The ball game last Friday afternoon, between the Prairie Dogs and the Auroras was a rather expensive proposition to the projectors, the receipts being just half the expenses, but the boys do not regret it, as it decided the fact as to which was 'it' on the diamond, the Prairie Dogs slaughtering the Auroras most disastrously, the score being 13 to 5 in favor of the former. The first part of the game was quite interesting, but the latter part was too frosty to keep the crowd. The Knickerbocker Trust Co., one of the biggest banking institutions of Wall street, suspended Tuesday, after paying out $7,000,000 and over to depositors. Of course the bank officers lay the blame to Roosevelt and his policies, instead of the over-speculative mania abroad in the land. Reports from banking interests throughout the west assert, however, that it will have little effect on the money market, save to put a curb bit on the insane speculative mania prevailing.

A cordial invitation and a comfortable seat awaits you. The reception given by our Methodist friends to their pastor, Rev. The reliable old Pioneer Meat Market is where you will find all kinds of the choicest meats, fish and oysters in season. S. F. Reynolds is always up-to-date, and keeps the choicest of everything found in a first-class meat emporium. It is the place to go for the above toothsome and necessary articles for every day consumption. Our good friends, W. W. Morsman and Harry Rawding, have purchased a billiard and pool hall at Grand Island and left with their families this morning to live at the Island and take charge of their hall. Mr. Morsman has put Judge Hunter in charge of his pool hall here till he can sell the same. We wish the gentlemen success in their new venture and assure the people of Grand Island that they have secured two valuable citizens and their families as additions to their population. An exciting runaway occurred Tuesday noon from the Snyder livery barn. A lady named DeBoard, living some fifteen miles west of the village drove to town and had her team partially unhitched. In fact both horses entirely so, save one tug on one of the horses, when the animal started for main street, climbing a guy wire at Jung's bakery, where it left the wagon box, and spun around in a circle with the fore wheels, ending unhurt. Nobody injured and nothing harmed but the vehicle. A temperance meeting will be held at the Baptist church in this city on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 27, 1907, under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League, beginning at 3 o'clock, to which all friends are cordially invited to be present, especially members of the W. C. T. U. and L. T. L. societies. The following program has been arranged for the occasion: Song by congregation; prayer by Rev. J. O. Hawk; song by members of L. T. L.; address, Rev. W. L. Harms; solo by Mrs. L. J. Holcomb; address, Rev. J. O. Hawk; duet by Miss Effie Moon and Ed Angier; short addresses by members of congregation, dnet, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Leininger, and address by Mrs. G. W. Hunter. Last Sunday was the first anniversary since the dedication of their church by the Presbyterian people, and special services of a most interesting character were held. In the morning, besides the regular choir work, Mrs. B. P. McKinnie sang a sweet solo, and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Leininger and Miss Lizzie Leininger gave a beautiful musical trio. In the evening in addition to the regular choir quartet, a second quartet, composed of Misses Zimmerman and Needham and Messrs. Geo. Leininger and Mathew sang alternately with the church choir on a number of songs, and Miss Zimmerman sang a beautiful solo, with violin obligato by Mr. Max Jeffords, and the church quartet also sang one of the best and most pleasing anthems. The services both morning and evening, brought forth exceedingly interesting sermons by Rev. McKlwen, and the attendance, especially in the evening, taxed to the utmost the space in the main auditorium of the building. Altogether the day will be remembered by the congregation as one of the most pleasant memories.

Death of Elsworth Ogle.

Elsworth Ogle, manager of C. C. Cooper's store at Austin, who had been suffering from an abscess in the throat for the past two weeks, died suddenly Tuesday evening about half past seven o'clock. While Mr. Ogle's condition had been such as to give little belief for the past few days that he could recover, yet death came suddenly after a fit of coughing, which seemed to exhaust the little vitality left. The cause of Mr. Ogle's death primarily is seemingly difficult to determine. He had been working with a threshing outfit when he was taken ill. At the time in taking a drink of water, he felt some substance lodge in his throat, which caused him to cough severely, but shortly after the aggravation ceased and he felt no discomfort. A little later a swelling appeared in his throat and he was taken home and the services of a physician called. An abscess formed and last week Wednesday was lanced, giving much needed relief. Later, fits of coughing ensued, which it is thought ruptured the jugular vein, every coughing spell the blood spurting from the wound made in lancing, which continued at intervals till death relieved the terrible sufferings so patiently endured for days. We understand the funeral will take place tomorrow, if relatives wired for arrive by that time. Mr. Ogle was a young man of perhaps thirty years, and was well known over the county, and had been manager of Mr. Cooper's branch store at Austin since its inception some two years since. He was married a little over two years since to Miss Ida Carpenter, and by this union one child was born, which with the wife is left to mourn his untimely death. He also leaves a widowed mother, besides two brothers and two sisters, all living near Austin. The Northwestern, with the community at large, will deeply sympathize with the bereaved family and relatives in the shocking death of their loved one.

