

SEEDING COMMENCED IN WESTERN CANADA.

The Prospects for a Large Acreage to Be Sown in Wheat.

St. Paul, April 24, 1907.—Word has been received at the office of the Canadian Government in St. Paul that seeding has commenced at various points throughout Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The heavy snowfall during the past winter has left the ground in splendid shape for successful seeding operations. The fine weather of the past few days has taken much of the frost out of the ground and during next week there will scarcely be a district in which the seeder is not being operated. The most optimistic conditions exist and in all districts the farmers are busy getting things in shape. There will be a very large acreage sown in spring wheat, oats and barley. At many points throughout the three provinces the newcomers are busy unloading their stock and effects, working night and day in order to get on their farms and become active agencies in the effort to make the year 1907 the banner year in grain producing in Western Canada. As compared with districts many hundreds miles further south than this, it will be seen that Western Canada ranks amongst the first in the line of seeding operations for the present year. It is safe to say that farmers who get in their crop before the 20th or 24th of May, will receive magnificent returns. A number of those coming in this spring, who had not their land prepared last fall, will break up enough land to get in a crop of oats and barley and probably some flax. This, together with the vegetables they will plant, will give them ample food for themselves and stock during the coming summer and winter. These early seeding operations are not confined to one district, but are spread over a country 900 miles long by 400 miles in width.

The agents of the Canadian Government, located at different points throughout the United States, are busy giving information regarding the many new districts that are being made available for settlers. Low railway rates, information and literature are given on application to the agent, whose name appears in advertisement elsewhere in this paper.

The Estimable Family.
"Reynolds," said Millionaire Banks to his valet, "go round to the house of that little girl whom I ran down with the auto this morning and extend to the family my sincere regrets and sympathy. Also give them this $50 bill. I understand that they are very poor and in want."

Accordingly the valet obeyed. When he returned his master met him at the door.

"Well, Reynolds?"
"The father wished me to say, sir, that he hoped you wouldn't take the affair too much to heart. As for the family, they all feel very grateful to you sir, and couldn't bring themselves to accept your very kind offer."

"A most estimable family! Yet I wonder why they didn't accept the money?"

"The father said such matters should be arranged through his lawyer, sir,"—Judge.

No Criticism to Make.
Mrs. Hwa Williams, the English society leader, talked at a dance in New York about the fashion of riding astride that has taken hold of English equestriennes.

"Some of our young women," said Mrs. Williams, "dress out and look like men. They wear a long coat cut like a hunting coat, a cap, riding breeches and top boots. It is a handsome costume and it is not immodest, but undoubtedly it attracts a good deal of attention. They have been telling in London lately a story about an English girl who has adopted this riding rig. Pulling up her horse one afternoon she said to an artisan who was passing: 'Can you tell me if this is the way to Wareham?'"

"The man looked her over carefully. Then he touched his cap in a respectful manner and replied: 'Yes, miss, yes—you seem to 'ave got 'em on all right.'"

Importance of Sleep.
We should get up well every morning. If we do not, we are certain gradually to run behind in our physical bank account. This proves that sleeping is quite as important as eating. The luxury of sound sleep is one of the greatest means given to a man or beast for restoring and invigorating the whole system. No one should allow business or anything else to curtail this luxury, and parents should promote it in children, instead of drumming them out of bed early.—Homeopathic Envo.

FRIENDS HELP

St. Paul Park Incident.

"After drinking coffee for breakfast I always felt languid and dull, having no ambition to get to my morning duties. Then in about an hour or so a weak, nervous derangement of the heart and stomach would come over me with such force I would frequently have to lie down.

"At other times I had severe headaches; stomach finally became affected and digestion so impaired that I had serious chronic dyspepsia and constipation. A lady, for many years State President of the W. C. T. U., told me she had been greatly benefited by quitting coffee and using Postum Food Coffee; she was troubled for years with asthma. She said it was no cross to get coffee when she found she could have as delicious an article as Postum.

"Another lady, who had been troubled with chronic dyspepsia for years, found immediate relief on ceasing coffee and beginning Postum twice a day. She was wholly cured. Still another friend told me that Postum Food Coffee was a Godsend to her, her heart trouble having been relieved after leaving off coffee and taking Postum.

