Some twenty lady friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Engle the day previous to spend an afternoon in honor of Mrs. Romsdal.
The dog nuisance—but, why say anything further. Everybody knows and sanctions what we would say, even the dog owners themselves, but the nuisance grows in proportions with each coming year. Some of these days some child or even grown person will be badly bitten by a vicious dog or a case of rabies may develop, and then our citizens will wish the stable door had been locked before the horse

Card of Thanks.

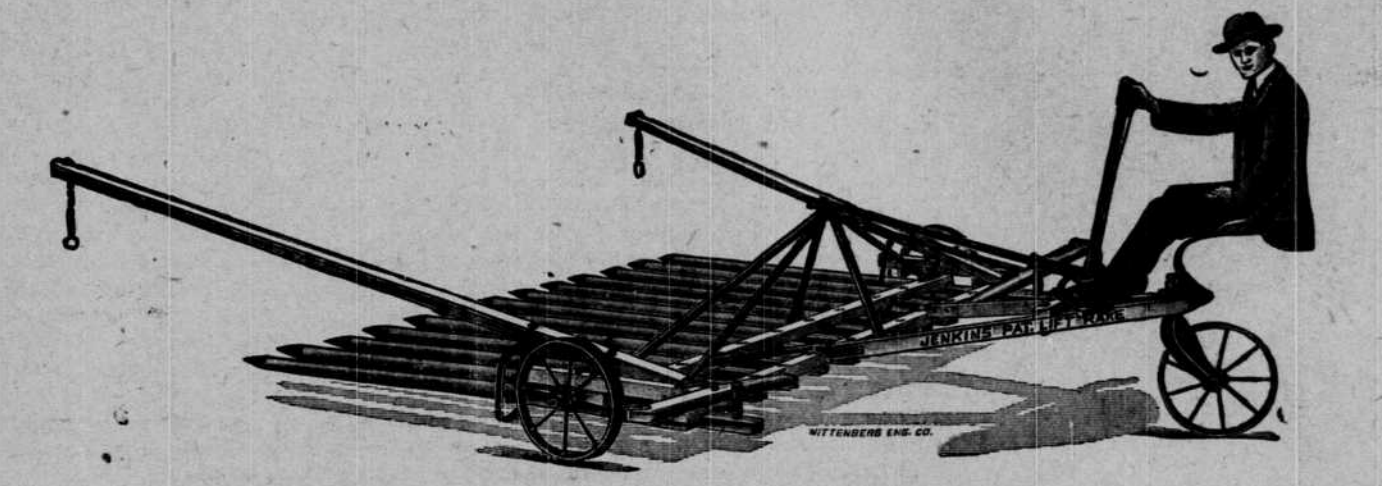

We desire to tender our thanks to those who so kindly gave a helping hand during our recent bereavement.
Mr. and Mrs. A. E. CHASE, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. WAITE, MISS JENNIE SUTTON.

Services as usual at the Presbyterian church next Sunday by the pastor. The morning subject is "The Gospel of Good Cheer." The one announced for the evening is, "The Ups and Downs of Life." Mrs. B. P. McKinnie will sing at the morning service. Plan to attend both services.
We were the recipient of a pleasant call last Saturday from Miss Rae Harris, accompanied by her uncle, G. W. Marvel. Miss Harris looks surprisingly well, and says her protracted visit on the Pacific Coast has brought to her a return of most excellent health, which fact is most pleasant to her host of friends in this section. Miss Harris will visit at her uncle's home at least till fall.
Whooping cough has invaded the home of Rev. McEwen, his infant child being the victim. This makes it impossible for the family to make their contemplated trip east, although latest news from the bedside of Mr. McEwen, senior, is to the effect that he is slowly getting weaker and fears are expressed for his recovery. Rev. McEwen has the strongest sympathy of his many friends over his double sorrow and trouble.
We were favored with a pleasant call Wednesday morning from Mr. and Mrs. B. P. McKinnie. Mrs. McKinnie expresses herself delighted with the country and well pleased with our people whom she has met, and in return she is voted a charming woman and Bert a lucky fellow. Don't fail to hear her sing this coming Sunday morning at the Presbyterian church, nor fail to attend the reception in her honor Tuesday evening following in the same church.
Last week we had an item to the effect that Mr. Floyd C. Mason would undoubtedly become cashier of the First National bank upon the elevation of W. F. Mason to the presidency of the same, but as it will probably not take effect for some 21 days yet, until the young man has attained his majority when Grandpa Culley has advanced beyond a business age and Papa Mason has waxed wealthy and lazy, the joke is on the Northwestern readers who failed to
