College Songs.

For college men the songs peculiar ' to their alma mater will always have r. special charm and significance. They are sung joyously during the four years of college life, and are recalled with tenderness during all the years of , after life. When so much of the college spirit lies in the sougs and is so constantly fostered by them, it is strange that the songs themselves should so rarely possess real beauty of composition or dignity of sentiment. To be sure, Princeton has her "Old Nassau," and the great university of Cambridge has "Fair Harvard;" and some other colleges have songs not unworthy to be passed on from class to class. Nevertheless, most of the undergraduate lung power is used up in the "Fill-'em-up-again-John" or the "Down-with-Somebody" class of music. It was a perception of this fact that led a Yale alumnus to offer a prize of $50 a few years ago for a really worthy Yale song. This offer having failed to produce the desired result, the prize was increased to $300. It has now been awarded for a dignified, serious and, to coin a word, matriotic song, the theme of which is recognition of the aims and achievements of the university. The incident ought to be suggestive to other men of means who wish to do something for their university, declares the Youth's Companion, and still more suggestive to college students everywhere who have the gift of song-writing. A college boy would deserve well of his classmates and of all who come after him if he should succeed in producing a song which should become identified with the college life. It is a much more enduring distinction than writing the flamboyant flapdoodle which is supposed to cheer the deathless herces of the annual great game.

Why is beauty alone not enough? This is a woman's query of herself, and it is but natural it should be answered by woman. This, says the New York Weekly, is what a woman writer has to suggest on the subject: The greatest sorceresses in the world's history, she says, the women whose influence over men has been the most universal, have not been remarkable for their beauty. When they possessed beauty it was but one of their charms. Throughout all the past the women who have "made history" were women of great charm of manner and great tact, women who understood how to and young baby, was arraingned in interest men. Physical charm does not always depend upon beauty of feature. Many of the most fascinating women in the world's history-women who have inspired great loves and helped mold the destiny of nations-were devoid of actual beauty. But they possessed the charm of manner and of Mrs. A. L. Call of Oakland a delegate-

REGISTRATION OF AUTOMOBILES. What is Required of Owners Under the New Law.

The last automobile registered in the office of the secretary of state was number 2,224. Registration annually is now required by the state law. This and the purchaseof many new machines during the past year or two has run the number up beyond the expectations of dealers. It is feared that in the years to come when a man is run over by an automobile he may look up and hurriedly get a glimpse of the number that may resemble this, "22222222222 Neb," yet the mutilated man could not be certain about the long row of figures revealed to him. The amended law requires re_istration annually for a fee of $1 clinges the letter following the number from "Na." to "Neb." The old law required the first and last letter of the state to follow the number, but "Na." is not the proper abbreviation for Nebraska and has never been used except upon automobile numbers. The "Na." has been a source of considerable specula. tion by Nebraskans who have seen it on the back end of motor cars. Automobiles that have been registered according to the new law may be distinguished by the proper abbreviation of the name of the state, providing the owners have followed the law. All machines bought since last January must be registered for the year 1908.

KAIIT-BE-BEAT HOG CIRCUIT.

Records of Sales in Nebraska Broken for Duroc-Jersevs.

Holdrege-The "Kant-Be-Beat" circuit of Duroc-Jersey bred sows, the last sale of which was made here Saturday, broke several records and is no doubt the greatest circuit of the season. On Wednesday Mr. Gilbert Van Patten sold at Sutton. Neb., thirty head at the good average of $143.25 the top price being $780, paid by R. R. Steele of Wood River, and O. G. Smith & Son of Kearney. On Thursday George Briggs & Son, at Clay Center, broke all previous world's records for breed sows, selling thirty head at an average of $250.65 per head. The top price was $1,500 for the great sweepstakes sow, Clay Center Belle.

WHERE STATE MONEY GOES.

What is Shown in the Books of Nebraska's Auditor.