"So many such cases came to my notice that I concluded coffee was the cause of my trouble and I quit and took up Postum. I am more than pleased to say that my days of trouble have disappeared. I am well and happy." "There's a Reason." Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkg.

SAVED BY SHORTY

"I don't know that we would all have been massacred if Shorty hadn't blown into T— on the through freight that day," said Col. H—, growing reminiscent, "but it's rabbits to coyotes that some of us would have lost our pretty curls."

"The redskins had been restless for some time. It was before the days that the government made college football players out of them, and they still resent white men intruding on their game preserves and despoiling their happy hunting grounds.

"I was United States marshal then. I had a handful of deputies, as game as a crowd as ever pulled a 44 or swung a Winchester, but they wouldn't have lasted as long as ice cream at the equator if those pesky devils had started on the warpath.

"The Indian agent was plainly worried, and I was not sleeping good myself. A fellow never does rest well with his rifle under his neck. The cavalry should have been sent over as intimidators a week before, but those fellows at Washington always did think that they knew more than the men on the firing line.

"Tue, we had an operator at T—, one of those combination kind, who punches tickets, handles trunks and potatoes and receives train orders for the extra engine which used to double-head Winding Stage mountains.

He was good enough for the isolated station in ordinary times, but he went to pieces whenever the Indian agent would throw those long-winded cipher messages for the interior department at him, the gist of which was a prayer that the secretary of the interior would ask the attorney general to plead with the secretary of war, with the president's permission, to permit the bugler at the post, 200 miles away, to sound boots and saddles.

"We sent a man up the railroad to the chief dispatcher of the division asking him to send us an operator who could send dots and dashes in bunches without hurting his finger nails. We were politely but firmly informed that the railroad needed all the men it had in that forsaken country, and that we would have to do the best we could with the amateur at T—.

"I'll telegraph down the line and see if I can get you a man, but I ain't making any promises," was the best consolation we could get from the main wire-tapper.

"Things were desperate, I say, when Shorty came. He wasn't pleasant to look upon at first meeting. I have seen some cleaner tramps, but he didn't object to water, and he scraped off his hirsute appendages of two weeks' standing when we loaned him a razor. After he had filled his aching voids with a goodly supply of rations and given him a new blue flannel shirt, he didn't look half bad.

"I hear you gazarabs are in grave danger of being separated from scalps if a gentleman of intimate acquaintance with Miss Morse didn't come to your rescue," was his salutory, when he swung clear of the caboose, on which he had been a deadhead passenger.

"I used to hold down the A. P. leased wire at Chi," he said, "and I guess I can shoot all the lightning you fellows can send." We didn't know whether A. P. stood for apple pie or ask papa, and we didn't care when we saw that 'bo' caress the telegraph key affectionately.

"He could have had the only billed shirt in camp if he'd been so impolite as to ask for it, so much attached did the boys become to him. He kept the wires to Washington so hot that within 48 hours a special arrived with the troops and the Indians promised to be good.

"We tried to keep Shorty with us, but when the government sent him $10 per day for the two weeks he spent at T—, he climbed onto the first passenger train going north. He didn't object to the company, he said, but wanted to get back to the white lights of Broadway. I hope he got there, because he certainly saved our bacon."

Concrete Work in Mines.
The newest innovation that has taken place in the method of working a coal mine is the substitution of concrete for the mine timbering. The experiments along this line are being made by the Reading Coal company at Shamokin, Pa. A plant for the manufacture of these cement props will be erected at the North Franklin colliery, Trevorton, from which place the new style of "timbering" will be sent to all the other collieries. The Reading company has spent considerable time and money in determining the best method for preserving mine timbers, and the present step seems to indicate that in the future cement will replace wooden props.

Disraeli as a Real Humorist.
Disraeli's absorption in politics, which never quite destroyed his love of literature, is of course familiar to the most superficial student of his singular career. His "profound contempt for frivolity," referred to by Lady Dorothy Nevill in her "Reminiscences," just published, strikes those who know him as absolutely true.

