James Keith Murdered Ike Keith of this city received a telegram last Thursday evening that his brother, James Keith, had been shot and killed at Bridgeport, this state, on that afternoon, and left Friday noon for the scene of the Price List DR. CALDWELL tragedy. Friday morning's papers gave the following short account of the murder, for which it is said there was slight provocation: "Bridgeport, Celebrated Barrington Hall

Neb., Sept. 10 .- James Keith, a par Coffee, per pound, - 35c tender from Bayard, was shot and killed here this afternoon by Michael H. Hagerty, a saloonkeeper of this place, as the result of a drunken dispute. Both men are well known in this part of the state." Mr. Keith will be remembered as visiting his brothers and uncle, Jas. Burnett, here last winter, who also went to Bridge-port last Friday.

The following facts in regard to the killing is taken from the Alliance Times: "Many Alliance people are aghast at news that comes from Bridgeport of the killing of James Bridgeport of the killing of James Keith there yesterday afternoon by Mike Haggerty. The details as given to us by a spectator are to the effect that one of the sisters of Haggerty asked Keith to go and get the horse and buggy belonging to Mike and take her to the ball game. That the rig was in front of Haggerty's saloon and as Keith was driving away with it, Haggerty came out and ordered him to let it alone; that a little later Keith McNulty & secured a revolver and fired a shot at Keith, who was on the walk and standing sidewise. The bullet-a 32-20 steel-passed entirely through Keith, just above the hips and from side to side. He fell backward and was caught by a spectator, expiring in three or four minutes.