The books in the auditor's office showing the receipts and expenditures for the years 1905 and 1906, show that the total amount spent for all purposes, maintaining the state institutions. R. cept the university, the supreme court and district courts, and legislative expenses, amounted to $3,831,514.56, For the maintenance of the university $877.765.75 was expended, or almost 23 per cent of the total amount spent for the entire state. Deputy Auditor Cook believes this justifies him in demanding the filing of university claims with the auditor, that they may be checked over.

Mrs. Tillie Smith Asks $15,000 for Death of Husband.

Lincoln-A $15,000 damage suit was filed against the Rock Island railroad by Mrs. Tillie Smith, whose husband was killed at Earlsboro, Okla., February 2 by the explosion of the boiler of his locomotive. Five children, ranging from 7 to 17 years, are left besides the wife. Mrs. Smith alleges that it was the fault of the company that her husband, who was a capable engineer. was given "an old, antiquated, out-ofdate engine" the boiler of which was rusted, the firebox burned out, the injectors not working and supporting rods weak

Rather Neatly Put.

A Baltimore man had until recently a darky in his employ-about as shiftless and worthless a darky, says he, as ever he came across. One day the employer, his patience exhausted, called Sam into his office and told him to look for another job. "Will you give me a letter of recommendation?" asked Sam, piteously. Although he felt that he could not conscientiously comply with this request, the Baltimore man's heart was touched by the appeal. So he sat down to his desk to write a non-committal letter of character for the negro. His effort resulted as follows: "This man, Sam Harkins, has worked for me one week, and I am satisfied."

Shrewd Rascal Made Good Thing Out of Whistling Geese.

Two rogues passed a poultry shop. Seeing two geese hung up for sale one of the rogues inserted in the gullet of the goose a little bulb with whistle attached. When the bulb was pressed the whistle sounded.

Then, entering the store, he told the proprietor that he had hanging outside a very rare kind of whistling goose. The proprietor at once sold the goose for a big sum to a very learned professor who was astonished to hear about the whistling goose. Seeking the man who had placed the whistle in the gullet of the bird, the proprietor asked him if he knew where others like it could be obtained.

As an example of what men in the railroad business have to endure, a conductor on the Seaboard Air Line relates that while he was passing through a coach a few days ago a young woman stopped him and asked how far they were from Weldon. He replied that they were about 55 miles from Weldon. She then asked: "This side or the other side?"

We cannot tell what science, puttering unobtrusively about its laborator ies, will spring on us during the coming year. Already in the last year it has made us brother not only to the ox but to the prune and the pie-plant, having demonstrated to its own satisfaction that all life, whether animal on vegetable, is akin. Some have even gone further and made us cousin to the steel rail and the phonograph. claiming that inanimate life isn't inan imate. All of which tends to confirm in man the opinion that the universe revolves around him-not. For years it has been the custom of the New York Sun to print on its editorial page correspondence concerning the cause and cure of baldness. This is from one of the latest offerings: "For years I felt for remedies to stop my hair from coming out and so on, till 'I took four bottles of your medicine for catarrh, now I have a banjo,' was my case precisely. Here's the dope: Submerge the head in cold water daily, rub quite dry, then pour a small amount of olive oil on top of brainery, rub in, and there you are. 7'ry it and get happy."

A lady writer who not only has done good literary work, but reared a family, found in Grape-Nuts the ideal food for brain work and to develop healthy children. She writes:--

"I am an enthusiastic proclaimer of Grape-Nuts as a regular diet. 1 formerly had no appetite in the morning and for 8 years while nursing my four children, had insufficient nourishment for them.

"Unable to eat breakfast I felt faint later, and would go to the pantry and eat cold chops, sausage, cookies, dough- gastror nuts or anything I happened to find. Being a writer, at times my head felt heavy and my brain asleep.

"When I read of Grape-Nuts I began eating it every morning, also gave it to the children, including, my 10 months old baby, who soon grew as fat as a litle pig, good natured and contented.

"Within a week I had plenty of breast milk, and felt stronger within two weeks. I wrote evenings and feeling the need of sustained brain power, began eating a small saucer of Grape-Nuts with milk instead of my usual indigestible hot pudding, pie, or They regulate the Bowels.