Disraeli, it must be remembered, was a real humorist, and in nine cases out of every ten a real humorist despises flippancy. He was also like many humorists, a melancholy man, isolated from his fellows, leading an inner life, of which glimpses may be seen in his biography of Lord George Bentinck.

He Did His Best.
An English newspaper man, who recently got a job as a reporter in New York, was told to go to Lakewood and interview John D. Rockefeller. The assignment was a hard one and the Englishman came back without his story. "Did you do everything you could to reach him?" asked the city editor. "I jolly well did," answered the Englishman. "The servants wouldn't allow me to approach him, y' know, so I hid myself in the shrubbery and made a noise like a dividend, but even then he wouldn't come out."

TEN YEARS OF PAIN.

Unable to Do Even Housework Because of Kidney Troubles.

Mrs. Margaret Emmerich, of Clinton St., Napoleon, O., says: "For fifteen years I was a great sufferer from kidney troubles. My back pained me terribly. Every turn or move caused sharp, shooting pains. My eyesight was poor, dark spots appeared before me, and I had dizzy spells. For ten years I could not do housework, and for two years did not get out of the house. The kidney secretions were irregular, and doctors were not helping me. Doan's Kidney Pills brought me quick relief, and finally cured me. They saved my life." Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Labor of the Novelist.
"The way of the novelist must be hard," said a librarian of an uptown branch. "The other day an immaculate gotten up individual came into the library and announced that he was a writer with a specialty of dialect stories. We got him several books that he asked for, and little by little he took me into his confidence. 'I want the Scotch dialect for the stern father,' he explained; 'then when I've got enough of that I want some dialect for a sea captain, and then I want a duke—or maybe you can tell me, would a duke drop his h's?'—N. Y. Sun.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Money for Y. M. C. A.
The raising of $70,000 in one day by the Y. M. C. A. of Ottawa, Ont., broke all records that have been made by the associations in their building canvasses, in which $5,000,000 has been secured in the last two years. Recently the Ottawa association set out to raise $200,000 in 15 days. It received pledges for $203,359. On the last day of the campaign 1,500 people pledged $70,000.

Long Time Between Calls.
"You used to wear a Vandike beard," she pouted. "I don't like you without it. The next time you come to see me wear one again."

He looked at her reproachfully. "Do you know how long it takes to grow a respectable Vandike?" he asked her.

"No," said she. "How long?"

"About six months," he answered plaintively.

MORE BOXES OF GOLD

And Many Greenbacks.

325 boxes of Gold and Greenbacks will be sent to persons who write the most interesting and truthful letters of experience on the following topics:

1. How have you been affected by coffee drinking and by changing from coffee to Postum?
2. Give name and account of one or more coffee drinkers who have been hurt by it and have been induced to quit and use Postum.
3. Do you know any one who has been driven away from Postum because it came to the table weak and characterless at the first trial?
4. Did you set such a person right regarding the easy way to make it clear, black, and with a snappy, rich taste?
5. Have you ever found a better way to make it than to use four heaping teaspoonfuls to the pint of water, let stand on stove until real boiling begins, and beginning at that time when actual boiling starts, boil full 15 minutes more to extract the flavor and food value. (A piece of butter the size of a pea will prevent boiling over.) This contest is confined to those who have used Postum prior to the date of this advertisement.

Be honest and truthful, don't write poetry or fanciful letters, just plain, truthful statements.

Contest will close June 1st, 1907, and no letters received after that date will be admitted. Examinations of letters will be made by three judges, not members of the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd. Their decisions will be fair and final, and a neat little box containing a $10 gold piece sent to each of the five writers of the most interesting letters, a box containing a $5 gold piece to each of the 20 next best, a $2 greenback to each of the 100 next best, and a $1 greenback to each of the 200 next best, making cash prizes distributed to 325 persons.

Every friend of Postum is urged to write and each letter will be held in high esteem by the company, as an evidence of such friendship, while the little boxes of gold and envelopes of money will reach many modest writers whose plain and sensible letters contain the facts desired, although the sender may have but small faith in winning at the time of writing.

