoohlic beverages, let him stop to consider, among other things, the fact that the old custom of New Year's calls and the genteel tippling is nearly WINE

The custom of calling on one's friends, however, at the beginning of the new year, is a good habit, and another good habit to start at that time is the use of well-made Postum instead of coffee or spirits. A Staten Island doctor has a sensible daughter who has set Postum before her guests as a good thing to drink at Yule Tide, and a good way to begin the New Year. Her father "My daughter and I have used Postum for some time past, and we feel sure it contains wholesome food

"I shall not only recommend it to my patients, but my daughter will be most pleased to give a demonstration of Postum to our Christmas and New Year's callers." Read "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Sounded Praises of Soap.

In a guide to etiquette published early in the last century the writer says that "soap does not irritate the complexion; some of the finest complexions we have known have been regularly washed with soap every day." The same authority remarks that "the daily bath is now the rule rather than the exception, and common sense has triumphed over the decision that washing was injurious." And then the writer has a dig at her great-grandmother, "whose only ablutions consisted in wetting her cheeks with a cambric handkerchief dipped in rosewater." "In all our directions with regard to the bath," adds this early Victorian dictator, "it must be borne in mind that we only refer to those in sound state of health."

These pills cleanse the stomach and bowels, stimulate the kidneys and liver and purify the blood. They are the same fine laxative tonic pills your grandparents used, and being purely vegetable they are adapted to children and old people, as well as those in the vigor of manhood and womanhood. Brandreth's Pills have been in use for over a century and are for sale everywhere, plain or sugar-coated.

Japan's Empress Popular.

It is doubtful if any royal consort is more loved by her people than is the empress of Japan. Educated according to feudal ideas and skilled in all the accomplishments befitting one of her social eminence, her majesty strongly favors the broadness of the new education for women and from her private purse gives large sums toward the maintenance of women's schools and universities. During the war with Russia the empress visited the hospitals many times and every day passed hours making bandages The effect of these bandages upon the wounded soldiers has been of deep interest to medical and scientific men, for the soldiers honored by them seemed to rally under a peculiar mental influence. All other bandages were destroyed after their first use; those made by the empress were sterilized and used again for the simple reason of their effect on the recovery of the soldiers.