To My Friends

I sincerely regret that my official duties will prevent my seeing all my friends over Sherman county during the present campaign, but take this method of thanking you one and all for your hearty support in the past and trusting my work in the sheriff's office will give you sufficient satisfaction to entitle me to your continued support in the coming election, Nov. 5th. Again thanking you for your most liberal support in other campaigns and asking your vote once more, I am yours, most obediently to command. L. A. WILLIAMS.

It Is A Play Of Today.

Probably no play is meeting with greatest favor from the public this season than "My Boy, Jack," and why should it be otherwise, Mr. Edwin Milton Royle, the author, is a writer of unquestioned popularity and ability. His "Molly Moonshine," "Captain Impudence," "Cleo" and "The Squawman" have given him an international reputation. "My Boy, Jack," has been produced by Mr. Eugene Moore in Milwaukee, Nashville, Philadelphia, Columbus, Chicago and Pittsburgh, where it has always delighted and charmed the theatre patrons. It is a play of today. It depicts the most trying moments in a young man's life who starts out to carve for himself a career. He quarrels with his father, he leaves home, he fights poverty, he falls in love with a charming girl and gives her up to his best friend, he outwits her enemies, and proves himself a man. He never loses his good spirits and enthusiasm, but keeps on his way, leaving a path of sunshine behind him until his father recognizes his worth and begs him to come home and be "My Boy, Jack" again. This play is now under the management of Fred G. Conrad, and will be presented here at the opera house, Loup City, Tuesday, Nov. 12th, by Eugene Moore and a company whose refinement and artistic work is the subject of much mention.

School Notes.

Mr. Young is still confined to his home and Miss Lee is continuing the work in his school room. Marion, Willie and George Housersheldt, Elmer Moore and Sadie Roberts have entered school lately. Mrs. Musser visited the high school Wednesday morning of last week, during the modern history class. Pearl Parshall, a pupil of the 11th grade, was compelled to give up her school duties here last week on account of the removal of her family to Butte, Neb. To be sure she will be greatly missed, yet we wish her as great a success in her work there as she has had here. Mr. Lewen, the pitcher in the Arcadia ball team, visited the high school Friday morning. Mrs. Vanderhoof of Culbertson is substituting for Miss Crews, while she is away on a vacation. Milford Tracy is absent from school on account of sickness. By commencing school a half hour earlier and omitting recess the high school pupils were permitted to attend the ball after school. Last Thursday evening a number of Pearl Parshall's friends surprised her at the home of Ada Smith. They spent the evening in playing games and enjoying themselves. After a delicious luncheon one and all departed for their many homes.

WANT NEW LINE.

Broken Bow Men Seek to Have Road Built.

Omaha, Oct. 17.—Representatives of the Loup City & Broken Bow railroad arrived in Omaha Thursday to confer with officials of the Union Pacific and Northwestern. The delegation seeks to have a line built either by one or the other of those big companies. Last spring the Loup City company filed articles of incorporation. Last week the survey was completed for a road between Loup City and Broken Bow, forty miles. The delegation which arrived in Omaha Thursday endeavors first to have the Union Pacific construct this line which later is to be extended west. The other proposition is to have a line built by the Northwestern from Albion to Broken Bow, 110 miles. Either of these propositions will be favored by the promoters of the Loup City & Broken Bow company. The president of the local company is S. J. Grant of Broken Bow, who is accompanied by three associates, all of whom are at the Millard hotel. One is the general manager, James Stockholm, a farmer; another is Walter George, mayor of Broken Bow, and a third is Joseph Pigman, county clerk.