Talk this subject over with your friends and see how many among you can win prizes. It is a good, honest competition and in the best kind of a cause, and costs the competitors absolutely nothing.

Address your letter to the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich., writing your own name and address clearly.

INDIANA PEOPLE IN WESTERN CANADA.

What Shall We Do?—I've Got to Build Granaries.

A letter written to a Canadian Government agent from Tipton, Indiana, is but one of many similar that are in the hands of the Canadian government agents whose privilege it is to offer one hundred and sixty acres of land free, and low railway fares. But here is one of the letters:

"Tipton, Ind., Nov. 28, 1906.
"At your earnest solicitation a party of us from Tipton left May 15 for Western Canada. Our interviews with you and a careful study of your literature led us to expect great things of your country when we should arrive there, and we were not disappointed. We went prepared to make a careful examination of the country and its resources, and we did so. At early dawn the second morning out of Tipton we awoke in a new world. As far as the eye could reach was an apparently limitless expanse of new sown wheat and prairie grasses. The vivid green of the wheat just beginning to stool out, and the inky blackness of the soil contrasted in a way beautiful to see. An hour or two later we steamed into Winnipeg. Here we found a number of surprises. A hundred thousand souls well housed, with every convenience that goes to make a modern up-to-date city—banks, hotels, newspapers, stores, electric light, street railways, sewerage, waterworks, asphalt pavements, everything. With eyes and ears open we traveled for two thousand miles through Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, going out over the Canadian Pacific railway, via Calgary to Edmonton, and returning to Winnipeg over the Canadian Northern railway. In the meantime we made several side trips and stopped off at a number of points where we made drives into the surrounding country. On every hand were evidences of prosperity. The growing wheat, oats, rye, flax, barley, not little patches, but great fields, many of them a square mile in extent, the three, five and sometimes seven-horse teams laying over an inky black ribbon of yellow stubble, generally in furrows straight as gun barrels and at right angles from the roads stretching into the distance, contrasted strangely with our little fields at home. The towns both large and small were doubly conspicuous, made so, first by their newness and second by the towering elevators necessary to hold the immense crops of wheat grown in the immediate neighborhood.

The newness, the thrift, the hustle, the sound of saw and hammer, the tents housing owners of buildings in various stages of completion, the piles of household effects and agricultural implements at the railway stations waiting to be hauled out to the "claims," the occasional steam plow turning its twenty or thirty acres a day, the sod house, the unpainted house of wood, the up-to-date modern residence with large red barn by, all these were seen everywhere we went, an earnest of prosperity and wealth to be.

We talked with men and visited their places that four years ago was unbroken prairie. Their houses, barns, implements and live stock were the equal of anything in Tipton County. We, and why not, when they were raising five, ten and twenty, yes, in one instance, forty thousand bushels of wheat a year. The fact that such large yields of wheat are raised so easily and so surely impressed us very favorably. And when we saw men who four or five years ago commenced their work with two or three thousand dollars, and were now as well fixed and making money much easier and many times faster than lots of our acquaintances on Indiana farms fifty years cleared and valued at four times as much, we decided to invest. So we bought in partnership a little over two thousand acres, some of it improved and in wheat.

Before leaving Indiana we agreed that if the opportunities were as great as they were represented to be, that we would buy, and own in partnership a body of land, and leave one of our number to look after and operate it. This we accordingly did.

Just before time to thresh I received a letter from him. "What shall we do?" said he; "I've got to build granaries. There's so much wheat that the railways are just swamped. We can't get cars and the elevators are all full. I never saw anything like it." In reply we wrote, "Good for you. Go ahead and build; your story sounds better than the letters we used to get from our friends in Kansas when they bewailed the fact that the hard wheat had been destroyed by the chinch bugs and the corn by hot winds, and that they must sell the stock for means to live on. Yes, build by all means." And he did, and our wheat put in by a renter made twenty-seven bushels per acre.

Very truly yours,

We used Cuticura Remedies for our baby, who was nearly bald when young. She has very nice hair now. She is very fleshy, and we had so much trouble with heat that we would bathe her with Cuticura Soap and then apply Cuticura Ointment, it would dry the heat up so much quicker than anything else.
