TAFT, ROOSEVELT, TAFT

A Washington Astrologer Predicts Two Terms For The Ohioan.

Taft-Roosevelt-Taft. That is what the stars say, and if they say true Jonathan Bourne will be vindicated four years hence.

"Taft will be elected—triumphantly and overwhelmingly if Bryan is his opponent, but elected no matter whom the democrats name. In fact, the democrats would save money and fuss by naming no one at all.

"The planetary conjunction existing as between the date of his birth and that of his nomination indicates that Mr. Taft will be elected twice to the White House, but he will not serve consecutive terms. Mr. Roosevelt will be president for the intervening four years.

"In the latter part of the second year of Taft's first term and the first part of the third term President Taft will have to struggle with foes within and without. He will have a falling out with the senate and house of representatives, but will conquer.

"In the middle of his term the United States will go to war with a foreign power. The struggle will be brief and the United States victorious. Those who have opposed the president's demand for a greater navy are the enemies of their country and when this war comes they and their country will realize it and they will hide their faces for shame.

"Personally Mr. Taft will experience no physical danger in the eight years he is to be president and he will live to a vigorous old age. Nor will any danger overtake any of his family in the first term, but he will be anxious in the second year of his second term because of the ill health of one dear to him. He will have many friends. Even his enemies will in time become his friends.

"There will be a marriage of one of his family in the White House in 1910. I cannot say for sure that it will be that of his daughter, but it is probable.

"Prosperity will increase greatly in the next five years. The Roosevelt policies will be continued, but they will not be so strongly pressed.

"There will be perfect harmony between Mr. Taft and Mr. Sherman. Mr. Sherman will come safely through his term, but will have a severe illness in his third year.

"Jupiter is Mr. Taft's strongest influence for good. That is why the United States will attain a great height of national dignity in his time. His lucky day will be Friday, and his most propitious periods in any year will be from September 21 to October 20, and from November 21 to December 21."

States Needed to Win

(Philadelphia Press) The democratic party was once able to win with the solid south and New York. Later it needed the solid south, New York and another state like Indiana or three states meeting at New York—New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

The apportionment made on the census of 1900 added only twelve votes in the electoral college to the southern states, including Oklahoma. The solid south, 169 votes, and New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, fifty-eight more lack twenty-five votes of a majority.

A fourth large northern state or two lesser ones are now needed to give a democratic majority for president. Oklahoma, seven votes, is not enough. This would still leave eighteen votes to be got somewhere.

If Bryan is to be elected this year he must carry every southern state, he must get the electoral vote of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, and he must add to this besides Oklahoma some one of the larger states between Ohio and Nebraska. He must carry his own state, for instance, which he has not done since 1896.

The day is over when the democratic party can concentrate on New York or on New York and Indiana, as in the past. At least three northern states besides New York must be carried, unless the democratic ticket wins some big state like Illinois, which it has never won on a presidential election save with Cleveland in 1892.

The odds are, therefore, more heavily against a party which rests on the solid south for its vote than ever before. Each census sees the northern states make a regularly larger gain. When a presidential election comes in 1912 on the basis of the census of 1910, New York and five medium-sized states will be needed with the solid south to carry the electoral college for a democratic candidate.

Moreover, the republican majorities in the northern states grow. They do not diminish. They were never larger than in the past four years.

Lloyd Anderson came Sunday from Leon, where he pitched for the Garden Grove team Saturday. He went Monday to Broken Bow, Neb., where he will pitch this season for the ball team at that place. He says his team will have numerous games with Loup City, where our brother, J. W. Burleigh, resides. Now Will, we advise your Loup City team to look out for your laurels, as Lloyd is a twirler among the best in amateur ranks, and we Tingley people think there is no one like him. We shall expect the best of treatment for him, and lovers of the national game will be well pleased.—Tingley, (Ia.), Vindicator.

Best Towns in Nebraska "What are the best towns in Nebraska?" This is a question often asked and there is just one sure and reliable answer. The best towns in Nebraska, or any other state, are the towns whose newspapers carry the largest amounts of bright, crisp advertising matter. It never fails to show up that way and you can safely count upon any locality whose merchants are sufficiently wide awake to advertise and advertise right.—Lincoln Star.
